MORE PERMANENT PROGRAM FOR AAA FAVORED BY F. D. R.

FARM LAWS FACE 2 CRUCIAL TESTS

Farmers Will Vote Today on Continuation or Disapproval of Measure for Coming Year's Duration

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A "long-time and more permanent adjustment program" for agriculture was projected by President Roosevelt today as the New Deal's farm policy neared two crucial tests.

A formal presidential statement said the AAA "has served the nation's welfare," spoke of "the simplified and more flexible adjustment program of the future" to succeed "the purely emergency phases" and outlined in broad terms a veering of the AAA's course toward regional crop adjustment and emphasis on soil conservation.

Mr. Roosevelt's views were issued on the eve of a critical AAA showdown—the national corn-hog referendum tomorrow when farmers will vote approval or disapproval of an adjustment program for 1936. And not far distant was a supreme court ruling on constitutionality of the vast AAA machine. The tribunal has agreed to review a processing tax case and the government has asked an early hearing.

Some political implications were attached to the executive's statement. The sections most affected by the AAA already have been outlined as a principal political battleground for 1936.

Offset For G. O. P.

Some informed observers read into the statement a possible move to offset any republican adoption of the AAA that would be accompanied by a promise to eliminate red tape, reduce costs and simplify procedure.

Brows meanwhile were wrinkled at the AAA by worry over the outcome of the corn-hog balloting. Some officials were known to be studying possible courses of action in event of an adverse vote. But there was a disposition among observers to interpret Mr. Roosevelt's statement as built on the assumption farmers would stick by the adjustment program.

"The time may come when the AAA will prove as important in stimulating certain kinds of production as it has been in removing burdensome surpluses," the President said. "For example, an expanded production of hogs, to replace shortages caused by the drouth, is contemplated under the proposed new corn-hog program, which is put up to a decision of producers in a nation-wide referendum tomorrow.

"Present and future production of supplies of food and fiber ample for this country's needs and for available export markets is a sound objective."

Soil Conservation Urged.

In the AAA of tomorrow, Mr. Roosevelt foresaw benefit payments as an incentive for soil conservation. He stressed "decentralization of machinery to get more efficient administration; . . . the objective of one contract per farm; . . . studies to COUNT VINCI-GIGLIUCCI.

ITALIAN MINISTER TO QUIT ETHIOPIA

Emperor Haile Finally Prevails Upon Obdurate Envoy To Go Home.

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie persuaded Italy's minister to Ethiopia to agree today to leave the country—a task that has taken the king two weeks to accomplish.

The obdurate Count Luigi Vinci-Gigliucci was given his passports 15 days ago and asked to leave within 48 hours. But the count refused to go until two Italian commercial agents arrived from Magalo to depart with him.

The agents arrived here so the minister will leave tomorrow with them and Major Calderini, the Italian military attache. For the last two weeks Vinci-Gigliucci has been living at the home of Haile Selassie's son-in-law, holding the status of a private citizen.

(Nagadras Yesus, Ethiopian minister to Rome, has been recalled by Emperor Haile Selassie and is expected to leave October 28.)

Emperor Haile Selassie spent five hours today reviewing wild warriors who arrived from remote interior points en route to the front.

Haile Selassie appeared more confident of the power of his forces than at any time since the war began. Tens of thousands of troops are being sent to the fronts and more are expected.

WILLIFORD GUILTY; LONG TERM IS SET

Jury Recommends 8 to 10-Year Sentence; Lawyer Convicted on 4 Counts.

Ben C. Williford was found guilty on four charges of perjury early Saturday morning by a jury in Fulton superior court. The jury recommended that he serve two to three years on each count.

Williford, a lawyer, will be sentenced by Judge James C. Davis at 10 o'clock Monday morning, following which his attorneys, Robert Giles and Miss Lille Scheck, announced they will file an appeal.

According to the judge's charge, Williford could be found guilty of only four of the five charges made against him in connection with statements made in filing an answer to

SUSPECT ACCUSED IN MASS SLAYING REMAINS DEFIANT

Leo Hall, Grilled 17 Hours, Ridicules Questioners as He Steadfastly Denies Slaughter of Six.

SEATTLE, Oct. 25.—(AP)—While he shouted defiance and ridicule at his questioners, Leo Hall, 33, was formally chargerd with murder today in the mass slaughter of two women and four men at Erland's Point, Wash., March 28, 1934.

Unshaken by 17 hours of grilling after his asserted accomplice, Mrs. Larry Paulos, had given police a statement accusing him of the killings, Hall came scornfully out of the ordeal. He yelled for food.

"That's an amateurish way they're questioning me," he said sarcastically as he was being taken from the prosecutor's office to his jail cell.

He drank glass after glass of water, and once dozed fitfully in his cell.

Accused in One Case.

The murder complaint filed at Bremerton, seat of the county in which Erland's Point is situated, specifically charged Hall with slaying Eugene A. Chenevert, one of the six victims.

While admitting Hall had remained firm in his claim of innocence, Warren G. Magnuson, county prosecutor here, said confirmation was being sought for Mrs. Paulos' statement. He said two more persons would be questioned.

The prosecutor announced he also had a statement from a man, whose name was not given, implicating Hall in the slaying of Frank Aiken, Portland (Ore.) waterfront investigator, in 1933.

Those to be questioned in connection

SENATORS, COCKE PLAN SEWER PLEA

Visit Roosevelt Monday To Set Date for Speech and Ask WPA Work Here

Senators Walter F. George and Richard B. Russell Jr., of Georgia, and Erle Cocke, National Emergency Council director for Georgia, will take a personal appeal to save Atlanta's WPA sewer modernization program directly to President Roosevelt Monday, it was learned yesterday.

They will urge the President to preserve the original agreement federal officials made with Atlanta administration leaders and with the people before the $1,000,000 bond issue was authorized as the city's share of the undertaking.

Hope for satisfactory adjustment of the tangle into which the program has been precipitated because of the transfer of the improvement from WPA to PWA was held out as they prepared to use every means at their disposal to work out a program through which the program can be prosecuted as originally planned.

Under WPA, the city would get a system valued at more than $6,000,000, while under PWA only $2,000,000 could be expended.

While plans of the group were not divulged, it was pointed out that no effort will be spared to hold the original agreement for prosecution of the work under WPA, and to obtain the $4,599,079 which WPA set up for the sewer program, and which Roosevelt himself approved on July 30, of this year.

Although the visit of the group is for the purpose of fixing a definite date for the home-coming visit of the president to Georgia during the Thanksgiving holiday season, it was learned that they will also use their influence to attempt to settle the muddle in connection with the sewer program here.

Cobb Says: Capone Lives Snug as Bug

By IRVIN S. COBB.

(Copyright, 1935, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Oct. 25. They live the life of Riley, these veteran gangsters of the old-established firms, but they die the deaths of dogs. Their successors come and go. Let us hope they'll keep on going faster than they keep on coming.

With that St. Valentine Day massacre emblazoned in red letters on the civic scoreboard, Chicago still holds the lead for a single clean-up, but you can't say the boys around New York aren't trying.

Dame Rumor hath it that very few of the gentlemen in permanent residence there are entirely satisfied with Alcatraz—the life is too confining, for one thing—but, even so, my guess is that Mr. Al Capone, snug as a bug under a rug, is kind of glad about one fact: That long-term policy of health and casualty insurance which Uncle Sam issued to him—with the clause permitting travel eliminated—still has quite some time to run.

Italy Not Considering Proposal To End Ethiopian War, Says Official

Spokesman for Mussolini Asserts, However, There Has Been No 'Breakdown' in Diplomatic Peace Talks. Salesmen Crowd Italian Cities.

By JOHN EVANS.

ROME, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Italy is not considering any definite proposals for settlement of her war with Ethiopia, a government spokesman said tonight.

There has been no "breakdown" in diplomatic peace talks, he added, however.

Italy counts upon bickering of merchants of League of Nations' members about their pocketbooks to prevent sanctions, it was said in informed quarters.

If sanctions can be avoided, as well informed persons here assert, and war with Great Britain has been escaped, then they express confidence that the Ethiopian matter can be "arranged" with "only very small war."

Many nations who voted for sanctions are lukewarm to them, these persons say, and when enthusiastic ones like Great Britain realize that a few will pay the freight while others profit, "collective" action may not appear worthwhile.

Italian business is being organized into a fascist corporation system and it answers the salesmen with orders for "friends" who will not impose sanctions, along with pointed advice to sellers from sanctionist nations who are trying to sell things before an embargo is applied.

Mussolini's gesture to Britain of withdrawal of a division of troops from Libya, lifting a possible threat against Egypt, was regarded here as certain to bring from London a similar peaceful action in the removal of part of the fleet from the Mediterranean.

Mussolini himself 10 days ago recognized there was a real danger of war with Great Britain.

The removal of such a danger, say fascist leaders, clears the way for talks and if sanctions are delayed or dropped; they think an African settlement is quite possible.

MESSENGER BOYS JOIN SAFETY FIGHT

Western Union Delivery Group Adds Support to Safe Driving Campaign.

One hundred and eleven Western Union messenger boys, whose business it is to make their way on bicycles through traffic as speedily and as safely as possibble, yesterday recorded a 100 per cent sign-up in The Constitution's safe driving campaign.

Accompanying the pledges was a message signed by E. C. Isanhour, manager of the delivery department, which said in part:

"These boys, the nature of whose work makes them particularly appreciative of such a movement, are glad to have the privilege of adding their support and co-operation in your drive for safety-consciousness.

"The Constitution's news stories and editorials on the subject of traffic accidents have been most helpful to us in impressing upon our boys the need for strict observance of traffic regulations and sane safety practices.

P.-T. A.'s Get More Pledges.

Seventy-five pledges issued this week to Mrs. James Lowery Jr., for the Parent-Teacher Association of Hoke school didn't last long. Mrs. Lowery yesterday was given 500 additional pledges and 1,000 stickers for front and rear windows of automobiles, showing that the driver has signed a safety pledge.

While more than 1,200 pledges were being issued and received yesterday by the Safety Council at The Constitution offices, the county death toll increased one in a terrific smash-up on Marietta highway, three miles north of the Chattahoochee.

Ted Carson, 25, former Atlantan, was the victim. Carson had ridden to Marietta on a business trip with Charles F. Payne, 23, of 218 Hunter street, S. E., a sign company employe.

Payne, who was badly shaken up and lacerated, was in Grady hospital, where he told police the story of the crash, blaming it on being sideswiped by a truck.

Truck Sideswipes Car.

He said he was traveling toward Atlanta at a 50-mile-an-hour clip when a huge truck rounded a curve going in the opposite direction and sideswiped him. His car hurtled off the curve, rolled over down an embankment and ended up in a ditch, a mass of wreckage.

Passing motorists extricated the men. At Grady hospital, where Carson was pronounced dead on arrival, he was found to have suffered fractures of both legs and an arm and a crushed skull. He is survived by a wife and two children in Jackson-

NORTH ATLANTIC PLANE ROUTE SEEN

German Line Plans To Use Ships in Midocean for Refueling Stations.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Prediction was made tonight that Lufthansa, German airline, would make a serious attempt to establish a commercial air route across the north Atlantic next summer, using a steamship anchored in midocean as a refueling stop.

This opinion was voiced by A. Plesman, managing director of the Dutch Airlines, on the eve of his departure for the Netherlands aboard the S. S. Bremen. Plesman spent four weeks in America, during which he conferred with Pan-American Airways officials, presumably to arrange a link between Pan-American's Manila station and the Dutch East Indies when the American concern begins trans-Pacific service from San Francisco to Manila and Shanghai early in 1936.

Plesman was confident he would soon see commercial airlines circling the globe. He predicted that trans-Atlantic service between Europe and America, when established, would follow an altitude of 24,000 feet in the sub-stratosphere with oxygen apparatus for passengers and enclosed cabin planes operating with air pressure conditioners.

He said intensive experimenting was going forward in Europe along this line and that by mechanical maintenance of constant air pressure at approximately the same conditions encountered at 10,000 feet altitude, all discomforts of this great height would be eliminated.

Lufthansa, and a French airline as well, now are operating air mail service across the South Atlantic from Africa to South America.

Fish Bone in Throat Perils Gov. Talmadge

The Governor choked on a fish bone. Efforts to dislodge it failed. He and Dr. Fred K. Simonton, whose office is in the building where the dinner took place, left the table immediately.

As Dr. Simonton inserted an instrument to remove the fish bone, an electric fuse burned and the building went dark. A small flashlight illuminated the operation successfully, but the Governor said he found he had "sort of lost his appetite for fish."

Roosevelt's Popularity Is Gauged In Results of 'America Speaks' Poll

In 1932 Franklin Delano Roosevelt received 59 per cent of the combined democratic-republican vote and swept into the presidential chair on a landslide of overwhelming dimensions.

Since that time his popularity has had its ups and downs, but just how far up and how far down no one has been able to say with any degree of accuracy until now.

For nearly two years the American Institute of Public Opinion has been making a monthly check-up on how the president stands in popular favor, and on Sunday the first report will be made in The Constitution.

Tracing the ups and downs in percentages is an account of national events that influenced changes in public opinion. With the country divided into seven sections, the relative strength of the democrats and republicans will be shown for each month, beginning with February, 1934. This question, which is uppermost in the minds of citizens today, is brought up to date, the last month in the list being October, 1935.

It is Roosevelt and the New Deal versus the entire republican party, and in "America Speaks," appearing in tomorrow's Constitution, the voice of public opinion is heard.

The weekly results of the nation-wide polls conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion appear simultaneously in more than 40 of the larger and more influential newspapers of the country, which have made possible this contribution to the science of government.

From Boston to Seattle, from Minneapolis to Houston, some 7,000,000 copies of these co-operating newspapers will carry the same information to the voters of America.

Proof of the impartial and non-partisan character of the poll is apparent from the fact that this list includes some newspapers whose editorial policies are characterized as republican, others which are democrat, and still others which are independent or liberal.

Five times the President has sat in his library in the White House and chatted with the American people about the problems and policies of governing them. Forty million United States voters cannot sit before a microphone and tell the President what they think about him and his policies, but in "America Speaks," appearing in tomorrow's Constitution, is a nation-wide, accurate poll that answers the same purpose.

GRAND JURY TOLD TO CEASE PROBE AGAINST BOYKIN

Judge Dorsey Rules That Indictment Based on Worthy Charges Must Be Presented by Solicitor.

Investigation of charges of perjury made against Solicitor-General John A. Boykin by Sam Worthy, convicted fake damage claim racketeer, will be dropped by the grand jury under a ruling issued yesterday afternoon by Judge Hugh M. Dorsey in Fulton superior court.

The judge ruled that the grand jury was empowered to probe the official conduct of the solicitor but that, until the solicitor-general pro tem., appointed by the court to investigate Worthy's charges, drew an indictment against Boykin, the jurymen could not act on the matter.

The decision of Judge Dorsey followed a hearing in open court on an injunction plea brought by Worthy not to allow the present jury to investigate his charges because of alleged partisanship on the part of at least two members of the body.

Reuben Arnold, widely known Atlanta lawyer, appeared as attorney for the grand jury and argued before Judge Dorsey that the grand jury has the right to investigate any thing it wishes to, and that it was charged specifically with the duty of probing every elective official of the county during this term.

Any Recommendation Possible.

He emphasized, and it was agreed by Judge Dorsey, that the jurymen could bring in any recommendation concerning the solicitor-general that they desire. Judge Dorsey's ruling was that the jurors could not consider Worthy's charges until Solicitor-General Pro Tem. Elbert Tuttle embodied

COAL INTERESTS BLUNTLY WARNED

Strict Enforcement Planned To Prevent 'Stampede' Against New Act.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A blunt warning that federal control will be enforced vigorously went from the government today to soft coal "interests" it charged with seeking "to stampede" producers against regulation.

Coincidentally, the bituminous coal commission disclosed plans for a $100,000 investigation into the need for production control in the industry. It will call on President Roosevelt Monday to make the request for funds.

Charles F. Hosford, chairman, was author of the notice to producers of the commission's attitude toward enforcement of the Guffey act under whose terms a soft coal code has been drafted.

"It has been brought to the attention of the commission," Hosford said, "that efforts are being made by certain interests opposed to the bituminous coal conservation act to stampede coal producers into not accepting the code.

To Enfore Law.

"I desire to announce on behalf of the commission that it is our intention to procede with organization of the district boards and enforce vigorously every provision of the law."

Hosford did not identify the "interests" but semi-official sources said the statement was prompted by reports that five leading coal producers had decided to oppose the act, had refused to sign the prescribed code for producers and planned to initiate a court test of the act's so-called "compliance tax."

J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, one of the industry's largest producers, said in Pittsburgh yesterday his company had decided not to accept the code immediately.

Early Probe Seen.

3,600 JOBS MADE BY GEORGIA WPA

Fifty Projects To Start Immediately; 2,000 Get Work in Fulton County.

Jobs for 3,600 of Georgia's unemployed were created yesterday with announcement of a list of 50 projects calling for an expenditure of $879,364 in government funds as soon as they can be started.

The projects are the first to be approved in the office of Miss Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia WPA administrator, from funds recently allocated to this state by the treasury department in Washington.

Fulton benefits to the extent of $494,272 in allotments announced, which means employment for 2,000 persons in this county, while DeKalb county's projects will call for the expenditure of $101,419 in government funds, which will mean employment for 400 men.

The funds announced will be matched in all the communities with local funds and the expenditures consequently will be heavier than Miss Shepperson's figures show.

List of Projects.

The projects are as follows:

Muscogee county:

County-wide, Clay-graveling or sand-claying the secondary roads in Muscogee county; and asphalt surface treating a portion thereof, $40,000.

Columbus, clay gravel base, asphalt paving and curb and gutter on Willard street from Ewart avenue, including intersection, $1,493.

Columbus, construct clubhouse on city-owned golf course to be used as a recreational center for the people of Columbus, $6,457.

Grading and top-soiling Gray Rock road from Warm Springs road five miles to Hamilton road, federal funds $8,800.

Vicinity of Upatoi, clearing, grubbing, draining, grading and sand clay

Fire Captain's Wife Indicted for Murder

Mrs. John Mayfield, wife of a fire department captain, was indicted for the murder of Mrs. Lucile Dixon yesterday by the grand jury.

It was alleged that Mrs. Mayfield shot and killed Mrs. Dixon in a Crew street cigar factory last Tuesday.

Mrs. Mayfield admitted the shooting to city police and surrendered a short time after the slaying. It was charged that she killed the woman over the affections of Captain Mayfield. Her lawyers have announced she will plead emotional insanity.

Four negroes, David McHenry and Will Arnold and Miles and Jack Glenn, were also indicted for murder. Nine persons were named in true bills charging lottery offenses.

BRITAIN DEMANDS THAT PEACE PLANS MUST SUIT HAILE

Rumors Britain Will Reduce Mediterranean Defenses Are Emphatically Denied; Monarch Emphasizes Plane Needs.

WON'T BACK DOWN IN SANCTION DRIVE

Prime Minister Will Not Favor Blockade Unless He Is Assured of U. S. Attitude Beforehand.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A prediction that League sanctions against Italy "absolutely will go on" came from authoritative quarters tonight after King George, expressing his "gravest concern" over the Italo-Ethiopian war, had prorogued the eighth British parliament of his regime.

Great Britain, the king said, exerted itself to the utmost for a peaceful settlement both individually and with other members of the League.

"To my regret," he stated, "these persistent endeavors did not avail to prevent a resource to force, and my government has loyally supported the efforts of the League of Nations with a view to restoration of peace and achievement of an equitable settlement in the spirit of the covenant."

His majesty declared the government would continue "to promote limitation and reduction by international agreement of all forms of armament," but he added:

Air Force Hit.

"It has been found impossible to postpone further expansion of the Royal air force to a strength which will enable it to fulfill its vital duties in national and imperial defense; and the program necessary to give effect to this has now been undertaken."

Recurring and unconfirmed reports of Premier Mussolini's "peace soundings" to Premier Laval, of France, met a cool reception and apparent dissatisfaction as the national government went to the country for a new mandate from the electorate—principally on the issues of rearmament and foreign policy.

Officials stood on their statements that any suggestions for peace must be satisfactory to both the League of Nations and Ethiopia. And well-informed persons said no such suggestions yet had come from Il Duce.

In fact, these persons insisted nothing tangible had been received from Italy through M. Laval, and that there was no reason for assuming peace is any nearer or that the League's sanctions machinery would be held up even temporarily.

Eden Will Return.

Anthony Eden, Great Britain's minister for League affairs, is going back to Geneva within a week, after a whirlwind election campaign, determined to push economic sanctions into effect by early November.

In any event it was considered most unlikely the British government would take any steps to weaken its present position of rigid support of the League covenant and absolute disapproval of Mussolini's invasion of Ethiopia before the November 14 general elections are over.

Flat denials greeted rumors that Sir Samuel Hoare, the British foreign secretary, might confer with Mussolini and Laval, and there was no

$2,166,064 RELEASED FOR STATE PROJECTS

Works Administration To Send Funds to Miss Shepperson.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Release of $2,166,064 for Works Progress Administration projects in Georgia was announced here today.

The money will be forwarded to Miss Gay B. Shepperson, state administrator, who will select the projects most adaptable to the speedy prosecution of her state program.

Savannah received a large share with allotments of $80,973 and $58,080 for two malaria control programs and $270,367 for a community service program. Bloomingdale, in Chatham county, was granted $108,972 for a flood control program.

Improvement of city streets in Columbus costing $196,445 and repairs on public highways in Muscogee county costing $33,624 were included in the list.

Construction of a new channel for Rocky creek in Augusta drew $145,200. Another allotment of $108,717 was approved to repair schools in Richmond county and $146,880 was granted for a malaria control program.

Clarke county received $9,015 to construct and improve schools and Macon was allotted $1,032 for a community service program. Road improvements in Crisp county costing $16,444 were approved.

Fulton county was granted $82,336 for repairs to a clinic in Atlanta and a city community service program was granted $198,012.

WILLIFORD CONVICTED AND GIVEN LONG TERM

disbarment proceedings brought against him by the state.

Judge Davis told the jurors they could find Williford guilty on either of two of the perjury charges, but as both were made under the same oath, only one could be held against him. The other charges of perjury resulted from individual oaths made by the lawyer.

The jury took the case shortly before 11 o'clock last night and returned its verdict of guilty at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

Williford showed little emotion as he sat in the silent courtroom. His wife, whom he recently married, was pale but maintained her composure.

Defense attorneys demanded a jury poll and every juryman was questioned by Solicitor General John A. Boykin as to his agreement to the verdict.

They all agreed that Williford perjured himself when he said he lived in Tifton, that he perjured himself when he changed the order of a Tift superior court judge and that he perjured himself when he swore he was never convicted of two charges of forgery in Tift county in 1922.

Williford made a second unsworn statement to the jury just before arguments of lawyers began yesterday afternoon, in which he said he had told the truth as he knew it.

He sought to refute the evidence of perjury presented by the state in a series of legal proceedings in which he had been involved.

The fourth day of the trial saw rebuttal evidence introduced by the state following a statement made to the jury Thursday afternoon by Williford, wherein he sought to show that he was not guilty of any indictable offense.

J. P. Turman, lawyer aiding Solicitor-General John A. Boykin and Assistant Solicitor Ed Stephens in the prosecution, opened the arguments for the state late in the afternoon and was followed by Robert B. Giles, of the firm of Giles & Scheck, who is defending Williford. Boykin closed for the state.

Williford was charged with having sworn in numerous legal proceedings that he was a resident of Fulton county but that when disbarment proceedings were brought against him, he swore that he was a resident of Tift county and always had been.

The state contended he said he lived in Tifton in an effort to avoid jurisdiction in Fulton county.

The lawyer was likewise charged with having changed the wording of a court order issued in 1922 in Tift superior court. It was alleged that he changed the order on a previous disbarment proceedings brought against him there in an effort to prove former jeopardy. The order said that the proceedings was withdrawn, while Williford swore it read "dismissed in open court," according to the state's contention. Williford averred he swore as to "my best recollection." He said he had been told that the suit was dismissed.

The state contended that he had a certified copy of the order in his possession at the time.

Douglasville Breaks Ground for County High School

GUN BATTLE IS FATAL TO COLUMBUS YOUTH

Officer and Another Man Wounded in Exchange of Shots in Fracas.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP)—A youth was shot to death, a police officer critically wounded and another man was felled by a bullet in a blaze of gunfire in a residential section here today.

Police listed the dead youth as Jewel Arrington, 18, of Columbus. He was shot before two patrolmen summoned to the section reached the scene.

As the officers arrived, E. S. Evans, one of them, fell critically wounded by pistol fire. Rushed to a hospital, his condition was described as "too critical to permit a thorough examination."

J. L. Starlin, police desk officer, said Patrolman Percy Griffin, Evans' companion, then opened fire and felled a man listed as H. Perkins, 55, one bullet ripping through from right side and out the left.

Starlin said Perkins was a street preacher and would be held for the death of the youth. The officer said the shooting started after a quarrel about how repair work was being done on a house owned by Perkins.

Arrington was shot on a street in front of his home, near the house owned by Perkins. He walked to the front porch of his house and died in his mother's arms. One bullet entered his back, almost penetrating his body, an examination showed.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Muscogee county Roosevelt Young Voters' Club was organized here today. Mrs. W. P. Robinson was elected president and W. H. Young Jr. vice president.

Mrs. Boyd T. Quarles, of Atlanta, state organizer, was present.

TWO TENNESSEE BOYS KILLED BY EXPLOSION

JELLICO, Tenn., Oct. 25.—(AP)—An explosion of oil cans where small boys were burning leaves resulted in the death of two of the boys and severe burns for another late today.

The dead are Opal Perkins, 14, and Kenneth Ross, 9, both of Newcomb, three miles south of here. Billy Ray Ridenour, 7, was seriously injured.

Billy told members of his family that Opal and Kenneth were setting fire to the leaves and he went over to help them. Just then the fire blazed up, he said, and set fire to the oil cans near by. There was a terrific explosion.

TALMADGE CONTINUES AGAINST EXTRA CALL

Governor Tells LaFayette Audience He Has Filled Pledges.

By GEORGE BURT,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LAFAYETTE, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Reiterating his determination against calling an extra session of the general assembly in January to pass an appropriations bill, Governor Talmadge said today that if he convened the assembly it would "stay there until the primary, arguing."

The governor addressed a large crowd in the public square here, frequently exchanging remarks with listeners as he attacked New Deal policies and discussed state affairs.

"Public officials are supposed to follow the stand they have taken," the governor said, as he talked about the last session of the legislature.

"The senate took a stand for staying within appropriations and the house took a stand for exceeding it.

"If I called them back, don't you suppose they'd do the same thing and stay there until the primary, arguing?" he asked, continuing:

"I swore to uphold the constitution and I'm going to do it. We're not going to have an extra session and we're going to run the state.

"We're going to have the money and might even cut taxes next year."

The audience broke into applause several times as the governor attacked the national administration on its agricultural and relief policies.

Talmadge said Georgia has paid more to the common schools this year than in any similar period in history.

"While the schools have been paid more, tax s have been reduced," he asserted.

He said, "Georgia is one of the few states which has followed the economy pledge of the party platform."

Turning to his criticism of the Roosevelt administration, which he has rried into a number of states, the governor sai. "that's all the administration has against us. We've kept our pledge and the administration has not. That's what they are mad about."

TARVER LAUDS F.D.R. AT DOUGLASVILLE

Ground Broken for School Plant as Alumni Day Is Observed.

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga., Oct. 25.—About 2,000 citizens and former residents of Douglas county attending the home-coming exercises sponsored by the Douglasville High School Alumni Association, heard Congressman M. C. Tarver, of Dalton, and the seventh district, laud President Roosevelt and his administration here today.

Congressman Tarver spoke of some of the measures passed by the last congress and particularly praised the social security bill, which provides for old-age pensions, and the AAA or farm program.

Exercises were held in the courthouse auditorium which were followed by a barbecue served nearby.

A feature of the program was the breaking of ground for the erection of a county high school to be erected here to cost $55,000, funds in the amount of $30,000 having been voted here recently for the plant, which will be supplemented by a government grant of $25,000.

The local school building has been used heretofore as a county high school.

Dr. Henry Abercrombie, president of the alumni association, was in charge of the program today, assisted by Superintendent W. R. Thomas, of the county schools, and Professor R. H. Harris, of the city schools.

W. H. CAUSEY, MAILMAN, DIES IN AUSTELL HOME

W. H. Causey, member of a pioneer and widely known Austell family, died yesterday at his home in Austell at the age of 83. A native of Austell, he had been a mail carrier there from the opening of the postoffice in 1903 until his retirement in 1920.

His father and grandfather at one time owned practically all of the land on which the town now stands.

He is survived by his wife; five sons, W. W. Causey, Atlanta; C. J., J. M., R. H. and H. D. Causey, all of Austell, and three daughters, Mrs. W. Q. Entrekin and Mrs. T. F. Mitchell, of Atlanta, and Mrs. R. L. Nesbit, of Roswell.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Austell Methodist church with the Revs. A. T. Hind and J. W. Stephens officiating. Burial will be in Causey Chapel cemetery, with the Cliff Collins Funeral Home in charge.

Pallbearers will be John Causey Jr., Robert H. Causey Jr., J. Edwin Nesbit, James Causey, William Nesbit and Walter Entrekin.

RITES FOR MRS. NEVIN TO BE HELD SUNDAY

DALTON, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Funeral services for Mrs. Henry W. Nevin, wife of the managing editor of the Dalton Citizen, who was killed yesterday afternoon when the automobile in which she was riding was struck by a south-bound passenger train, will be held at the Episcopal church in Vandalia, Ill., Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Nevin, who was alone in the car, was killed about 4 o'clock at a crossing here by the Dixie Flyer, crack N., C. & St. L. train.

Mr. Nevin, her husband, is a son of the late James B. Nevvin, for many years editor of the Atlanta Georgian. He has been connected with the Dalton Citizen since 1932.

Mrs. Nevin's parents, two daughters and a brother, also survive her. She was the former Miss Maurine Louise Denny, of Vandalia, Ill.

MILL WORKERS ASK END OF VIOLENCE

Chicopee Employes To Discuss Strike at Gainesville Today.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Seeking an end to violence which caused a shut down of the Chicopee cotton mill here Monday, throwing 750 persons out of work, the jobless today published an advertisement asking that names of five men who flogged a mill official be furnished to "proper authorities."

Meanwhile, a meeting of "every loyal employe of Chicopee" has been called for tomorrow morning at the Chicopee gymnasium. A committee of four workers arranged the meeting, and obtained consent of the mill management to hold it at the gymnasium.

"Shall 1,200 innocent people suffer for the unlawful act of five men?" the advertisement asked, referring to the recent abduction and flogging of M. T. Grimes, general manager of the mill, by five masked men.

The message, which bore the notation, "This advertisement paid for by employes of Chicopee," said that families of the 750 workers had "no prospect of getting employment elsewhere," and were jobless because of the "unlawful flogging recently at this plant.

"Somewhere in this vicinity there is probably someone who knows who the guilty parties are.

"In the name of humanity and for the sake of the innocent men, women and children who are facing hardship, if anyone knows who these five men are, please notify the proper authorities."

The mill management closed the plant Monday morning, with an announcement from N. L. Smith, president, that "we will just not operate under conditions existing here at present."

The flogging of Grimes was the second act of violence against a mill official. In August a time service expert at the mill was abducted and beaten.

SOFT COAL INTERESTS ARE BLUNTLY WARNED

Guffey act and officials said it would be undertaken early in November if the funds are forthcoming.

The inquiry is expected to continue through the winter. Commission members said "the best brains of the industry as well as government experts would be called upon for information and opinions.

Commissioner C. E. Smith said the investigation would necessitate almost immediate employment by a statistical staff and might require the commission to hold hearings in some of the coal fields as well as in Washington. He added that if funds are available the commission also would undertake several investigations required by the act.

MURDER IS DENIED BY TIFTON NEGRO

Although declaring that he is Richard Calhoun, of Tifton, and not John Mitchell, the Atlanta negro who is wanted for the murder here of an Atlanta police "rookie" 13 years ago, a negro taken into custody in Tifton was returned to Atlanta last night by Detectives Richard Inglebert and R. T. Denny.

The detectives say they are convinced that their captive is Mitchell, not Calhoun, and declared that they have been on his trail for 18 months. They said they had followed his movements to Nashville, Tampa and to Tifton.

The negro known as John Mitchell has been wanted for the killing of Supernumerary Officer James Ernest Travis on the night of February 23, 1922, on Ponce de Leon avenue near the Ford plant. Travis was fatally shot in a scuffle with the negro, whom he had arrested. He had been in police service less than a month at the time of his death.

3 MEXICAN RAIDERS FACE FIRING SQUAD

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Three Mexican citizens charged with setting fire to railroad bridges met death yesterday before a firing squad of federal soldiers at Querobabi, said telegraphic advices received here today.

They had been charged with burning bridges south of Santa Ana in a series of raids on small Sonora communities last week.

TAX ON RETAIL SALES KILLED IN NEW JERSEY

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 25.—(AP)—New Jersey's 2 per cent tax on retail sales ended at 8:24 tonight with signature by Governor Harold G. Hoffman on a repeal bill.

The measure passed the assembly late this afternoon, 50 to 3, and a little later went through the senate, 11 to 0, with five senators not voting.

Alabaman Is Champion Of Black Widow Spider

MENA, Ark. Oct. 25.—(AP)—The deadly biting black widow spider has a champion in Birmingham, Ala., who believes that dumb living creatures should be treated in a civilized manner.

Lodging a protest against the 90-day solitary confinement without food and water of a black widow here, the Alabaman termed the incident an outrage and asked an immediate investigation.

In a communication addressed to the "humane society, Mena, Ark.," the writer claims that "to keep anything enclosed in such a small place as a fruit jar for such a long period is bad enough, but to withhold food and water makes it an outrage.

"Perhaps if the person responsible for this would fast along with the poor spider he probably would not last so long."

Constitution Garden School Given Full Approval of Woman's Club

Mrs. Harris, Executive, Enthusiastically Welcomes Paper's Program.

The garden division of the Atlanta Woman's Club through the chairman, Mrs. Thomas C. Harris, yesterday heartily indorsed and enthusiastically welcomed the garden school to be sponsored by The Atlanta Constitution October 29 through November 1.

"We wish to congratulate The Constitution upon their initial step in sponsoring this school," said Mrs. Harris, "and in securing such an able lecturer as Mrs. Fletcher Pearson Crown, the noted horticulturist. We feel that untold benefit will be reaped by all who attend these lectures.

"Mrs. Crown, who originated the garden school idea, will be an inspiration to all who hear her, for the warmth of her personality and her ability to deal with her subject will appear to all who are, or desire to be, good gardeners.

"Gardening for awhile was more or less a fed; now it has become universally a deeply imbued habit.

"We wish to take this opportunity in expressing our appreciation to The Constitution for their generosity in offering a daily cash prize to the garden club having the largest attendance.

"As hostess club, we wish to extend a cordial invitation to those desiring to remain for luncheon following the lectures. Reservations may be had by phoning the Atlanta Woman's Club, Hemlock 4636."

Mrs. Harris, who has been an ardent member of the garden division for a number of years, has a small, attractive garden at her home in West End in which she takes pride in having designed without assistance. She also finds endless pleasure in an experimental garden for varieties of cut flowers.

Text of Roosevelt's Statement On Agricultural Adjustment Act

In May, 1933, congress enacted the agricultural adjustment act, which was designed to relieve the distress then prevalent among farmers. Since that time several million producers have joined wholeheartedly with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in far-reaching adjustment programs.

I wish to pay tribute to the courage and perseverence with which these farmers, using the facilities made available by congress, have fought their way out of the acute depression which engulfed them in 1932. They have been patient in the face of delay, tolerant of a host of irritations and undeterred by opposition because they knew they could never win except through co-operation on a national scale. The first opportunity farmers ever had to work together on such a scale was afforded by the adjustment act.

The achievements of the AAA, for agriculture, are apparent to millions of farmers. The improved demand for city-made goods resulting from increasing farm buying power is reflected in better business in towns and industrial centers everywhere. The adjustment act has served the national welfare.

SOME SUPPORTERS ARE WELL SATISFIED

There are people in this country who can see no room for further progress in agricultural adjustment. Of these, some would be content to continue the adjustment programs exactly as they are. There are even a few supporters of the AAA so well satisfied with what has been done that they would like to call the job complete and finished.

But it never was the idea of the men who framed the act, of those in congress who revised it, nor of Henry Wallace nor Chester Davis that the Agricultural Adjustment Administration should be either a mere emergency operation or a static agency.

It was their intention—as it is mine—to pass from the purely emergency phases necessitated by a grave national crisis to a long time, more permanent plan for American agriculture.

Such a long time program is developing naturally out of the present adjustment efforts. As I see it, this program has two principal objectives:

TWO OBJECTIVES OF PROGRAM

First, to carry out the declared policy of congress to maintain and increase the gains thus far made. Thereby avoiding the danger of a slump back into the conditions brought about by our national neglect of agriculture.

Second, to broaden present adjustment operations so as to give farmers increasing incentives for conservation and efficient use of the nation's soil resources.

Simplification of present programs, with a view to increased flexibility, would readily lend itself to the broad objectives outlined. Decentralization of machinery to get more efficient administration closer to the farmers already has begun, and will be vigorously continued. To simplify administration, the AAA will work toward the objective of one contract per farm. The modifications planned, in addition to making administration easier, will facilitate production adjustment either upward or downward.

PROGRAM USED UPWARD, DOWNWARD

The time may come when the AAA will prove as important in stimulating certain kinds of production as it has been in removing recent burdensome surpluses. For example, an expanded production of hogs to replace shortages caused by drouth, is contemplated under the proposed new corn-hog program, which is put up to a decision of producers in a nation-wide referendum tomorrow.

Present and future production of supplies of food and fiber ample for this country's needs and for available export markets is a sound objective. However, there was nothing sound in the situation in the past when, spurred by ruinously low prices, farmers have been compelled to mine their soil of its fertility by over-intensive cultivation in a race to make up in volume of units what they had lost in unit price. This has resulted in waste on a colossal scale. Dust storms and mud-laden streams have been symbols of this exploitation.

MILLIONS OF ACRES ABANDONED ON FARM.

Tens of millions of acres have been abandoned because of erosion. This jeopardizes both consumer and producer. Real damage to the consumer does not result from moderate increases in food prices, but from collapse of farm income so drastic as to compel ruthless depletion of soil. That is the real menace to the nation's future food supply. That has caused farmers to lose their homes. It has hastened the spread of tenancy. It lies at the root of many serious economic and social problems besetting agriculture.

Already the adjustment programs have made important gains in conservation and restoration of soil fertility. Many millions of acres which farmers have signed contracts to divert from surplus production are being devoted to legumes, pastures, hay and other crops which fertilize the soil and protect it from blowing and washing.

PROGRAM WILL AID SOIL CONSERVATION.

The long-time and more permanent adjustment program will provide positive incentives for soil conservation. The benefit payments can be made on a basis that will encourage individual farmers to adopt sound farm management, crop rotation and soil conservation methods. The crop insurance feature afforded by benefit payments will help farmers to maintain these beneficial systems of farming without interruption in poor crop years. Long-time adjustments can be adapted to natural soil advantages of regions and localities. Already the adjustment administration has under way local studies to help in working out farm programs on a county basis, so as to fit the best permanent use of the varying soil resources of the county, up to that county's share of available domestic foreign markets. Thus, plans are being worked out that should encourage widespread co-operation of farmers in a permanent national soil maintenance program.

The simplified and more flexible adjustment program of the future can be made to serve the permanent advantage of producer and consumer. It can iron out the succession of extreme market gluts and extreme shortages which in the past have alternately wrecked farm income and penalized city people with with too high prices. It can protect the nation's heritage of soil, help farmers to produce up to the full possibilities of profitable export, and give this country the safest possible assurance of abundant food in the years to come. I can think of nothing more important to the permanent welfare of the nation than long-time agricultural adjustment carried out along these lines.

help in working out farm programs on a county basis; . . . to natural soil advantages of regions and localities."

He said "increasing farm buying power is reflected in better business in towns and industrial centers everywhere" and told those who viewed the AAA's job as finished or at a standstill:

"But it was never the idea of the men who framed the act, of those in congress who revised it, nor of Henry Wallace nor Chester Davis, that the Agricultural Adjustment Administration should be either a mere emergency operation or a static agent.

Permanency Advocated.

"It was their intention—as it is mine—to pass from the purely emergency phases necessitated by a grave national crisis to a long time, more permanent plan for American agriculture.

"Such a long time program is developing naturally out of the present adjustment efforts. As I see it, this program has two principal objectives:

"First, to carry out the declared policy of congress to maintain and increase the gains thus far made, thereby avoiding the danger of a slump back into the conditions brought about by our national neglect of agriculture.

"Second, to broaden present adjustment operations so as to give farmers increasing incentive for conservation and efficient use of the nation's soil resources. . . .

MYSTERY VEILS DEATH OF MAN AND WOMAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—In circumstances both grotesque and mysterious, the bodies of a young wife and an elderly widower were found today in an Astoria apartment littered with bills of one and five-dollar denomination.

The cause of the deaths was unknown and a preliminary autopsy disclosed no evidence of external violence on the bodies, which were in such conditions to indicate death had occurred at least 72 hours before discovery. The vital organs were sent for examination by a toxicologist.

The woman, Mrs. Nellie Rush, 26, was the wife of Harvey Rush, a truck driver. The man was Anton Schmidt, 51, a factory foreman, at whose apartment the bodies were found.

Mrs. Rush was found lying on her back on a couch, her clothing disarranged. A butterfly was tattooed on her left thigh. Schmidt was found half crouched in a wide pool of blood behind a wardrobe in the same room. The wardrobe had been pushed away from the wall and Schmidt was between it and the wall.

Girl Slayer Gets Life.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Thomas Welshaws, of Indianapolis, was sentenced to life imprisonment here today for murdering his sweetheart, Mrs. Mary Ferguson Hamberg, whom he wooed at walkathons.

F. D. R. Hopes To Arrange Speech Week Preceding Thanksgiving

President Says He Will Come Directly to Georgia Following Address at Vincennes, Ind., on November 18; Date To Be Fixed Monday.

President Roosevelt said at his press conference in Washington yesterday that he was trying to arrange for his Atlanta speech to be made in the week preceding Thanksgiving rather than during Thanksgiving week as planned by the Georgia group arranging for the Roosevelt home-coming celebration.

The definite date for the address will be fixed at a conference with the President Monday which will be attended by Senators Walter F. George and Richard B. Russell Jr. and Erle Cocke, of Atlanta, general chairman of arrangements for the home-coming.

To Speak in Indiana.

At his press conference the President said yesterday that he would speak in Vincennes, Ind., November 18 and go from Vincennes to Georgia. He said it had not been determined whether he would stop in Atlanta for the speech en route to Warm Springs or would come to Atlanta at a later date during his visit. He added, however, that he hoped to arrange the speech for the week preceding Thanksgiving.

Chairman Cocke said before leaving Atlanta that the group would not attempt to influence the President in the selection of the date.

"When the invitation was extended to the President by the Georgia delegation in congress it was accepted with the understanding that the President would select his own time," Cocke said. "That arangement still goes. We are merely going to find out from the President when he will arrive and how long he can stay. After we determine that we can arrange the details of the program."

The two senators and the committee chairman have an engagement with the President for 11 o'clock Monday morning.

Before leaving Atlanta, Cocke announced that the makeup for all committees working on the celebration had been completed and would be announced today. Several of the committees already have been appointed. Those yet unannounced are the distinguished hosts committee, headed by Judge Blanton Fortson, of Athens, and the distinguished women's hosts committee, headed by Miss Martha Berry, of Rome.

Three more Georgia cities announced plans for observing Roosevelt Day and for sending large delegations to Atlanta to participate in the festivities.

Austell to Celebrate.

Mayor Charles J. Shelverton, of Austell, made public a resolution passed by the city council declaring a public holiday and announced the appointment of a committee to arrange for a motorcade to Atlanta. This committee is composed of P. H. Winn, Vincent Henderson and Chester Maynard, all prominent Roosevelt supporters of the Cobb county city.

Meanwhile at Villa Rica a Roosevelt club was organized at a mass meeting and Dr. H. L. Sutton was elected to the presidency of the organization, Mayor A. A. Parker was elected vice president, and S. C. Connally, treasurer. F. T. Wilson heads the membership committee. Dr. Sutton said yesterday that plans are being made to bring a delegation of 1,000 Roosevelt supporters to Atlanta for the President's speech. Motorcades from Temple, Bowden, Carrollton, Clem and Whitesburg are expected to join the Villa Rica 'cade and the delegation come to Atlanta as a unit.

The city council of Summerville also unanimously adopted a resolution declaring Roosevelt Day a public holiday and urging all of the citizens of Summerville and Chattooga county to come to Atlanta for the home-coming celebration. A mass meeting will be held at Summerville later to form more definite plans.

Italian Soldiers Push Forward And Capture 2 Ethiopian Villages

ROME, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Advances by Italy's southern army in Ethiopia, the capture of two villages and the submission of several chieftains were reported today in an official communique.

Fascist airplanes have made reconnaissance flights as far as Magalo, (only 225 miles southeast of Addis Ababa), it was announced.

The planes, it was said, "effectively bombed various military objectives."

The villages captured in the drive toward Harar were listed as Callafo and Geledi in the Sciaveli (Shibeli) region.

(Italy's present plan is for its northern and southern armies to meet around Harar, thus linking with occupied territory the Italian colonies of Eritrea and Somaliland.)

"Numerous tribal chiefs hastened to present themselves at Callafo, make acts of submission, and join the army," said the communique. Five hundred rifles were captured.

"Olol Dinle, the sultan of Sciaveli (Shibeli), who has capitualted to us, is continuing a flanking action with his armed followers. On October 21 they participated in a successful engagement near the village of Geledi, which was occupied.

". . . there is nothing new in the Eritrean sector except the movement of our advance guards, which is proceeding with the final occupation of the Tigre territory and is welcomed with popular enthusiasm."

ETHIOPIAN ATTACK REPULSED BY ITALIANS

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press.)

ROME, Oct. 25.—(UP)—A savage Ethiopian attack at dawn today on the right wing of the Italian line near Aksum was repulsed by native and European troops with considerable losses to the enemy, it was reported tonight.

The attack was led in person by Ras Siyoum, one of Emperor Haile Selassie's greatest generals and his chief commander on the northern front. More than 1,000 selected black warriors were in the raiding party.

Italian losses were not revealed but there was no effort to belittle the accounts of Ras Siyoum's bravery.

Two batteries of artillery had to be brought into play before the raiders were driven off.

Later, Italian airplanes sighted the main body of Ras Siyoum's army near Ghera river, one of the tributaries of the Takkaze.

On the southern front two hundred Ethiopians were reported mowed down by Italian machine guns at Geledi, near the Webbe Shibeli river in southern Ethiopia.

The Italians captured a large amount of ammunition, food and livestock, indicating Geledi was a position of importance. One ammunition dump was blown up and another captured, with 100,000 cartridges, it was said.

RAS NASIBU SENDS SOLDIERS TO FRONT

By JAMES A. MILLS.

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press.)

HARAR, ETHIOPIA, Oct. 25.—Ras Nasibu, war lord-governor of Harar, dispatched the main body of Harar regulars to the southern front from this walled city today and predicted Jijiga, 50 miles east of here, would be a bulwark of Ethiopia's defense.

Preceded by 2,000 heavily-laden camels, the well-equipped ranks of infantry, cavalry and anti-aircraft units marched away amid the shrieks and lamentations of fanatical Galla women.

Ras Nasibu, who will command the 12,000 in battle, reviewed them; the Coptic Abuna, or bishop, blessed their colors; Catholic priests granted the warriors absolution.

Colorful Scene.

It was a scene truly oriental and perhaps the most colorful this ancient city ever has witnessed.

(Marching steadily north in the direction of Harar, said a Rome communique, was Italy's Somaliland army. Two more villages, it was announced, fell to the forces of General Rudolfo Graziani as they advanced up the Webbe Shibeli valley; more Ethiopian tribal chiefs submitted and 500 Ethiopian rifles were seized.)

Ras Nasibu, who has aged considerably under the stress of war since I saw him a month ago, expressed confidence he had sufficient men and munitions to hold Jijiga.

Few Casualties.

He scoffed at reports of heavy Ethiopian casualties from bombs or gas on the Ogaden front.

"The total casualties resulting from the Italian air bombing of Gorahei and points along the Webbe Shibeli river were five killed and three wounded at Gorahei and one Somali killed at Katama Tafari," he said.

Asked if he had adequate leadership at Jijiga, Nasibu replied in the affirmative. He said the famous Turkish general, Habtemikael Wehib Pasha, was one of his commanders.

Emperor Haile Selassie, the governor added, is being informed by telephone hourly of events on the southern front.

The anti-aircraft guns which accompanied the troops to the front were mounted on American motor trucks.

ITALIANS EXPECTED TO START DRIVE SOON.

By WEBB MILLER.

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press.)

WITH NORTHERN ITALIAN ARMY AT ADIGRAT, VIA COURIER TO ASMARA, Eritrea, Oct. 25. (UP)—Belief spread among Italy's blackshirt legions on this front today that a large scale drive southward toward Makale would be ordered within a week, probably on Monday, the 13th anniversary of the fascist march on Rome.

The military road to the front is jammed day and night with lumbering trucks bringing up ammunition and supplies. Caravans of mules plodded forward loaded with water in canvas bags. Swinging along beside them are picturesque black Askari troops, reinforcements for the advanced posts.

Thundering artillery tractors with wheels five feet in diameter clamber over the rough terrain, dragging guns forward and occasionally giving a tow to the big trucks on steep grades.

Blinded by Dust.

All are enveloped in blinding, choking white dust fine as talcum. Hundreds of Italian military engineers direct thousands of laborers, black and white, improving the roads and making pack trails into routes that will bear wheeled traffic.

The air is electric with general belief the "big push" is at hand. It is supposed the expected advance will be part of a great Italian attack on all fronts, co-ordinated with activities of Italian troops operating from Mussa Ali and Italian Somaliland.

The morale of the troops is high. They seem eager to advance and sing as they march or go about military tasks.

Savage Customs.

The savagery of customs and the mode of living in this ancient country was illustrated by a graphic incident today. A middle-aged, barefooted, bareheaded, gray-bearded Ethiopian named Adera Childanu hobbled into Italian headquarters.

He had traveled more than 40 miles from the interior four days on a homemade wooden leg made from the crooked branch of a thorn bush. His right forearm and left leg were missing.

Through an Arkari interpreter he said he was with the Italians in the war of 1896 and that after the Italians retreated, Emperor Menelik ordered his arm and leg hacked off as an object lesson to his subjects. He said he was held by Menelik's soldiers and his leg and arm hacked off with a knife, while he screamed in agony.

Years later the Italians heard of his plight and granted him a pension of 50 lire (then about $10) a month. His most precious possession is his pension book, which he carried around his neck suspended beneath his clothes. The pension was paid through the Italian consul at Aduwa.

Chidanu said many other Ethiopians who assisted the Italians in 1896 had suffered similar dismemberment, some of them dying from the crude operations.

ETHIOPIAN CHIEF KILLED IN BATTLE

ASMARA, Eritrea, Oct. 25.—(AP)—An Ethiopian chief named Badil, one of Italy's most bitter foes in the southern Ogaden area, was killed during a sharp battle in defense of Callafo, dispatches to Italian general headquarters here said today.

Callafo, an important city in the Sciaveli (Shibeli) region, was taken in the advance of the army headed by General Rodolfo Grazianno.

National Biscuit Company took the second largest number of safe driving pledges yesterday, calling for 400. Next came the Stone Baking Company, with 200. President Joseph Hexter pointed out that the Stone company is conducting a safety campaign of its own and last month had nine plants which reported not a single accident.

Southern Dairies took out 20 pledges for their truck drivers and office employes' personal cars and the A. K. Hawk Company called for nine.

The self-reported traffic violation case against Jack Strouss, secretary of the Atlanta Automobile Club, was heard and called "no case" yesterday by Recorder John L. Cone. Strouss reported himself for ignoring a red light and a patrolman's whistle, but Recorder Cone reminded him that traffic violators can't be fined unless there's a witness to the act.

He may be a reckless daredevil in the air, but Captain F. F. Frakes drives as safetly as anybody on the ground. He proved it yesterday by coming to The Constitution office to sign a safe driving pledge and obtain stickers for his automobile.

Captain Frakes is the stunt flier who is scheduled to crash an airplane from 2,000 feet into the lake at the fair grounds tomorrow afternoon.

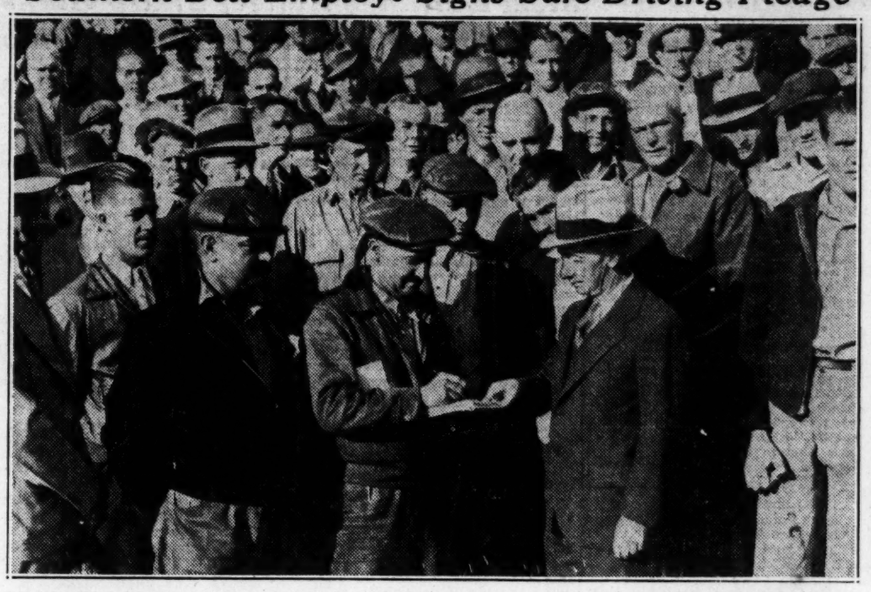

C. T. MURCHISON HEADS COTTON TEXTILE GROUP

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Dr. Claudius T. Murchison, director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, has been elected president of the Cotton Textile Institute, it was announced today.

Goldthwaite H. Dorr, temporary president prior to the election, was named chairman of the institute's board of directors, a new post.

GRAND JURORS TOLD TO DROP BOYKIN PROBE

Tuttle, on the stand, said that in investigating the charges that Boykin perjured himself in two Worthy cases, he found that the transcript of testimony had been changed in more than 9 places. Furthermore, he said, he could not discover any record of Boykin's testimony in a bond hearing for Worthy, who is serving 8 to 12 years' sentence on conviction of perjury in connection with a damage claim.

Lawyer Arnold brought out that the transcripts are frequently changed to conform with the stenographic records and that often mistakes are made in transcribing notes and have to be corrected. He also pointed out that the transcript in question was not officially approved at the time it was examined by Tuttle.

Law Is Condemned.

Arnold condemned the law which allows a convict or any one else to appear in court, swear that in their belief the solicitor-general has committed an indictable offense and bring charges against the solicitor to be investigated by the grand jury without any previous effort to determine the merits of the case.

He told the jurors that if he was a member of that body he would recommend that this law be changed.

Worthy was subpoenaed from the Fulton tower yesterday morning by the grand jury to testify concerning his charges against Boykin, but when he appeared he refused to talk. He petitioned the superior court for an injunction to restrain this grand jury from investigating his charges, alleging that several members of the jury were employes or stockholders in companies which allegedly contributed to a "slush fund" used to combat the fake damage claim racket here.

Persecution Claimed.

He charged, in a statement to the jury, that Boykin had "prostituted" his office in allowing a representative of the Georgia Power Company office space while probing claims against the power company. He claimed Boykin was persecuting him.

Tuttle, requested by the grand jury to present the Worthy charges before the jury goes out of office, replied yesterday morning that he would not—that he had not completed his investigation and would not be ready this term at all.

The grand jurors then wrote a message to Judge Dorsey asking that a new solicitor-general pro tem be appointed. In his ruling during the afternoon, after he had called the grand jury into court, Judge Dorsey refused the request.

Probe To Be Dropped.

Vice Foreman H. G. King said that no further probe of the Boykin perjury charges would be undertaken by the grand jury. Previously he and other jurors had frequently expressed the desire to either clear or indict Solicitor Boykin, it being claimed that the solicitor is "under a cloud" with such charges pending.

Judge Dorsey disagreed with this contention also, holding that Boykin is under no cloud and that as solicitor, constantly dealing with criminals, he must expect such actions.

Solicitor-General Pro Tem Tuttle frankly told Judge Dorsey that he would not bring any indictment against Boykin before the current jury.

He said there were at least two men on the jury whose qualifications for passing on such a matter were doubtful. He held that he could present the bill at his discretion before any grand jury he wished, which contention was supported by Judge Dorsey, who added "within a reasonable length of time."

Tuttle Called "Slow."

The current grand jury asserted that Tuttle had had more than five weeks to prepare the indictment and that he should be ready. Reuben Arnold said he could prepare such papers in a week any time and that he knew 20 lawyers who could do the same thing. "You are just too devilish slow," he said, addressing Tuttle.

Judge Dorsey declared that often, he, while solicitor-general, had taken months in drawing an indictment, but he assured the grand jurors he would see that Solicitor Pro Tem Tuttle acted on the matter in a reasonable length of time.

Assistant Solicitor J. Walter LeCraw told the court that he advised Vice Foreman King the jurymen could investigate anything or anybody they wanted to.

After the judge's ruling, Juror J. T. Bray arose and demanded that Tuttle point out and identify the "two men" he named as being partisan in the matter. Bray said he felt the names should be made clear in order to relieve other jurymen of any suspicion. Nothing was done, however.

King Explains Action.

Vice Foreman King, chairman of the committee investigating the county commission, the solicitor's office and the superior courts, previously said that Tuttle had been requested to bring the case into the grand jury but had refused, therefore the jurors had decided to pursue the charges to the end on their own behalf because they believed it the duty of the jury to get at the bottom of the thing.

The jury was proceeding on this plan when Worthy refused to answer any questions when he was brought to the juryroom yesterday.

Worthy's injunction plea, presented to Judge Virlyn B. Moore by Louis Foster, lawyer, who denied that he was acting as attorney for Worthy, precipitated the court action yesterday. Judge Moore asked Judge Dorsey to handle the matter.

The injunction petition asked the judge either to restrain the present jury from investigating the charges against Boykin or to weed out the allegedly disqualified jurors.

Jurors Make Request.

The message of the grand jury sent to Judge Dorsey asking for a new solicitor-general pro tem was signed by 22 jurors, one being absent. They all announced themselves as anxious to complete the Boykin matter.

The decision of Judge Dorsey threw the jury into confusion and they disbanded for the day immediately following the session in court. A special meeting is scheduled to be held today and another Monday, for the purpose of further consideration of committee reports on the city police department, the building and grounds committee and the clerk of the superior court office.

As the Boykin charges were understood to be the only thing holding up the report of Vice Foreman King and his committee, it was expected that the paper, containing criticism of the county commission, will be formally adopted by the jury Monday.

Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant and Lieutenant Tippings, of the city police department, were called before the grand jury yesterday morning at the request of J. G. Barrow, chairman of the police probe committee. It was not known about what they were questioned.

The course of action already agreed upon by the grand jury will follow until the end of the term and final presentments will be returned next Friday, it was said.

MASS KILLING SUSPECT FIRMLY DENIES CRIME

with the mass murders, in which the victims were shot, hacked, or beaten, Magnuson said, were a physician who allegedly treated the slayer for wounds and a man who Mrs. Paulos declared took her and Hall to Erland's Point the night of the crime.

From the two, whose names were not revealed, the prosecutor said he hoped to obtain information correlating with details of Mrs. Paulos' story that Hall slaughtered the bound and gagged men and women during a robbery raid on a lonely cottage.

Phantom Footsteps.

Mrs. Paulos, 27-year-old beer parlor waitress, whose statement was released by Magnuson last night, told officers that phantom footsteps which had followed her during 19 months of guilty silence had led her to disclose her information.

"I kept hearing them, I tell you—footsteps behind me, soft like they were made by feet smeared with blood," she was quoted as saying. She was held but not formally charged.

Magnuson said Mrs. Paulos told of accompanying Hall to the Erland's Point cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flieder, two of the victims. She said she helped bind all six victims and tape their mouths.

She fled, the statement continued, after Hall had taken one of the women victims into a bedroom and returned, bloodsmeared.

The victims, in addition to the Flieders were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Chenevert, Magnus Jordan and Ezra M. Bolcom.

Britain in Mediterranean.

There were indications, too, that Britain is not yet ready to make any Mediterranean fleet reduction despite Il Duce's conciliatory gesture in withdrawing a division of his troops from Libya.

Word that the battleship Resolute was leaving Alexandria today for England was coupled with the announcement it would be replaced almost immediately by the H. M. S. Ramillies, which just is out of drydock after a channel collision with a German freighter.

The Ramillies is to depart about November 1, three or four days before the Resolute arrives in English waters.

King George's address to the assembled houses of commons and lords was read by Lord Hailsham.

It included the traditional paragraph of his majesty's peacetime speeches: "My relations with foreign powers continue to be friendly," and then went on:

"The critical situation which was unhappily arisen between Italy and Ethiopia has aroused my gravest concern."

BLOCKADE MUST AWAIT AMERICAN ATTITUDE

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin said tonight he would never sanction a naval blockade by Great Britain unless he was assured beforehand of the attitude of the United States.

Baldwin's speech, opening the government's election campaign, was broadcast throughout Europe.

A possible naval blockade of Italian ports to enforce economic sanctions has been hinted unofficially, but never has come up at the League of Nations conferences. Mussolini has said such a blockade would mean war.

No matter what may happen in the future regarding a blockade, the prime minister said, the brunt of any trouble resulting therefrom will fall primarily on the British navy.

NORWAY TO APPLY SANCTIONS ON ITALY.

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Norwegian government adopted sanctions against Italy today, forbidding any public or private loans or credits to that nation.

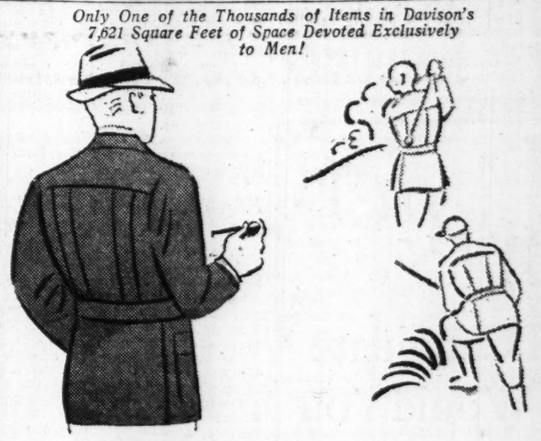

The government provided a fine or two years' imprisonment for offenders and recorded its right to confiscate the values involved in any illegal transactions.

PETITION ASKS RECALL OF NEBRASKA MAYOR

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Petitions seeking the recall of Mayor Charles W. Bryan, thrice governor of Nebraska and brother of William Jennings Bryan, were filed with the city clerk today.

They were presented by J. B. Strackbein, a grocer, and T. F. Donelson, an attorney. Friends of Bryan declared the petitions were backed by persons whose requests for licenses to sell liquor were denied by the city council. Strackbein said a club of which he was secretary was refused a license.

New Federal Home Loan Plan

There are two ways to finance your home—the old-fashioned straight loan and the new long-term monthly amortized Federal loan.

THE OLD PLAN

1. You borrow $5,000.
2. You pay $300 in interest every year at 6%.
3. In 20 years' you have paid $6,000 in interest plus various renewal charges and commissions paid for refinancing your loan every time it matures.
4. After 20 years you still owe $5,000.

THE NEW PLAN

1. You borrow $5,000.
2. Every month you pay $35.80, which is applied first to interest on unpaid balance at rate of 6% and remainder to retirement of principal.
3. Each time you reduce the principal you also reduce the interest.
4. In 20 years you pay only $3,592, in interest at 6%, with no additional expenses on account of renewal or refinancing charges.
5. And after 20 years you owe nothing.

POLICE SEEK CLUES IN SCHULTZ'S SLAYING

Notes of Gangster's Ravings Studied in Hope of Finding Lead.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 25.—(AP)—In the stenographic notes of Dutch Schultz's delirious death ravings police groped today for clues to the trigger-men who rubbed out the gang chief and three of his henchmen.

The mumblings and screams of the dying racketeer, the plaintive cries, his anxious pleadings—all were plainly the utterances of an irrational person. But in the welter of phrases and disconnected sentences the police hoped to find a nugget of truth, a lead to the identity of the assassins.

Phil, Henry, Frankie: These were some of the names Schultz mentioned before he died in City hospital, his liver punctured by one of the bullets fired at him and his three aides as they sat in a downtown Newark cafe Wednesday night.

Another was "the boss himself."

"Who shot you?" asked Sergeant Luke Conlon as he sat by Schultz's deathbed.

Claims Boss Did Shooting.

"The boss himself," the gangster mumbled. Then his mind wandered.

"What did he shoot you for?" asked Conlon.

"I showed him, boss. Did you hear him meet me? An appointment. Appeal stuck."

Schultz's widow, Mrs. Frances Flegenheimer—the racketeer's real name was Arthur Flegenheimer—was held in $10,000 bail as a material witness today by Acting Police Judge Thomas Guthrie. Samuel Wildstein, of Newark, later furnished property bail and Mrs. Flegenheimer was released.

Three employes of the tavern, Jack Friedman, 44, Lou King, 32, and Bennie Bergenfield, 38, were held in $1,000 bail each as material witnesses.

Autopsy Performed.

Mrs. Flegenheimer, free after a night in city jail, left for New York. The body of her husband was taken to an undertaker in New York, after Dr. Harrison S. Martland, chief medical examiner of Essex county, performed an autopsy in the presence of about 250 physicians.

Bernard Rosenkrantz, 36, his chauffeur, who died early today, was hit by three bullets. The others slain were Otto Biederman, alias Berman, and Abraham Landau, alias Leo

Pigs Is Pigs to Owner Of Nameless Champion

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Pigs is pigs to I. L. Rudasill, Molino, Mo., farmer and no hog of his, not even a grand champion, is going to be tagged with a breath-wasting name.

A Rudasill barrow was crowned grand champion of the swine show's adult division and horrified officials discovered it had no name.

"Why call him anything?" blandly asked Rudasill. "He won't answer anyway."

"But, when you want to tell a hired man to get him out of the pen—what then?"

"Got no hired man. When I want him I go get him myself."

"But, how do you call him to feed?"

"Haven't noticed any trouble that way. He comes to the trough on the slightest provocation."

Rudasill said that unless he gets 50 cents a pound for his nameless grand champion here, he will take him to the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago.

ALLEN CANDIDACY MEETS PROTEST

Democratic Leader Says Governor Filed After Deadline.

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 25.—(AP) Frank J. Looney, Caddo parish member of the democratic state central committee, today filed formal protest with the committee against acceptance of Governor O. K. Allen's announced filing as a candidate for United States senator to succeed the late Huey P. Long.

Governor Allen, chairman of the state committee, succeeding Long, announced after the deadline for qualifying that he had qualified as a candidate for the senate and that Lewis L. Morgan, of Covington, counsel for the state highway commission, had filed for governor.

Political circles interpreted the move as an attempted coup to hold the administration supporters in line, but Allen declared that the filings were made to take care of any emergency that might befall the Allen ticket before the January 21 democratic primary.

COUNTER-PROTEST MADE BY JAPANESE

Tokyo Demands Punishment of Soviet Officers in Border Clash.

TOKYO, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Japan replied to Russia's protest over a Manchukuoan border fight by a counter-protest which blamed Russia for the incident, authoritative circles said today.

Japanese Foreign Minister Koki Hirota was reported by the Rengo (Japanese) News Agency to have handed the soviet ambassador, Dr. Constantine Youreneff, a vigorous note declaring the soviet government was responsible for the clash in which six Japanese Manchukuoans were killed recently.

It was reported Japan demanded that the officers be punished, indemnities be paid the victims' families and guarantees be made against another such incident.

FRANCE CASTS EYES AT G.O.P. NOMINATION

WINTER PARK, Fla., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Fear that republicans do not have an outstanding candidate for the coming presidential campaign was expressed today by former United States Senator Joseph I. France, of Maryland, at Rollins College.

He lauded the present administration's interest in pulbic welfare. "I believe," he conceded, "that the present administration has undeniably demonstrated real interest in public welfare, and in advancing the interests of every individual."

France said he had offered his support to Governor Harry Nice, of Maryland, for 1936. In case Nice does not accept, France intimated he may become a presidential candidate himself.

GOV. LANDON BACKED BY KANSAS LEADERS

TOPEKA, Oct. 25—(AP)—Kansas republican leaders today indorsed Governor Alf M. Landon for the republican presidential nomination.

The action came at a meeting of members of the state committee, state office holders, congressmen, Senator Arthur Capper and other party leaders called for the purpose of raising preconvention campaign funds for the republican national committee.

Governor Landon was not present. He has not indicated whether he will be a candidate.

TOWNSENDITES GATHER $12,000 FOR ELECTIONS

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—(AP)—With only a one-plank platform, the Townsend pension advocates gathered in more than $12,000 on the opening day of the Townsend Club convention.

Six thousand official delegates paid $2 each as a registration fee. Six hundred more guests paid a $1 fee.

WORKMAN IS KILLED IN THEATER EXPLOSION

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 25.—(AP)—One man was killed and another injured when the basement of the State theater, downtown movie house, was wrecked today by an unexplained blast.

Crushed under a pile of concrete and plaster, his body crumpled in a hole torn in the floor of the basement, Wayman Burney, negro oil furnace attendant, was found dead after the explosion. It occurred before the theater opened.

N. R. Hixson, a white workman in the basement with Burney, suffered internal injuries and bruises.

ARMY ORDERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Army orders:

Colonel Frank F. Jewett, infantry, to army retiring board.

Chaplain Benjamin J. Tarskey, to Chanute field.

First Lieutenant Milton S. Glatterer, infantry, to Fort Benning. First Lieutenant Brockner W. Brady, infantry, to Fort Wadsworth.

Steel Earnings Reflect Sharp Gains In Industry's Production in Ohio

Company Profits Among Major Organizations Roll in From Business "Comeback;" Thousands Back on Jobs in Blast Furnaces and Converters.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 25.—(AP)—It's practically "old-time prosperity" in Ohio's big sector of the steel industry these days.

Blast furnaces and Bessemer converters are roaring. Strip mills are sending out mile after mile of white-hot ribbons of steel. Thousands of men who were idle a year ago are back on their jobs, and the profits that support wages and pay dividends are pouring into the industry's coffers.

Steel operation jumped four points last week in the Youngstown section, to 62 per cent, and moved up two points in the Cleveland-Lorain district to 64 per cent.

For the Republic Steel Corporation, third largest steel firm in the United States and the biggest in Ohio, the first nine months of 1935 are described by T. M. Girdler, president, as "the most satisfactory period in the history of the corporation."

Republic, organized in 1930, has a net profit of $3,264,295 for the first nine months of 1935, compared to a net loss of $2,193,158 in the corresponding period of a year ago

Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., which had a net loss of $1,668,633 in the first nine months of last year, has a net profit of $103,787 in the corresponding period of 1935.

The last quarter of 1935, just ended, is particularly encouraging. Republic's profits in this period were $507,731 and Sheet & Tube's were $574,799. A year ago, the third quarter gave Republic a loss of $2,998,000, and Sheet & Tube a loss of $1,257,371.

At Lorain, the National Tube Company today began firing another blast furnace, to step up production to the highest point in five years.

At Youngstown, the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, and Republic each made plans to start an additional blast furnace next week.

Steelmen said an increasing demand for steel for the automobile industry continues to be one of the biggest factors in the upward trend of Ohio steel. The improvement in demand, however, is noticed in a wide diversity of lines.

One of the largest steel orders in the last few days called for about 140 miles of eight-inch steel pipe for a crude oil line from Crystal, Mich., to Toledo, Ohio. This order, given by Standard Oil of Ohio, amounted to nearly 8,600 tons and was reported shared about entirely by Republic, Sheet & Tube, National Tube and the Wheeling Steel Co.

Blind Chicken, Not Tiger Saves Drunk Suspect

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Add alibis that worked:

J. L. Kirby, 72, appeared in municipal court today charged with drunkenness.

He explained he took a "small" half-pint bottle of whisky, intending to rub some on an ailing knee, but "it smelled so good that I drank it."

After remarking he got up at 3 o'clock every morning "to commune with nature" and reciting his poem, "Ode to Morning," for the court's benefit, Kirby plaintively asked Judge James A. Dunn what would happen to his pet blind chicken if he went to jail.

"Sentence suspended," the court pronounced.

"But next time bring that chicken with you, for you're going to jail."

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct 25.—(AP) Jackie Coogan becomes of age tomorrow and into his control will pass the vast fortune which grew from his earnings as the greatest juvenile star of the silent motion picture era.

The Coogans have assiduously denied themselves to interviewers since their return from New York, and the business manager, Arthur Bernstein, flatly refused to discuss Jackie's financial status.

"He's going to be the target for every brand of shark, clip-artist and chiseler, anyway," Bernstein said.

"And I don't mind telling you we're afraid of kidnapers. That's all I can say about it."

Jackie himself, dodged the question, replying, "I don't have any idea how much I'm coming into. My mother and Mr. Bernstein handled everything."

He will receive his fortune in quarterly installments. Most of its is in real estate, with negotiable bonds and actual cash composing part of it.

His fortune was considerably enlarged through life insurauce premiums, paid several months ago, after the death of his father, John Coogan Sr., in an automobile accident near San Diego

To the father is accredited the program of investments and savings by which Jackie's tremendous earnings were held together.

"Discovered," by Charles Chaplin, Coogan entered pictures when he was 4 years old. Even before his salary curve reached the top of its arc, he paid income tax of $57,000 in one year, and $53,000 in another.

At one time he received $500,000 from a film studio as a "bonus." Actually, it was reliably reported, this was an advance on four pictures Jackie was contracted to make.

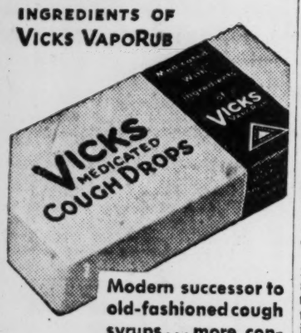

He was born here, October 26, 1914. "The Kid" was Coogan's first picture and the result was the most amazing popularity wave since the days of Baby Peggy.

New 1936 Plymouth is on Display Today

Important Improvements in Ride and Performance

The 1936 Plymouth is again America's most economical full-size car. Evidence indicates 18 to 24 or more miles per gallon of gas... low oil consumption... extremely low upkeep.

Among 40 improvements, the big Plymouth frame has been made 100% more rigid... bodies newly reinforced at five points.

Eleven new comfort features have been added to Plymouth's famed Floating Ride... inches of extra leg room... of elbow and shoulder room. New sway-eliminator and twice-as-rigid frame provide the riding smoothness you'd expect in this big car.

With an entirely new steering design, there just isn't any trace of road shock at the wheel. More power and pick-up than you'll ever need... vibrationless Floating Power... easy clutch and gear shifting. You've never driven a car so easy to handle.

The new Plymouth Safety-Steel body is the sturdiest and quietest we have built. The 100% hydraulic brakes stop you quickly and safely. It's the safest low-priced car!

See... and drive... and ride in this beautiful, new Plymouth before you buy any car.

Your Chrysler, Dodge or De Soto dealer will put a new Plymouth at your disposal, quick. (Ask about the official Chrysler Motors Commercial Credit Plan... which makes it easy to own one.)

PLYMOUTH DIVISION OF CHRYSLER CORPORATION

DOLE NEARS ITS END

Considered jointly, the address of President Roosevelt in behalf of the 1935 Mobilization for Human Need, the statement of Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, on the status of the drive to put 3,500,000 unemployed to work, and the statement of Secretary of Labor Perkins on the unemployment situation give a clear picture of the decrease effected during the past 18 months in the number of those out of work and the prospects for still further reduction.

The President points out that the recovery program has resulted in the return of 5,000,000 unemployed to permanent work, bringing an increase in national pay rolls of more than $100,000,000 a week.

Illustrating the improvement in industry, he cites that "employment in the so-called durable goods group is now 62 per cent higher than in 1933; their weekly pay rolls are 139 per cent greater; and this represents a net increase in employment of 1,185,000 men and women, and a rise of over $40,000,000 in weekly pay rolls."

Secretary Perkins reports that employment increased in September to the largest total in five years, with more than 350,000 men and women returning to permanent work in that month alone and a $12,000,000 increase in pay rolls being registered over August.

Administrator Hopkins reports that the 42 states still under the dole system will be removed from federal relief during November and predicts that next year's relief program will not include a return to the dole. He expresses confidence that the objective of removing 3,500,000 from the ranks of the unemployed through the expenditure of the $4,800,000,000 work-relief fund will soon be accomplished, and cites that this reduction in the idle, plus the removal of the millions of unemployable from the federal relief rolls, will leave the unemployment situation in a condition not materially worse than that to be expected even in normal times.

The unemployables constitute a fifth of the idle in the country—and should not now, as they never have been in the past—be taken into consideration in connection with estimates of unemployment brought about through economic depression. This type of unfortunate has always been cared for by the families, by local charity and through the charitable activities of churches and other organizations.

The end of the dole will place the support of these men and women again on the communities in which they live, and with them will be many unemployed, able to work but still unable to find jobs.

The burden upon every community for charity will be heavier during the next year than at any time under the federal relief program. It means that the contributions to the Community Chest must be more numerous and more generous if suffering is to be avoided during the months that must still go by before industry and business are able to again supply jobs for all but a normal number of unemployed.

THINK IT OVER

Some individual possessed with an inquiring disposition and propensity for searching out facts pertinent to the interests of good citizenship, states that some 20,000,000 eligible Americans failed to vote at the last presidential election. He may or may not have missed the mark a few millions; it matters little, for the number was inexcusably large.

This same commentator states that in Australia each would have been subject to a fine of $10, unless able to present a highly satisfactory excuse for not exercising the right of franchise.

Australia devised and perfected what we used to term the "Australian ballot system," now in universal use throughout the United States, and which provided the first machinery for discarding the old hit-and-miss system in use in this country and an approach to something like honesty in our elections.

It might not be a bad idea for us to consider this Australian system of compelling our citizens to make use of their right of citizenship, since so large a proportion appear to care so little for what they possess. If a citizen too indifferent to vote were haled into court and required to explain "how come," and failing to answer satisfactorily be fined, the chances are that when the next election day arrived he or she would have time to go to the polls and cast a ballot.

Failure to register and vote is a besetting sin against good citizenship in America; in addition to which there are many who register and then fail to vote. Maybe the Australian plan is not the best, but certainly something should be done to awaken our citizens to their duty.

WHITE ADVISES G. O. P.

William Allen White, noted Kansas editor and publicist, has announced his support of Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, for the 1936 republican presidential nomination, asserting that no other man in the United States fits so exactly the specifications for a republican candidate as he.

In the same announcement he belittled the aspirations of such republicans as Colonel Frank Knox, of Chicago, and Governor Alf Landon, of Kansas; took a backhand slap at those who are endeavoring to advance Colonel Charles Lindbergh's name into the limelight as a presidential possibility, and practically ruled ex-President Hoover from the running.

All of which simply adds more kerosene-soaked fuel to the fire that is burning within the ranks of the G. O. P., the smoke from which is so dense that none of the party leaders can see farther than the man next to them.

"A nondescript candidate on a platform of indictment of President Roosevelt and his New Deal will mean political suicide for the republicans," White holds. "We know what the New Deal is and we should know what the substitute for the New Deal will be. This is no time for destructive criticism."

Many citizens, both republicans and democrats, will agree with White that Borah is the strongest man the republicans could put into the race, but many will disagree with him, especially the republicans. However, he states a pertinent fact when he says that "this is no time for destructive criticism, and we should know what the substitute for the New Deal will be."

Up to the present time none of the G. O. P. leaders, heavy thinkers or prospective candidates, even Borah, who is advocated as the G. O. P. Moses by White, have been able to offer a substitute for the New Deal.

White further asserts that "a republican defeat in 1936 would be better than a victory without a program," for in such a case he fears "a lot of goggle-eyed, old, moss-covered, iron-bound conservatives will take charge of the republican party and its legislative plan and wreck it."

The progressive element in the republican party knows that the policies of the "goggle-eyed, moss-covered, iron-bound conservatives" played a big part in bringing on the crash of 1929 and the subsequent depression, and they are wise in their efforts to revamp the party along constructive lines. Failing that, there is nothing for those who are really honest in their convictions to do but leave the party of "moss-backs" to its fate and become earnest supporters of a really progressive party and its leader.

The stock market is again soaring and our fellow countrymen are investing confidently. If they ever read of another Black Friday, they trust it will be in Robinson Crusoe.

Monopoly, says Borah, is the big issue in '36. If the Roosevelts try to hog the White House, it will be against the veteran senator's wishes.

Since our last survey, there has been a small but important decrease in unemployment: The League of Nations has started to work.

Go slow about washing out the young hopeful's mouth with soap. He may grow up to write another "Tobacco Road."

World's Window

Mr. Rickett's Words.

ADDIS ABABA—When I accompanied Mr. Rickett part of the way to Egypt, he said to me one day: "Mussolini is a fool." I quote his exact words, "Mussolini could have had everything he is now fighting for by negotiation. The Negus offered him Ogaden province and the half of Tigre. He would not accept. Now he must try and get it and may fail in the attempt." Fail? That word will not have occurred yet to the enthusiastic young blackshirts, whom I saw demonstrating in Rome. But it did occur to Italian financiers and big businessmen and there were some hot debates in higher circles. Now all debate is silenced. Italy waits. But Italy is not sure of success.

* * * *

Ethiopians March Forward.

Tens of thousands of Ethiopians are marching night and day to meet the invader. The gross of the Ethiopian army will not come within reach of the Italians till the end of October. Then there will be a battle. Then, also, will become clear whether General de Bono was right in occupying the Adowa line, which leaves the advantage heavily in favor of the Negus. The valley at the frontier could not be defended. That was a foregone conclusion long ago. There is no indication that the Ethiopians are in the least dismayed. They consider that the real war has not started yet. One Ras, Ras Kassa, said, to me today: "We are going to win out. Because we will win the last battle. The present reverses are negligible. We have not come into action yet. If the Italians are telling the world that they have defeated the Ethiopian army, they make a mistake. They have not seen the Ethiopian army yet. When they see it, they will know."

* * * *

And Yet . . .

And yet, unless reports are true that the Italian troops are exhausted and tired through the harrassing tactics of the Ethiopian guerrillaists, I do not see how the Abyssinians can possibly hold up the mechanized army of Mussolini. Of course tanks will soon be out of the question and bombing planes are growing more and more ineffective, as the Ethiopians learn to disperse and hide. But gas. . . . There lies the solution. If the Italians continue to use gas and use it in a large measure, the Ethiopian army will be overwhelmed. No gas has been used on the northern front so far. This much I can say: There are no gas masks with the army. There are some 3,000 of those things in the capital, but of what use are they here. I have no mask myself and I am thinking of moving back in the direction of Gondar and Tsana, towards that territory where British influence is supreme. There will be no gas in the province of Godjam and if there should be any by chance that would bring complications with Britain at once.

TODAY'S YESTERDAYS.

October 26, 1774—Massachusetts provincial congress authorized the enrollment of 12,000 men prepared to take the field at a minute's notice. These became the "Minutemen," fathers of American liberty.

Same day, in the first Continental congress, the word American as a designation for a resident of this country, was first spoken by Patrick Henry. Said he:

"British oppression has effaced the boundaries of the several colonies; the distinction between Virginians, Pennsylvanians and New Englanders is no more. I am not a Virginian but an American."

October 26, 1850—The Northwest Passage, sought for three centuries, was discovered—and found to be of no value! But Robert McClure, the English finder, received $25,000 and a knighthood as a reward when the world learned of his discovery four years later.

1,000 M. P. H.

A picture of the world 65 years hence, in A. D. 2000, was drawn by Air Commodore Sir Charles Kingsford Smith in an address in Sydney, Australia.

Long-distance flying would then almost certainly be done in the stratosphere, he said, and very little flying below 50,000 feet. At 1,000 miles an hour, which is almost "inevitable," owing to the diminished resistance in the stratosphere and the modern trend in building engines, a world tour could be a matter almost of hours.

Navigation instruments on the areoplane of the future will not be needed, he thinks, except as "emergency equipment," for all flying will be done by means of the radio beam, already partially in use.

"Imagine a ruled ledger," explained Sir Charles, "and a plane or a number of planes flying along each line. That is the principle. It will be a foolproof era, with the world a small island in space.

"It will almost certain be a warless period, in the very nature of things. It will require some tremendous adjustments, racial and linguistic—but that's not my problem."

Engines working on the turbine principle, he added, developing 1,000 horsepower, would not be likely to weigh more than 100 pounds; while the possibilities of the recoil theory as demonstrated by rocket experiments "presuppose even greater power and speed for airplanes, which will have no difficulty in carrying 500 people."

Conuest Opposed.

George Washington, in 1778, wrote 26 of his wisest words: "It is a maxim, founded on the universal experience of mankind, that no nation is to be trusted further than it is bound by its own interest."

Thus, in a letter, he persuaded the continental congress that a conquest of Canada by an American army, proposed by the French, would be unwise. He understood better than the congressmen that the French where interested in hurting Great Britain, not in helping the colonies gain their liberty.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

BY PAUL MALLON.

WHAT NEXT? WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—A personal poll has been made among the best New Deal minds on the question: "What comes after the breathing spell?"

The answer seems to be that nobody in the New Deal knows. At least no mind could be found with any ideas regarding new reforms beyond those already started, although there are plenty of yet unexpressed thoughts harbored by New Dealers for expansion of the reforms already initiated.

FRAGMENTS For intance, the money muddle will have to be straightened out eventually, but no one has any clear notion yet as to what can be done. Coming reorganization of the Federal Reserve Board may strengthen new credit and banking policies along lines already projected, but no new legislation is now considered possible. The social security program will be expanded next year, or the year following. The AAA crowd has not the slightest notion what it will do if the supreme court throws out the processing tax system, or what the ultimate permanent farm policy will be.

This does not mean that there are not a lot of fragmentary notions fluttering about the inner vacuum. Foremost among these are various plans for heavier high-bracket income taxes, a permanent relief program, etc. Most are considered to be politically unfeasible for the immediate future.

The next move seems to depend on time and tide.

FORGETFULNESS Only people with good memories will recall that President Roosevelt sent letters months ago to Senator Harrison and Chairman Doughton asking them to have their staffs work on NRA reorganization during the recess.

The only staffs they have are the tax experts employed by the joint congressional committee on taxation. This staff appears not to have given a thought to the NRA. In fact, nothing has been done in the way of a study and Doughton will not be back from the Philippines Junket until December 20.

Note—The largest question in congressional circles now is what would happen if the Philippine boat sinks. The vice president, speaker and many influential leaders are aboard. Also there is idle but amusing speculation as to how President Roosevelt would go about holding a special session, for instance, to declare war, with most of his congressional bigwigs in the far east.

PROMOTION Rumors about a $5,000,000 republican campaign fund to beat Mr. Roosevelt are only rumors yet, but the ultimate amount will probably be many times that sum. Republicans are getting real green money now for the first time in five years. Many individuals adversely affected by the New Deal program seem to be eager to contribute, some fixing their contribution at the amount of their current quarter's income tax payment.

The New Deal has monopolized movie publicity for the past three years, but the republicans are also edging into that now. One movie producer is filming a story based on the constitution. Also the G. O. P. headquarters is contemplating a series of shorts, first of which is entitled "Freedom at the Cross Roads."

GOLD The answer to the flight of gold from Europe will come naturally if the European war scare crow is buried soon. Much of the gold may return to its native haunts, because it was not sent here in the payment of debts to any large extent. In effect, we are acting only as a safety deposit vault. The return trip should have no more real economic significance than the trip over.

FOR AND AGAINST The liberal wing in congress is strong for Borah—but not for the presidency. Privately they say they will rally behind him for re-election in Idaho if Postmaster-General Farley tries to hoe him off. Yet they declined to comment publicly on his recent anti-trust platform suggestion, confidentially criticizing it.

This situation seems to apply to Senators Norris, La Follette and others like them.

UMPF The supreme court has a new wrinkle. Two attendants sit flanking the bench of the justices. Whenever anyone falls asleep in the audience, they look at each other, arise, sit quietly beside the culprit and nudge him. The other day a government attorney was listening intently to the business before the court (at least he says he was), but he held his hands over his eyes to help him concentrate. When nudged, he emitted a surprised "Umpf," which momentarily disturbed the dignity of the attendants as well as everyone else.

"Anonymous"
Inadmissible.

During the past week this column has received no less than seven pieces of rhyme which were so good it was cruel to have to omit them. Yet the rule must be observed. Not a one was signed.

Why don't you contributors who can write really good stuff have the courage to sign your names? Then, when it is good, it can be used and you don't know how comforting and how easy it is to conduct a column when other people do the hard work for you. But Mr., Mrs. or Miss Anonymous are definitely out!

This May Help
Some Others, Too.

Indebted to L. B. Sullivan, of 141 Feld avenue, Decatur, for the reprint from an ancient copy of The Constitution reproduced below. Or perhaps I should say Mrs. Sullivan. For Mr. Sullivan, when he gave it to me, said his wife had treasured it for years.

Date of the original publication I don't know, as there is no date line on the clipping. However, on the reverse, is part of a statement by Governor W. S. Taylor, of Kentucky, explaining why he withdrew troops from Frankfort. Maybe that will set the approximate date.

It is a rhymed version of The Lord's Prayer. The old clipping states that it was first printed in 1823, on heavy satin, and was captured during the war at Charleston, S. C. "This copy," it states, "was taken from the original and was picked up by A. P. Green, of Auburn, Ind., in Corinth, Miss., the morning the Confederate forces evacuated it, May 30, 1862." Then follows the poem:

"The Lord's Prayer.

Thou to the Mercy Seat our souls doth gather,
To do our duty unto Thee—
OUR FATHER,
To whom all praise, all honor should be given,
For Thou art the Great God—
WHO ART IN HEAVEN,
Thou, by Thy Wisdom, rul'st the world's wide fame;
Forever, therefore—
HALLOWED BE THY NAME.
Let nevermore delays divide us from Thy glorious grace, but—
THY KINGDOM COME,
But let Thy commands opposed be by none,
But Thy good pleasure and—
THY WILL BE DONE
And let our promptness to obey be even
The very same—
ON EARTH, AS 'TIS IN HEAVEN.
Then, for our souls, O Lord, we also pray,
Thou would'st be pleased to—
GIVE US THIS DAY
The food of life, wherewith our souls are fed,
Sufficient raiment and—
OUR DAILY BREAD,
With every needful thing do Thou relieve us,
And of Thy mercy, pity—
AND FORGIVE US
All our misdeeds, for Him, whom Thou didst please,
To make an offering for—
OUR TRESPASSES
And, forasmuch, O Lord; as we believe
That Thou wilt pardon us—
AS WE FORGIVE
Let that love teach, wherewith Thou dost acquaint us,
To pardon all—
THOSE WHO TRESPASS AGAINST US.
And though, sometimes, Thou find'st we have forgot
This love for Thee, yet help—
AND LEAD US NOT
Through soul or body want, to desolation,
Nor let earth's gain drive us—
INTO TEMPTATION,
Let not the soul of any true believer
Fall in the time of trial—
BUT DELIVER
Yea, save them from the malice of the devil,
And, both in life and death, keep—
US FROM EVIL,
Thus pray we, Lord, for that of Thee, from whom
This may be had—
FOR THINE IS THE KINGDOM,
This world is of Thy work, its wond'rous story
To Thee belongs—
THE POWER, AND THE GLORY,
And all Thy wond'rous works have ended never,
But will remain forever and—
FOREVER,
Thus, we poor creatures would confess again,
And thus would say eternally—
AMEN.

"Light Brigade."

"The Charge of the Light Brigade" was made in 1854.

It lasted less than 5 minutes!

It happened, of course, in the battle of Balaklava (a village in the Crimea), in the war of the Turks, British and French against the Russians.

Alfred Tennyson immortalized it in a poem written as a testimony of British courage, without understanding its import. Actually, it was a citation of official blundering and stupidity which the British army would rather have forgotten.

No order for a charge was given by the general in command; it was made as a result of a misunderstanding, and accomplished nothing.

Not 600, as the poem says, but 673, were sent into the jaws of death. Only 271 came out.

Olympics Issue. On the broad theory, perhaps, that my incisive impersonation of Burns and Allen is something that should not be missed, I have been invited to address the Associated Workers' Clubs, the Youth Division of the American Jewish Congress and the Brooklyn educators on whether or not America should participate in the Olympic games.

Seriously, I don't believe I could contribute anything to these discussions. I frankly don't know whether America should send a team to Berlin or not. I am not yet convinced that a boycott is the proper weapon to use in a fight for a vital social reform. It seems to me that this is fighting hate with hate, and that the ultimate result can only be compound bitterness.

As I have written before, the simple and convenient approach to the problem would be to keep our athletes at home. The implied rebuke to nazi Germany would be obvious and, as many earnest citizens insist, it might be tremendously effective. On the other hand, it might intensify an already dangerous and desperate situation. Plainly there is an element of theory in both viewpoints.

Sherrill's Position. It is obvious that up to now the anti-participants have had the better spokesmen and have fought the better fight. This again may be due to the fact they have a greater store of natural ammunition. And yet I doubt that such spokesmen as Brigadier General Charles H. Sherrill, of the pro-participants, could argue covincingly in favor of the superior virtues of the electric light over the kerosene lamp of the '80s. Every time the military gentleman attempts to defend the cause of the Olympics he makes out a fine case for the worst in Hitlerism.

In the interest of democracy of athletics in general I firmly suggest he be silenced as the spokeman of the American Olympic committee. There is every reason to fear that before long he may propose the elimination of all Jews from the American team in order to avoid any possible embarrassment to the nazis. Such an attitude would not be at variance with his astonishing logic.

Effect of Censorship. The military gentleman also speaks feelingly of the many athletes who aspire to the team and the acuteness of their disappointment in the event America decides not to compete. No doubt a certain amount of disappointment would follow, but that should not necessarily mean the end of the world. Just as many were disappointed in 1916 when the bloody Hohenzollerns stalked the land, yet somehow the young men managed to endure it.

The disappointment would be greater to civilization at large if a mistake were made by not sending the athletes to Berlin and thus striking a vigorous sporting blow for tolerance and common sense. I should like to believe that it is possible in an advanced age to win a social war without answering kind for kind.

All German newspapers are politically edited. The citizenry reads only what the Hitler regime dictates it shall read. Because of this it is argued the absence of the Americans in the Olympics would drive home to the uninformed the gravity of their predicament. Maybe so and maybe not.

It would be very simple, for instance, to persuade an uninformed people, fattening on racial ego, to believe the Americans were too frightened to compete, and just where would that be a help to anyone? Perhaps if our athletes did nothing else in the end but compel respect for their skill, that would be something.

Roosevelt Not Immune. American sports writers will do well to speculate on how much and to what extent they may be permitted to speak out once they have taken their places in the Berlin press box. A censored press will be something new to them. Over here they are accustomed to say what they please about the high and the low.

In this country even the President is not immune from the caustic comments of the press box. You may recall the time Mr. Hoover visited Philadelphia to watch the Athletics and the Cubs interpret a World Series game. This was in the dark days of the depression. (Ah, there Jim Farley!) The fans gave the chief executive the bird, and a very high shrieking bird it was, too.

Some of them even went so far as to inform the gentleman that they wanted, of all things, beer. After the manner of cheer leaders they took up the yell and over the diamond rolled the chorus, "We want beer. We want beer. We want beer."

The strange spectacle was duly chronicled in the sports pages the next day and nobody thought anything about it. Least of all the editors. They knew who started those yells for beer. It was their sports writers.

Talmudic Tales

HER CHOICE.

One day a man and his wife quarrelled in anger and, deciding that they were not properly mated, they called upon Rabbi Simon ben Jochai for a divorce.

After listening attentively to their story he said that, for the sake of appearances, it would be best that they part in a friendly manner rather than in anger.

Accordingly, he suggested that they return home together, prepare a feast and invite all their dearest friends to it and then return to him on the morrow when he would grant the divorce.

They did as the rabbi bade them and many were the friends who came to join them at their feast.

When the man saw numerous mutual friends all about the table and how happy they were among all these good people, he leaned over to his wife, who sat next to him at the head of the table, and whispered:

"Happily have we lived together these many years. We have made many friends. We have borne each other's burdens and shared each other's joys and sorrows. Even though we part now, it will not be in anger, but rather in warmest friendship. As a sign of my affection, I offer thee, as a gift, anything which thou desirest most in the house, no matter how great its value."

The wife smiled in her loveliest manner but said nothing.

The feast was a bountiful one and finally most of the guests, as well as the husband, had succumbed to its influence and fallen asleep at the table.

The wife then had her husband removed to her father's home.

When he awoke, he rubbed his eyes and asked: "Where am I?"

"Rememberest thou not thy promise to me to take that which I liked best in thy house?" she answered. "Well, that is what I did. I realized that it was my own husband that I loved best and desired most and it is thou that I prefer above all else."

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Red-Headed Daughter

BY ROBERT QUILLEN.

My Dear Louise:

When Charles Dickens visited this country, he stood one day on the upper deck of a river boat, observing the tattered immigrants crowded on the deck below, surrounded by their unprotected and unguarded possessions, and marveled that property should be so safe in the midst of such want.

"If these poor do not steal," said he, "how much easier it should be for the prosperous to remain honest."

His astonishment revealed an opinion of the poor that was characteristic of his class and his times. Novelists coined a popular phrase, "poor but honest." Evidently it was generally taken for granted that the poor would steal, and an honest poor man was so rare that his peculiar virtue required special mention.

Times and mental attitudes have changed since that primitive era. Now the honesty of the poor is taken for granted, and it is the well-to-do who make use of the peculiarities of their class to justify petty thieving.

When the supreme court is in session, lawyers who practice before it find their inkwells equipped with old-fashioned feather quills, which are for ornament rather than use. It is necessary to buy these quills by the gross, for the lawyers steal them.

The best hotels of America fix their rates high enough to cover the regular loss of towels and linen stolen by their guests. Even the Gideon Bibles are stolen.

Americans are not the only offenders. When the king and queen of England gave a dinner to diplomats and other big-wigs during their silver jubilee, they were persuaded not to use their solid gold service. It proved a wise precaution. The guests stole silver knives, forks and spoons, a few salt shakers, and even a $250 plate.

Does it mean that all nice people are conscious rogues? No, indeed. They feel honest. They think stealing isn't stealing when it is done by nice people like them.

That is the thing I would warn you against. You will be tempted as others are—not to steal, perhaps, but to do other wrongs. You will feel so decent and honest and respectable and virtuous that anything you wish to do will seem right.

Watch yourself, my dear. Dirt makes a fine silk frock as dirty as it makes a cheap one. Love,

DAD.

HEALTH TALKS

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

A MONOTONOUS SUCCESSION OF BOILS.

One boil or two or three in succession is furunculus, but when it becomes habit we call it furunculosis. In the good old days when doctors had only to pronounce things it was sufficient to explain furunculosis as a matter of run-down condition, lowered resistance or bad blood. Today we have to spell things and it is not so easy to account for successions of boils. But we are still resourceful and if it comes to a pinch we can always subdue curiosity by introducing the word metabolism. Generally that quiets them, all right.

It seems that boils are more likely to occur when there is a deficiency of carbohydrate metabolism, no fooling. That means inability to burn sugar well. If the sugar is not readily oxidized or burned to furnish energy in the body, an excess of sugar accumulates in blood and tissues. This is frequently found in cases of recurring boils. It may be a temporary condition. Again in some instances it is the beginning of diabetes.

Incidentally, we have learned in the past two or three years that an adequate supply of vitamins is essential to maintain normal carbohydrate metabolism or to restore the body's power to burn and utilize sugar when this vital function is impaired. Mind, this is incidental; I am not suggesting that vitamins cure boils, although good authorities have observed undue frequency of boils in the history of patients suffering from lack of vitamins A, C and B and G.

Careless or unskilled handling of Boil No. 1, and transplantation of pusgerms from this to a new site of operation is probably the common cause of Boil No. 2 and so on ad finitum.

One excellent first aid treatment for anything that threatens to become a boil is the immediate application of a thin disc of ordinary toilet soap the size of the thumb nail to the young pimple, and then a strip of adhesive plaster to hold this in place. Soap is an excellent antiseptic. Reminds me of the good old soap and brown sugar treatment grandma used for stone bruises when we were kids in Canandaigua. I don't know whether the sugar added anything to the remedial value of the poultice, but I've never found anything better in materia medica with the possible exception of Old Doc Salve which some of you old-timers may remember.

Speaking of soap, which perhaps I should do, in view of my deplorable attitude toward bath tubs, I wish to go on record as of the opinion that not nearly enough soap is used in this country today, first by the young people for cleansing and beautifying their faces, and second by everybody for washing their hands. In well-regulated households there is rigid rule requiring that the children carefully wash their hands before they come to the table to eat. There is greater need for such a rule for grownups who eat in hotel dining rooms, restaurants, lunch rooms. It is not so much the visible dirt as it is the invisible pollution of the hands that matters, and the best way to remove that is by a thorough washing with plain soap and water—sanitary essentials which some health authorities too readily waive.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Of Cures for Foot Itch No End.

My wife and I have found the use of ——— (a 10 per cent tannic acid paste that comes in collapsible tube) a cure for that prevalent foot condition where tiny blisters form and cause such persistent itching and irritation. . . . (S. B. T.)

Answer—Thank you. There are many cures for ringworm of the foot. Recipes for making one or two are given in monograph on Foot Itch which any reader may have if he sends stamped envelope bearing his address. Additional advice about this and other forms of parasitic infestation in booklet, "Unbidden Guests"—inclose 10 cents coin for copy.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

(Copyright, 1935, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25.—This village has never been faced with a more serious problem than finding a Napoleon who will be convincing to movie audiences. Warner Brothers studio needs three separate Napoleons—or one man can play the three distinct roles which present the Corsican in various ages and in three different pictures.

The asylums are full of Napoleons—or would-be Napoleons—but the acting ranks are shy. Marion Davies' story of Baltimore calls for a Napoleon, but nobody has been found to satisfy the casting director. At one time, Edward G. Robinson was named for a life of Napoleon; later, this announcement was retracted by the studio. Charlie Chaplin always had a yen to do Napoleon. Lionel Atwill once played him on the stage. But Hollywood is still hunting for one that will be more to its liking.

Now, Napoleon comes into "Anthony Adverse"—as indeed who does not? This little three-inch volume provides movieland with an all-time high in cast numbers. And there must be a Napoleon for the "Life of Beethoven."

Another thing: There is a tradition of ill luck befalling those to play Napoleon. Actors are superstitious about it. Atwill can tell you of the series of sinister events which attended his stage presentation of Bonaparte. It's like the curse that hung over the Tutankhamen tomb which the Carnarvon party blamed for a series of tragic episodes.

Anyway, if you know of a Napoleon, and he isn't behind bars, he's got a chance right now.

Other casting difficulties present themselves. They center mostly about "Anthony Adverse." So many people read this book, so many people fell in love with it, that the casting must run very true to Allen's account.

"Fanchez," who is supposed to look like a "very ferocious cat," has, after much worry, been assigned to George Stone, who will be given the correct feline expression by the Westmores, makeup artists of Hollywood.

Claudette Colbert may play the role of Angela, who later becomes a famous opera singer. She would photograph beautifully in this part. Olivia de Haviland has been tested for this role also.

Faith, the housekeeper, a role which begins as a young girl and carries on into middle life, undoubtedly will be given Bette Davis, who loves to play such progressive characters and would be splendid in it.

Three fine actors have been tested for Don Luis, and rejected by the casting office. They are John Barrymore, Lionel Atwill and Basil Rathbone.

Natale Carossio, former stage director of the Metropolitan Opera house, will stage the operatic scenes for "Anthony Adverse." He has been in Hollywood with Lily Pons in her first cinema venture, and he should be able to give great authenticity to these sequences.

Thelma, Lady Furness, brightened the village luncheon hour the other day with her twin sister, the much-discussed Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt. Every eye in the restaurant was fixed on the famous sisters. They were joined by Eddie Kane, William Randolph Hearst and Marion Davies. Everyone was deep in gayety and silver foxes and an excellent time was had by all.

Appropriate Time.

During a pause in the sermon the deacon leaned over and whispered to the minister: "Remember, you were going to say something about the high cost of living."

"I haven't forgotten it," replied the minister. "I'll speak of it after the collection has been taken up."

OFFICIALS ARE NAMED BY SCOTTISH MASONS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The supreme council of 33rd degree, Scottish Rite Masons, southern jurisdiction, today announced election of the Rev. S. Cary Beckwith, of Charleston, S. C., and Dr. Francis Vinsonhaler, of Little Rock, Ark., as active members of the council.

Mr. Beckwith will serve as chaplain of the supreme council, as well as inspector general in South Carolina, while Dr. Vinsonhaler will be inspector general for Arkansas.

At their own request, two members of the supreme council, Sam P. Cochran, of Dallas, Texas, past lieutenant grand commander, and Edward C. Day, of Helena, Mont., past grand prior, were placed on the emeritus roll.

Judge Llewellyn L. Callaway, of Helena, Mont., was named as deputy of the supreme council in that state, and Walter C. Temple, of Dallas, Texas, was named as deputy in Texas. Frank T. Wyman, Boise, Idaho; Albert H. St. John, Jacksonville, Fla., and Chester F. Wright, Lake Worth, Fla., were named as marshals of the camp.

Grand orator, Thomas H. Harkins, Asheville, N. C.; grand master of ceremonies, Albert F. Pray, Minneapolis, Minn.; grand chamberlain, Stanley C. Warner, Denver, Col.; first grand equerry, William S. JAP AND U. S. OFFICERS SETTLE FLAG INCIDENT

TSINGTAO, China, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A friendly settlement of an incident in which two American sailors were alleged to have insulted the Japanese flag was reached today by navy officers of the two nations.

The commander of an American submarine division to which the sailors were attached expressed regret for the incident to a Japanese naval intelligence officer. Then the commander, the Japanese officer and the American consul visited the Japanese consul-general as a token of amicable settlement.

The American commander said the sailors, if found guilty of the charge they tore down Japanese flags from in front of a restaurant, would receive punishment prescribed under American navy regulations. The case was being investigated, he stated.

FIRM RESTRAINED FROM USE OF NAME

National Brands Food Stores, Inc., Is Granted an Injunction.

The National Brands Food Stores, Inc., a Georgia corporation, won a suit yesterday in Fulton superior court to prevent any other company from using and advertising a similar name.

In an injunction plea directed against a firm known as National Brands Stores, Inc., of Athens, Ohio, it was shown that the similarity of names was confusing and that damage was being done the National Brands Food Stores, Inc.

Judge E. D. Thomas ordered that the defendant company cease use of the name of National Brands Stores, Inc., within 20 days and he further issued an order restraining any other company from advertising a name similar to National Brands Food Stores, Inc.

National Brands Food Stores, Inc., was represented by Harold Hirsch, of the firm of Harold Hirsch & Marion Smith.

The company, of which Charles C. Muse is an executive, has stores in many parts of Georgia. It was contended in the petition for injunction that the defendant company's name confused merchants by giving them the impression that the defendant was the National Brands Food Stores, Inc. The word "food" was the only difference in the names, it was pointed out.

The name, National Brands Food Stores, Inc., is protected by all legal means.

BAKER TO PRESENT ATLANTA PROGRAM

'Great American Tourist' To Offer Anna Karonona at 6:30 Sunday Night.

Phil Baker will offer a heart-rending drama entitled "Anna Karonona" or "The Smoke of Moscow" as the feature of the "Atlanta Night" celebration on his "Great American Tourist" broadcast with Beetle and Bottle, the Seven G's and Hal Kemp's orchestra over WGST and the WABC-Columnia network from 6:30 to 7 o'clock tomorrow night, central standard time.

"Anna Karonona" will be based on a new motion picture of almost the same name which stars Greta Garbo. The title role will be taken by Mrs. Sarah Heartburn (Agnes Moorehead), while Baker will play the part of Count Runtsky, her dashing but faithless lover. The setting of this stark tragedy will be Moscow in the day of the czar. Bottle, Angelface and Colonel Kemp also will be cast in this stirring production.

In anticipation of the mythical visit to Atlanta, Baker and his crew have been holding daily sessions with Hal Kemp in order to polish up their southern accents. The colonel, who was born in Alabama and brought up in North Carolina, is well qualified to instruct the comedian and his band of stooges in the correct usage of "Y'all" and other Dixie colloquialisms.

Another special feature of the "Atlanta Night" program will be the staging of a livestock show at which Baker will be heard judging the prize winners.

OLD CLOTHING ASKED BY SALVATION ARMY

Appeal for old clothing to enable needy at the Salvation Army social service center to attend church was made yesterday by Major W. H. Range. Major Range said many men sheltered there would attend Sunday school and services at Atlanta churches if they had "Sunday suits" or overcoats which are servicable but no longer of use to their possessors.

A telephone call to Jackson 2224 will bring a Salvation Army truck to collect any clothing, shoes, hats, furniture, books or waste paper. Major Range will speak at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at the social center services. He expressed the gratitude of the Salvation Army for response to previous appeals.

LLOYD GEORGE FLAYS BALDWIN AND HOARE

CARNARVON, Wales, Oct. 25.—(AP)—David Lloyd George, war-time prime minister of Great Britain, in a spech to his constituents here today singled out Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare, and Home Secretary Sir John Simon as targets for his biting invectives.

In a strong attack on the government. Lloyd George charged that Hoare was "hopelesly outmatched and outmaneuvered by both Premier Mussolini of Italy and Premier Laval of France.

He declared that Baldwin was "much to easy-going, lacking energy and drive as the head of an enterprise in times of difficulty."

CHAMPION STEER SOLD FOR $1.37 PER POUND

KANSA CITY, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Clarence Bradley, 14, of Calhoun, Mo., who last year paid $25 for the 900-pound Angus steer that became junior grand champion of the American Royal Livestock Show this week, today saw the animal bring $1.37 a pound on the auction block.

AUTO IS SIDESWIPED, CRASHES, KILLS MAN

Ted Carson Is Fatally Injured When Car Plunges Down Embankment.

Ted Carson, 25, of 88 Merritts avenue, N. E., was killed instantly yesterday morning when an auto in which he was riding with Charles F. Payne, 23, of 218 Hunter street, S. E., plunged down an embankment on the Marietta highway, several miles north of the Chattahoochee river.

Carson was dead on arrival at Grady hospital. He had suffered a fracture of the skull, fracture of both legs and a broken arm. Payne was not seriously injured. He sustained deep lacerations on the face, hands and legs.

Payne told friends that his car had been sideswiped by a speeding truck and that he had been thrown off a curve in the road. He said that the truck failed to stop.

Carson had returned Thursday to Atlanta from a vacation trip to the home of his parents in Ypsilanti, Mich., and was to have resumed work yesterday morning with the Claude Neon Sign Company, where he had been employed several years.

The two men were returning from Marietta at the time of the accident.

Carson is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carson, and a brother and sister. The body will be taken by Blanchard Brothers to Ypsilanti for services and burial.

Three Atlantans Injured.

Three Atlantans, one an 8-year-old girl, were injured in accidents yesterday.

The girl, Mildred Thomason, of 1422 Allegheny street, ran into the street in front of her home and was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. W. M. Campbell, of 106 Wellington street, S. W. Mrs. Campbell told police she was unable to avoid hitting the child, who was taken to Grady hospital with a broken leg.

J. A. Philan, of 530 Rankin street, suffered scalp lacerations early yesterday when his machine collided with a truck trailer in front of 953 Capitol avenue. The truck driver, R. N. Lacey, escaped injury. Police reported the trailer and light pole were demolished and that two passengers with Philan fled the scene.

Miss Margaret Hindsman, of 491 Lee street, suffered minor injuries early yesterday when a car in which she was a passenger with J. E. Arnold, of 492 Lawton street, was in collision in front of 1217 Spring street. Driver of the other car was W. R. Adams, of Norcross. Shortly thereafter, police reported, the wrecked machines were struck by one driven by R. N. Payne, of 326 East Pace's Ferry road. His car careened off into a parked machine registered to K. A. Nix, of 356 Ponce de Leon avenue, N. E.

ATTACKED BY DOGS, BOY NEAR DEATH

135 Stitches Needed To Close Wounds Inflicted by Canines.

MALDEN, Mass., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Three racing dogs being exercised on leashes today attacked Robert Nelson, 5, and mangled him so severely that 135 stitches had to be taken to close his wounds and his life was endangered.

The boy was playing in the street when the three dogs, being exercised by Thomas F. Darby, suddenly plunged at the lad. Darby said he struggled frantically to pull the dogs off, finally clubbing them from the boy and tying them to a near-by tree. He then ran, carrying the boy to the nearest house, where he collapsed from exhaustion at the door.

The boy was hurried to the Maplewood hospital where attendants adopted emergency measures to save the boy's life. Forty stitches were taken in the child's left arm alone. The dogs inflicted about 40 lacerations on the boy's body.

TEXTILE CHIEF PLEADS FOR GREATER UNITY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A plea for "greater unity of policy and action" in the textile industry was sounded today by Dr. Claudius T. Murchinson, newly elected president of the Cotton Textile Institute.

Dr. Murchison, who will resign as director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce to accept the new post, said the textile industry "ought to be the most stable and profitable in the country."

"The thing most needed is greater unity of policy and action," he said in an interview. "And this can be achieved. Compared to other industries the textile industry has a far more even output from year to year because it produces goods everyone needs."

WOODRUFF IS NAMED BY FRICK COMPANY

The Frick Company, of Waynesboro, Pa., yesterday announced the appointment of A. J. Woodruff as manager of the company's Atlanta branch office.

Woodruff has had long personal contact with Frick engines and is reported to have kept pace with the development of both steam and gas engine development.

The new manager will cover Georgia Florida, as well as parts of Alabama and North Carolina. The Atlanta branch of the company is at 238 Nelson street where both new and used machinery is available.

DOBBS ATTACKS "ISMS" IN SPEECH AT EMORY

"I don't care whether you call it liberalism, communism, or socialism, they all lead to the destruction of the things we hold sacred," declared S. C. Dobbs, Atlanta capitalist, at the Emory University chapel service yesterday morning.

Speaking on his recent trip to England with the Emory debate team, Dobbs pointed out that the English people have a tradition to hold on to, and said that it was this tradition that was holding them together. "They may talk against the government," he said, "but always join together against an outside foe."

CALIFORNIA AIR BASE TRANSFERRED TO ARMY

The army gets Sunnyvale's 1,000 acres, 27 buildings and nine officers' quarters in exchange for 840 acres, 27 buildings and nine officers' quarters at Rockwell Field, San Diego, 240 acres, 116 buildings and 22 officers' quarters on Ford island, Pearl harbor, Hawaii, and 339 acres, 61 buildings and 11 officers' quarters comprising Bolling Field, Washington, D. NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Hustings Judge J. L. Almond Jr. this afternoon sentenced Leon G. Wilmer to 30 years, and Albert C. Etter to 25 years in the state prison for the kidnaping and robbery on August 20 of R. A. Slaone, Norfolk & Western railway employe.

RADICALS STRENGTHEN LAVAL SANCTION STAND

New Reports of Italian Concession Toward Peace Are Unofficial.

PARIS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Tacit approval of France's powerful radical socialist party tonight strengthened Premier Pierre Laval's hand for the application of sanctions against Italy.

While Edouard Herriot, minister of state and former premier, gained this approval for M. Laval's policy, new reports of Italian concessions toward peace negotiations came from unofficial quarters.

Writing in the liberal newspaper L'Oeuvre, Genevieve Tabouis said she had learned from Rome that Mussolini would not consider his Libyan troop withdrawals required reduction of Great Britain's Mediterranean fleet; that Il Duce would undertake to suspend military operations and stop sending troops to Africa pending a British reply to his "suggestions" and that he was willing to have the League of Nations handle these suggestions, should they suit London.

So-called Mussolini suggestions for Italian and international protectorates over Ethiopia have been reported here before, but they were entirely without confirmation and were considered generally unacceptable to either Emperor Haile Selassie or to Great Britain.

Herriot was cheered by his colleagues today when he warned the radical socialists:

"You would take a frightful responsonbility for the future if you discouraged those who tried to make sanctions against all aggressors more rapid."

YOUNG ROOSEVELT IN COURT IN CRASH

Franklin Jr. Is Sued for $1,000 Damage in Accident.

MALDEN, Mass., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the President, took his turn in Malden district court today. He was a defendant in a suit for $1,000 damages based on an automobile accident.

Roosevelt, a student at Harvard University in near-by Cambridge, appeared with his lawyer when court opened at 9 o'clock and waited for three hours while preliminary cases were disposed of. The case involving the President's son was called for trial after luncheon.

A woman judge, Emma Fall Schofield, who has long been prominent in republican politics in Massachusetts, presided over the court.

Young Roosevelt is being sued by Hyman Barlow, of Malden, who alleges that on April 27 he was struck and injured by an automobile driven by Roosevelt in the business section of Boston.

JOHN FRANCIS BUSBEE, CONDUCTOR, DIES HERE

"Top Hat" Proves Hit As Fox Is Reopened

The Fox theater, all burnished for the fall season, couldn't have picked a better picture to present for its reopening.

Better by far than the previous Astaire and Rogers pictures, "Top Hat" can only be described in superlatives. The cast will hold you enthralled from beginning to end. Remarkable in its smoothness, beautiful in its setting, the picture brings to greater stardom the ace of dancing comedians, Fred Astaire, and his lovely partner, Ginger Rogers.

"Top Hat" has more of a story background than their earlier hits and the dialogue is unusually witty and sophisticated. Naturally Astaire and Rogers take the center "spot" for their performance, but the supporting cast handles the background in a surprising manner.

Helen Broderick, not as well known to movie audiences, gives a surprising performance as Horton's resigned wife—and at times comes near to stealing the entire show.

"Top Hat," in other cities has broken all attendance records, and it is hard to see how the Fox will be able to satisfy its patrons with only a one-week showing of the film.

As for the Fox, Lucas & Jenkins have re-opened the magnificent theater to new glory, a proper setting for the presentation of the really great pictures of the year, and from their advance schedule, there will be many there this fall and winter.

Powell Stars in Grand Hit Picture, 'Rendezvous'

It's something like seeing Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" balcony scene done in an evening gown and boiled shirt to watch William Powell, the impeccable, in the army and civilian garb of 1917.

Yet he's still Bill Powell, and the new show at Loew's Grand, "Rendezvous," is Bill Powell through and through. True, he suffers a bit from the absence of Myrna Loy opposite, but it's not Rosalind Russell's fault.

"Thin Man" Powell this time is a lieutenant of the United States artillery who wants to get overseas and do his bit. Unfortunately he whiled away leisure hours as a foreign correspondent doing a book on codes under a nom de plume. Uncle Sam wants the author of that book.

Bill meets Rosalind, the daughter of the assistant secretary of war, who has to do with the army intelligence department. (Secret service to you.) They ignite, and Miss Russell tips off pappy that Powell is the missing author. About to return, he's ordered back to Washington to help fight the war with a pencil.

He cusses and discusses the unfortunate situation in which a red-blooded American is put, and winds up by busting a spy ring. It's a little bit less sophisticated a role than Bill usually occupies, but the witty dialog and amusing heart interest situations are all there.

There's only one Walt Disney, but there are gobs of laughs in the all-color short in which the horse saves the old plantation. A Chic Sale short is also on the program.

Carole Lombard Scores In 'Hands Across Table'

The Paramount has scored a double "scoop" this week with the twin screening of Vina Delmar's smart "Hands Across the Table" and the topical, feature-length picture, "Wings Over Ethiopia." The former stars a young man whose rise to stardom has been meteoric, Fred MacMurray, and Carole Lombard, in a comedy-romance marked by scintillating repartee and a sophisticated humor which is memorably laugh-provoking. The pictorial survey of Emperor Haile Selassie's war-torn kingdom was made just before the conflict with Il Duce assumed serious proportions and while it apparently dwells overmuch upon the quaintness and barbaric customs of some of the backward tribes, it is an entrancing document of a cruel-visaged country and a strange people.

In "Hands Across the Table," Miss Lombard is a money-wise manicurist in an elegant hotel. In love with her is Mr. Maklin (Ralph Bellamy), rich, cultured and crippled, whose hands daily need attention. Determined to marry for hard cash alone, Miss Lombard ardently cultivates the attentions of Tommy Stuffshirt III, who disappointly proves equally penurious and successfully professing the same matrimonial ideals—he being engaged to an heiress.

Our hero dates our lady of the fingernails on the eve of a Bermuda vacation, thoughtfully provided by his prospective father-in-law, but the champagne proves too strong. The next morning he awakens in Carole's parlor and there, through pretty pleading, he remains for the duration of the "tropical sojourn." To tell what happens would be to rob you of a pleasant experience, but the conclusion is thoroughly satisfying.

Also, screened by Manager Reed is a Paramount newsreel. —R. M.

Unusual Film Shown On Screen at Rialto

Jean Arthur has the title role in "The Public Menace," the feature film which opened yesterday at the Rialto theater co-starring George Murphy. The theme provides a waterfront reporter with a yen for romance and mystery.

The romance is unusual in that the leading characters are married right at the start of the picture because the girl wants an American husband in order to pass the immigration officials at New York. However, in this case, marriage merely starts the chain of exciting events.

The direction is well handled and the cast, which also includes Douglass Dumbrille, George McKay, Shirley Gray and Bradley Page brings the events in convincing and thoroughly entertaining manner.

The action takes place on an incoming ocean liner after it is met by the press boat in New York. The real public enemy No. 1, of course, is on board, as are an assortment of racketeers and gangsters, newspapermen and police.

In addition to the feature, there are a number of exceptionally good short subjects to round out an entertaining bill. The show should click with patrons of the newly redecorated theater.

"Gay Deception" Proves To Be Enjoyable Show

There is an entirely enjoyable picture in store for patrons of the Georgia theater this week in the feature film, "The Gay Deception," which opened yesterday, starring Francis Lederer and Frances Dee.

Produced by Jesse Lasky and directed by William Wyler, it is one of those sort of pictures which leave a person in good spirits at its conclusion and throughout its theme it is witty and entertaining.

Frances wins a sweepstakes prize and decided to have her fling in the whirlpool of city gaiety. She has been a secretary all her life. At the swankiest hotel in the city she is mistaken for an heiress and receives all of the flattery to which this identification entitles her.

However, she fails to find the colorful life she had anticipated. Instead, she finds a highly entertaining bellboy in the person of Lederer. He proceeds to criticize her hats and clothes while telling her how lovely she is. She has him discharged several times, only to have him bob right back again.

There is an extremely surprising denouement and, even though it is somewhat improbable, it is highly entertaining. Others featured in the cast include Alan Mowbray, Benita Hume, Akim Tamiroff and Lennox Pawle. —A. C. L.

Georgia Is Given Slight Edge Over Alabama This Afternoon

Alabama's Crimson Tide worked yesterday at Grant field in a final drill before moving on to Athens this morning for the game there this afternoon with Georgia. In the group scene above the squad is listening to a lecture on their defense for today against Georgia's play. In the other picture, left to right, are Paul (Bear) Bryant, injured end who did not work yesterday, but who will play part of the time today; Jim Walker, captain and end, and Coach Frank Thomas.

It was not so long ago that delegates from Alabama to the democratic convention were getting up on their rear legs and chanting, "Alabama casts 24 votes for Underwood."

Yesterday afternoon, before the Alabama team came out on Grant field for their last work before the Georgia game, I met the Messrs. Jap Foreman and Tram Sessions, veteran Alabamians.

They rose solemnly to their feet and said:

"Did you say 24 points?" asked a by-stander.

"Gosh, no," said Jap Foreman. "No points at all. Just votes."

The Crimson Tide people are going over to Athens today with the rather concrete belief that there is enough strength left in the remnants of the Rose Bowl Brigade to beat Georgia's eleven.

They admit they are not as strong as before. They admit they were tied by Howard and beaten by Mississippi State, and that no alibi, save that of injured players, is at hand.

But they believe the team will be on edge for this game. And that it will rise to the heights far enough to halt Georgia and score enough to win.

But there is no inclination to view the game as already won.

MR. THOMAS APPEARS.

Frank Thomas, the head football man at Alabama, appeared with his team.

"How do you feel about the game?" asked an inquiring reporter.

Mr. Thomas, who has heard that same question something more than 10,000 times this week, smiled wanly.

"Well," he said, "only a person trying to misrepresent things would say we are anywhere near as good as last year. You can look at the boys and tell we aren't.

"We'll be in pretty fair shape. The best shape, in fact, we have been in this year. But that means we will start a man who hasn't had a uniform on for two weeks except for playing briefly in the Tennessee game.

"I think Georgia should win the football game because Georgia has more reserves, more speed, more good backs and rates us even in everything else. But naturally I am hoping my boys will play over their heads and win this one. I'd like that to happen anyhow."

"Do you think your boys will be keyed up for the game?"

"Well," said Thomas, with another of those wry smiles, "we have been keyed up twice this year and Georgia hasn't been keyed up at all. It's pretty easy to get a team keyed up once. But three times is a lot of times. I don't know. I hope so."

The Alabama staff radiated determination and hope—but no particles of overconfidence were leaping from them.

The players ran through a rather slow workout. Most of it was consumed in sitting down and listening to a lecture from Coach Thomas.

They slept in our town last night, moving on to Athens this morning.

THE GEORGIA ANGLE.

Georgia hasn't been defeated or tied—Alabama is tied and defeated—and Georgia hasn't yet had to step on the gas to win any one of her four games.

Georgia has more good backs, more speed and a real offense.

On that basis, this reporter has selected Georgia as the winner.

But Georgia coaches point out they have not yet had a game which really tested the team. They do not know if it is any better than it has showed in the four games to date. And if it isn't, they do not believe it can beat Alabama.

They argue further that Alabama began to come back against Tennessee and that as the team reaches its real physical condition, it will become one of the strongest teams in Dixie.

They believe the Howard tie and the defeat by Mississippi State can be charged off to injuries to key men who will be in the game today.

All of which has the Athens officials very, very jittery. But

Ohio State Only Standout Outfit In Nation, Kipke

By Bob Cavagnaro.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—You can take it from Harry Kipke, a football coach who's had good teams and knows one when he sees it, there's only one standout eleven in the country—Ohio State.

He said so today when he weighed in with a squad of 32 University of Michigan players for the intersectional game tomorrow with Columbia. It is the first time an eleven from the Ann Arbor institution has invaded the big town.

"It will surprise me if Ohio State loses a game," said Kikpe. "Francis Schmidt's team is the best balanced in the country and he has more Class A reserve power than any other team. Personally I think the Buckeyes are tops.

"They certainly are as far as the Big Ten conference is concerned and we'll know more about them, nationally speaking, when they meet Notre Dame at Columbus next Saturday. I rate Notre Dame second and Minnesota third. The only other section I know something about is the Pacific coast and they tell me the big team there is the University of California at Los Angeles.

"Unless Navy sets Notre Dame back tomorrow, I think the game between Ohio State and Notre Dame will have a big bearing on the national championship. Elmer Layden has probably the best set of backfield men in the country but the same can't be said for the line. Ohio's line is too rugged and I think the Buckeyes will beat 'em.

"Minnesota is not so good as it was last year. Surely, the Gophers are winning but the bigger tests are still to come."

And how about Michigan?

"Well," said Kipke taking a long breath, "as mid-west teams go we're just about average. We're a slow moving outfit with, perhaps, a little too much weight in the line. (The line averages slightly over 200 pounds). I'd prefer to have a little more speed. But that's not a complaaint—just Kipke is hopeful of victory over the Lions tomorrow but he isn't too optimistic.

"Lou Little is a cagey fellow and he likes to soak crying towels. I vividly recall the morning of the Rose Bowl game two years gao. I thought I was out in the rain when Little almost put his head on my shoulder and wept over the 'beating' that was awaiting his team at the hands of the Stanford Indians."

Mrs. Stewart Wins Piedmont Tourney

Mrs. John Stewart won the annual Piedmont Park Women's president cup tournament with a 6-4 victory over Mrs. W. D. Tumlin, Friday morning at Piedmont park.

Mrs. Stewart, shooting steady golf, was three up at the turn, but played a much better brand of golf on the back nine and closed out the match on the 14th green.

Gainesville Beats Marietta High, 25-6

MARIETTA, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Gainesville High continued its march toward the grid title with a 25-to-6 triumph over Marietta High today.

Gainesville has not lost a game this season but has ben tied by a strong Anderson, S. C., team.

Riverside Reserves Lose to Canton, 21-0

CANTON, Ga., Oct. 25.—Hilton's passing and fine running enabled Canton's Bulldogs to beat Riverside Military Academy reserves, 21 to 0, here this afternoon.

Hilton passed 48 yards to Hamby for one of the touchdowns and a few plays later ran 55 yards for another score. Those were the outstanding plays of the game.

Major Games of Today To Draw 900,000 Fans

Battles Between Unbeaten Teams of Nation Hold Interest; Many Important Games

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Anywhere you happen to look for it there's likely to be trouble, with crowds paying money to see it, along the collegiate football front tomorrow.

Always a turning point, in more ways than one, October's last Saturday of American gridiron warfare holds forth the prospect of brisker weather, bigger upsets and better crowds than for any day this season, yesterday at Grant field.

Reports gathered by the Associated Press tonight indicated close to 900,000 fans will witness 30 of the nation's outstanding college games. This would mark a new "high" for 1935. It also means that the spectacular college sport is sharing the prosperous comeback already felt in the region of the box offices this year by baseball and boxing.

An aggregate turnout of 300,000 is expected for 10 leading games in the east, including a capacity crowd of slightly over 63,000 for the Navy-Notre Dame affair at Baltimore and 50,000 at New Haven for the annual battle between Yale and Army.

The midwest's biggest attendance, 56,000, is forecast for Northwestern's challenge to the powerful Minnesota Gophers at Minneapolis. An aggregate of 125,000 is expected for the four big games listed, with an equal number of customers turning out for a half-dozen additional headline attractions in the central zone.

Five major attfactions on the far western schedule likely will draw over 150,000. Another 150,000 will witness the main conference engagements of the south, including 25,000 at Athens for the Alabama-Georgia game and 20,000 at Chapel Hill for Georgia Tech's tilt with unbeaten North Carolina.

"UNBEATENS" CLASH.

Whether or not the survivors profit from the lessons of outfits which forgot to duck last Saturday, the ranks of major undefeated teams appear certain to get another brisk clipping. There are only about a score of unbeaten "big league" teams left. Half of these may be knocked off tomorrow, aided by the fact that a couple of unbeaten elevens, Mississippi and Marquette, meet at Milwaukee, while two more, Yale and Army, get together in the east.

Among the others lucky to escape unscathed so far, Penn State's streak seems likely to be abruptly ended by Pittsburgh. It will be no surprise if Texas Christian is stopped by Centenary's rugged "Gentlemen" at Shreveport. Washington's unbeaten Huskies, although playing on home grounds, are favored but will be hard-pressed by Stanford. Iowa stakes its clean slate against Illinois in another tightly drawn affair.

INTERSECTIONAL TILT.

This game headlines the week's east-west intersectional business. Michigan's Wolverines, invading New York for the first time, look too big and strong for the Columbia Lions, mangled last week by Pennsylvania. North Carolina State figures to beat Manhattan but not by much.

Down east, while Dartmouth's high-scoring Indians go after Harvard's scalp, with every reason to feel confident of the result, Colgate's Red Raiders are favored to whip Holy Cross before a sellout crowd of 23,000 at Worcester.

Iowa and Illinois headline the Big Ten warfare. The Hawkeyes, with Crayne and Simmons lugging the ball, look to be better fortified on the offense but Professor Bob Zuppke undoubtedly will have the Illini well equipped to cope with this situation.

The best way to handle the southern situation, so far as trying to pick winners is concerned, is to avoid it entirely. No team's record or reputation seems safe in Dixie this season. For that reason Georgia's apprehension in staking its unbeaten record against Alabama tomorrow at Athens is well justified. The Rose Bowl champions, in-and-outers so far, e in a good spot to upset the Bulldogs but they may have another day off. On past performance, it should be Georgia but on a hunch we'll pick Alabama.

Georgia Tech, which toppled Duke last Saturday, doesn't figure to repeat over another unbeaten rival, North Carolina. Elsewhere in the old south, it looks like Louisiana State over Vanderbilt, Maryland over Florida, Tulane over Sewanee and Tennessee over Centre, but keep your fingers crossed. Mississippi State, conqueror of Alabama, steps out against Xavier at Cincinnati on the way to its engagement with Army at West Point the following week.

Ruth Interested In British Offer To Coach Class

NEW YORK, Oct 25.—(UP) Negotiations are under way for Babe Ruth to conduct a baseball school in England and personally select a team of young players to be known as "Babe Ruth's British Boys" for a tour of the United States, his manager, Christy Walsh, announced late today.

Allan J. Eidenow, of the British General Press, who is negotiating for Ruth's services, today cabled Walsh, as follows: "Suggestion of 'Babe Ruth British Boys' has caused sensation. Sport scribes 100 per cent back of us headed by your friend, Trevor Wignall. Many offers financial support. Cable me Babe Ruth option and fee."

Walsh said that if the terms and conditions were sufficiently attractive and did not interfere with his other plans or obligations, Ruth might be willing to accept the British offer.

"The Babe is particularly interested in this offer," said Walsh, "because it would involve the good-will of the American and English people. However, he cannot accept or reject the proposal because up to date no definite proposal has been made."

Druid Hills Wins Over North Fulton

Druid Hills High ran wild to beat North Fulton High, 41 to 7, Friday afternoon on the Druid Hills field.

Peacock's 40-yard run was the outstanding play of the game. Ison and Peck led the scoring for Druid Hills with two touchdowns each. Girtman, Causey and Web also aided the scoring for Druid Hills.

North Fulton scored in the last few minutes of play when Beach intercepted a lateral and ran six yards to a score.

What Rival Coaches Say on Eve of Game

On the eve of the Alabama-Georgia game the rival coaches had this to say:

Harry Mehre, Georgia—"I think our boys are prepared. I believe in them. I don't know how good they are, but Saturday seems as good a day as any to find out. I think we will play our very best. If that is enough to win it will be great. And I expect the best out of them."

Frank Thomas, Alabama—"Our boys are in better shape than they have been this year, but that means some of them will play in a crippled condition. We have been keyed up twice and have lost once and tied once. If they can play their best game I think we may win. It all depends on their physical condition. But this year I think Georgia has an edge. It is up to us to overcome that."

The game begins at 3 o'clock Atlanta time, which is 2 o'clock in Athens, E. S. T. Tickets go at $2.50 each. All are reserved. All are good seats.

Anderson Warns The East About Teams of Dixie

By Eddie Brietz.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Maybe the east and west will be interested to learn that what they've suspected for some time is true: the south is on the football march again.

The authority is Heartly W. (Hunk) Anderson, who used to whip those fast-charging, hard-hitting Notre Dame lines into shape for Knute Rockne and who now heads a new football deal at North Carolina State.

Anderson brought his Wolfpack to town today for tomorrow's battle with Manhattan at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, and promptly served notice that the middle west, long the seat of the country's hardest football, had better look to its laurels.

"I thought I knew something about rough and ready football," clipped off Mr. Anderson, trying hard to roll his R's, "but I must admit both my eyes have been opened wide by the brand they dish out down in our country.

GEORGIA GAME.

"You should have seen that game we played Georgia last week. That was a skull-popping, knock-down, drag-out exhibition. Two powerful lines stood almost face to face and fought it out for 60 minutes.

"Berlinski and Robinson, my best backs, were knocked out in the first quarter and couldn't even limp back. If we'd had them all afternoon we might have won, for our line was as tough as theirs. I have seldom seen a harder hitting line than Georgia's.

"The south always did have the best backs and now they're going after big, powerful, linemen. They get a few from among the mountain lads, but they're beginning to import them.

"You can take the two best teams out of the Southern and Southeastern conferences and they'll break even or better in any league in the country. Southern football is coming fast. The Rose Bowl record shows that."

NORTHERN SOUTHERNERS.

Anderson's Wolfpack is about as southern as Notre Dame is Irish. Of the 31 men brought to New York, New York and Ohio contributed six each, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania five each and Wisconsin and Idaho, one each. The other seven are bona fide southerners.

"And," added Hunk, "I'd have had one from Montana if he hadn't broken an ankle in the spring.

"How do I get them? Well, since I've been at State I've ridden 20,000 miles in a flivver looking for football players. I've got 'em. They're looking good as sophomores, but I can hardly wait until next year."

The prize of the lot is Eddie Berlinski, former Bloomfield (N. J.) high school ace, who was ticketed for Manhattan until a flivver drove up and Mr. Anderson popped out. "Cowboy" Robinson, the Idaho delegate, is almost as good. He's faster than Berlinski, but doesn't get loose so often.

Weyman Jones Wins Bobby Jones Event

Weyman Jones, one of the city's outstanding municipal golfers, won the Bobby Jones municipal invitation championship with a 6-5 victory over J. P. Osborne Friday in the finals of the annual tourney.

The tournament has extended over a period of several weeks, and was sponsored by Billy Wilson, the Bobby Jones professional.

The winter greens at Bobby Jones course were opened Friday and the finals of the invitation tournament were played over the new grass.

John White Golfers To Open Qualifying.

John A. White municipal golfers will complete qualifying rounds today and Sunday for the annual invitation tournament.

Every municipal golfer in the city is eligible and invited to participate.

R. M. Hubert, the club professional, is sponsoring the tourney.

OLYMPIC SITE?

Finland has embarked on a determined campaign to secure the 1940 Olympic games. A tour of European countries, to gain support of Finland's bid for the game, is to made by Lieutenant Colonel K. E. Levaelahti, chairman of the Finnish Olympic committee, and Ernest Krogius, Finland's representative on the international Olympic committee.

Bulldogs Are Given Slight Edge Over Tide

By Ralph McGill.

Georgia's rugged football phalanx will engage the Crimson eleven from Alabama this afternoon on Sanford field at Athens in a game which holds the attention of all the states south of the Smith and Wesson line.

It happens to be the game of the day. And it happens that the odds are considered practically even with a slight edge accorded Georgia because of the surplus of fleet and experienced backfield men.

The game will begin at 3 o'clock Athens time, which is 2 o'clock in Atlanta. Both coaches pronounced their best lineups available.

Alabama's squad, badly crippled in the early season, is in its best condition of the year, but still far from physical perfection.

"I think the game may be decided in the last quarter," said Frank Thomas, head coach at Alabama, as he watched his team work in Atlanta

"If our cripples can hold out for the full four quarters we have a chance to win."

Paul (Bear) Bryant, regular end, who played against Tennessee with a cracked fibula in his right leg, did not don a uniform yesterday. He may start. He will see service for a part of the game.

TIDE COMING.

At Georgia the general opinion is that Alabama started on the way back with the Tennessee game and will be too strong for the Bulldogs of Athens. The Alabama attitude is that the team is not nearly as strong as the one which won the national title in 1934, is not in the best of shape and must be a second choice at best.

It is impossible to establish Georgia, undefeated and untied, as an underdog against a team which has been defeated and tied, yet the game manages to assume practically even proportions.

Around the football circles there was an inclination to rate Georgia as a slight favorite because of the fact Georgia has reserves, especially in the backfield, and Alabama has relatively few.

AROUND RILEY SMITH.

Alabama is built around Riley Smith, the quarterback. When he was out in past games, the Crimson Tide did not roll along with any speed or power. Georgia, with three quarterbacks, is not dependent on any one, using Andy Roddenberry or Charley Treadaway with equal success.

But this happens to be one game which may go either way with surprising swiftness. Both teams have an offense. Should it happen that one line should get the jump on the other and outcharge it throughout the game, a score of rather large proportions would result.

The writer likes Georgia's chances to win because of the superior reserves, and the fact that this game should find Georgia facing her greatest hurdle and her greatest chance, with a team which will be playing the greatest game that human frames and human emotions can produce. Such a game will win.

THOMAS HOPES.

Frank Thomas, head coach, said he did not see how his team could win, but hoped it would get together and produce enough power to outscore the Bulldogs.

At Athens, Harry Mehre declared he believed the Alabama eleven too powerful for his team.

As a matter of fact, both coaches are somewhat in the dark. Alabama has gone haywire twice. The team hasn't yet layed a really good game.

Georgia hasn't had to force its offensive to anything approaching the limit. The consequence is that neither head coach knows what his team can really do.

They will learn this afternoon in a game which should be one of the greatest and most spectacular games of the entire season.

GEORGIA'S CHANCE.

Georgia has a chance to move on unbeaten and untied, to become one of the outstanding teams in the south in this, the first Southeastern Conference game. Alabama has a chance to swing back toward the top of the heap with a convincing victory.

Indications are 20,000, or more, will be packed in Sanford field today to witness the game.

RUSSELL BEATS DECATUR, 12-6

By Tom Kinney.

A fumbled lateral on the Russell 20-yard line late in the fourth period killed all hopes of Decatur High school gaining a tie with Russell, a team that fought hard to win a rugged battle, 12-6, Friday afternoon on the Russell field.

Connley, Russell's little center, blocked a Decatur punt behind his own goal line and his teammate, Captain "Speedy" Harrison, recovered for the first touchdown of the game, which was only 10 minutes old at the time.

A short bullet forward pass from Brown to Kadel was good for another Russell score, early in the second quarter. Kadel received the ball on the Decatur 45 and eluded two tacklers to step across the goal line.

Just before the half Decatur put on a drive from mid-field and came within two yards of scoring. Cavan, on a fake pass, raced 25 yards before he was downed by three Russell players. Cavan was out cold but a dash of water brought him around and he scored two plays later on a buck through the Russell line.

This Russell goal-line stand was equally as thrilling as the one put one put on by the fighting Decatur eleven late in the third stanza, when they held Russell for four downs, giving the losers the ball on the two-inch line. Here Decatur pulled a foxy play. Erwin, faking a kick, broke off tackle for 35 yards.

Some 2,000 fans saw these two clubs battle on almost even terms for an entire game. It was a game of forward passes and laterals.

The victory was the first Russell has scored over the Decatur boys in three years. The DeKalbers won in the mud last year, 6-0.

Hide-Out Play Beat Tide in '95

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP) This happened when Alabama and Georgia played the first game of their ancient series in Birmingham in 1895.

The score was tied. Georgia took time out. Before the Alabama players could gather their wits, Georgia resumed play.

The halfback had gone to the bench, put on a vest and jacket and returned to the field as the ball was snapped. Georgia won the game, 36 to 6.

It was the old hide-out play that pops up now and then.

GANTT BLOCKS A KICK, TIGERS RACE TO SCORE

Hamp Williams Goes for Touchdown; Devils Outplayed.

By Jack Troy.

DUKE STADIUM, DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 25.—There is an old proverb which may be Chinese to some people, but is a known truth to circus folks and such, that a sledge swung with proper power and direction will drive any stob into the ground.

Frank Gantt, Auburn left guard, was the sledge that Auburn swung at Duke, and Hamp Williams, left end, supplied the power and direction as the valiant Plainsmen from the loveliest village turned back a desperate Duke team this afternoon, 7 to 0, in the final game of the series.

Today's victory, which Auburn deserved from all standpoints of play, squared the series at 2-all as the teams ended gridiron relations.

The first quarter of the game this afternoon was almost over. Exchange of kicks had marked this period. Ace Parker, ace back of the Duke Blue Devils, was back to kick.

BLOCK PARKER'S KICK.

As Parker swung his toe into the ball, Frank Gantt charged in and blocked the kick with his chest, as the ball bounded off to the side, Hamp Williams took it with his right hand on the 18-yard line. The ball was in play on the Duke 33.

He sped along, holding the ball in that mighty mailed fist. Parker was the only man between him and the goal line. And, as if he hadn't already accomplished enough, Gantt was there to put on the block that mowed down Parker and enabled Williams to cross the goal line standing up.

The blocked punt and the resultant score that gave Auburn the game's only touchdown was a masterpiece of execution. No finer piece of work will be seen in the south this year. Or, for that matter, for many years to come.

And it carried far more significance than simply another great victory for Auburn's up-and-coming Tigers. For today's loss was Duke's first since 1931 in the stadium here.

CROWD OF 7,000.

There were some 7,000 supporters in the stadium, and they seemed to sense from then on that Duke was not up to matching the hard-driving play of the orange-and-blue-clad huskies from little Auburn, Ala.

To say that Jack Meagher, the old Marine, has landed at Auburn, is putting it much to mildly. Today's victory was Auburn's fourth of the season. Tennessee defeated the Plainsmen by a scant touchdown. And so, by virtue of two great victories in a row, that over Kentucky and today's over Duke, Auburn is established as a leading Southeastern Conference threat.

Auburn put on many stirring drives after gaining that seven-point margin, but invariably a fumble reared its ugly head and ruined it all.

For instance, Jimmie Fenton swept wide around left end in the second period, evaded tacklers and sprinted 65 yards before he was tackled by West, Duke end, who caused him to fumble.

SCARBOROUGH RECOVERS.

Sidney Scarborough, the Atlanta boy and Auburn quarter, recovered at the Duke 24. There was another fumble on the next play. O'Rourke plunged into the line, dropped the ball and Clark, in for Smith, recovered for Duke.

And there was another drive a bit later in the same period of 61 yards. Auburn got started on its own 23. Fenton personally made a first down and Joe Bob Mitchell plunged for another. Mitchell was hurt and Billy Hitchcock, brother of Jimmy, came into the game and helped the drive along. He plunged for two and then 13 yards. And Fenton coincidentally plunged for two and then 13 yards. Here were 30 yards in just four plays and Auburn was going strong.

Auburn was penalized five, but Hithcock was good for yardage. Then there was a pass from Hitchcock to McKissick. McKissick fumbled and McCaskill recovered at the Duke 25. It was a tragic ending to a great drive.

BEGINS AT MIDFIELD.

The other Auburn drive began at midfield in the third period. Fenton and Mitchell gained consistently. But on a 14-yard burst off right tackle, Mitchell fumbled and Jack Hennemier, center, recovered for Duke at the 22-yard line.

And so the game went. The Duke attack broke down early. And only on passes did the Blue Devils show real gains.

Ace Parker and Jule Ward presented a jewel of a pass attack. They completed two beauties, one for a gain of 35 yards. But Auburn was there in the pinch.

The Auburn line really won the ball game today. Duke never got closer than the 22-yard line. Auburn took advantage of what seemed to be inferior end play on the part of the Blue Devils and swept wide for fine gains all afternoon.

GILBERT GREAT.

Walter Gilbert was great at center for Auburn. Williams, Morris, Eaves and McKissick were four fine ends, working alternately. Gantt and McCroskey were fine guards. Paterson and McCroskey were standouts at tackle.

Fenton carried the ball five times and gained 89 yards. Hitchcock carried it 18 times and gained 63 yards. O'Rourke was the other chief gainer for Auburn.

Ace Parker led the Duke attack with a gain of 80 yards on 20 attempts. He is a fine back, is Parker. West and Hennemier, a Savannah, Ga., boy, were best in the Duke line. As for the statistics, they went as follows: Duke made 11 first downs to Auburn's 8. Duke gained 208 yards against Auburn's 240 by rushing, but the Blue Devils added 98 yards by passing to Auburn's 12, making the total gains 306 for Duke and 252 for Auburn. However, Duke attempted 17 passes, completing three while Auburn attempted only two and completed one of them. The Plainsmen also intercepted one of Duke's heaves.

Parker had a punting average of almost 41 yards, while Mitchell and Hitchcock booted the ball for an average of 36 1-2 yards. Duke punted nine times, Auburn 14.

Both teams frequently were offside, a total of 15 penalties being called. Five were on Duke and 10 on Auburn. Coach Wallace Wade praised the great play of the Auburn line.

The Tigers now turn to what is considered one of the greatest tests of the season. They play L. S. U.'s unbeaten conference eleven next Saturday at Baton Rouge.

The team which gets the jump and holds it might win this game by two or three touchdowns.

Coming up with the answer is just another chapter in the guessing games which each Saturday has provided to date.

But I like Georgia—they have everything to win and not much to lose. They should enter the game like so many human catapults and stay that way for 60 minutes.

If they do, they'll win.

AUBURN AND TECH.

Auburn won a great victory yesterday, beating Duke, 7 to 0. It has been many a moon since Wallace Wade took two such defeats in succession.

The Auburn victory, which shoves the Plainsmen even more toward the center of the spotlight, further scrambles the situation.

The current mystery now is just how to explain how Auburn lost to Tennessee, a team which has been kicked around very vigorously by North Carolina and Alabama.

The net result, of course, is to make the Tarheels and Alabama look quite strong. Because Auburn has won from Kentucky, 25 to 0, and from Duke, 7 to 0. Also from Tulane.

Yet, Tennessee won from Auburn—and then lost by four touchdowns to the Alabama eleven.

There seems to be no established values for the present season. It is a wild, cock-eyed parade.

Tech has another of those forlorn hopes today against North Carolina. The mother of one of the Tech boys, signing herself "The Ma of One of the Forlorn Hopes," thinks it is lucky to give the Jackets only this hope. Certainly they have been a gallant and courageous crew. And it is quite possible they will sweep to victory. Yet, the odds are against them rather heavy. But it so happens the odds on all games to date have not been worth the breath employed in quoting them. Or the ink used in writing them down.

Red Barron's Aggies Crush Smithies, 39-0

By Roy White.

Red Barron's Monroe Aggies broke a 14-year jinx and gave Tech High its worst beating of the past 20 years with a 39-to-0 victory over the Smithies Friday night at Ponce de Leon park.

Not since the 1921 season, when Monroe won, 13 to 6, has a Monroe team won over Tech High and not since the 1932 season has Barron's team triumphed over an Atlanta eleven.

And it was one of Monroe's greatest teams which broke both the Tech High and the Atlanta jinx Friday night.

Monroe started the scoring with a touchdown in the first quarter and it was not until the fourth quarter when a majority of the reserves were in the game that Munroe was stopped with any consistency.

There were more long runs than in any prep game this year, with Monroe's fast backs stepping high, wide and handsome. They ran rings around Tech High's secondary. Long runs were not the only means of Monroe's scoring, for several long passes helped pave the touchdown roads.

NEW OFFENSE FAILS.

Tech High's much talked-of new offense failed to get going and as a result the Smithies made only eight first downs and a majority of these came when the Monroe reserves were in the game. Tech High never really threatened to score and the Smithies' laterals were very poorly handled, several resulting in recovered fumbles for Monroe.

Robert Beers, of Newnan, was the hero for Monroe if any single player could be singled out. Beers scored three of the seven touchdowns and played a great defensive game. Beers started the scoring soon after the game opened with a 36-yard dash from Monroe's 9-yard line and followed with a 55-yard touchdown sprint.

In the second quarter, Kite, a substitute back, passed 24 yards to Mock for another score. Kite a few plays before the touchdown pased 15 yards to Mock to aid the drive.

Wingate, another substitute back, gave Monroe its third touchdown with a 60-yard sprint a few plays before the half ended. The Aggie team blocked well on both the touchdown runs.

MORE SCORING.

Leading, 19 to 0, at the half, Monroe came back for more and to further avenge some former defeats.

The third quarter had just started when Kite passed 51 yards to Beers for another touchdown. Beers followed a few plays later with another 56-yard touchdown run, behind some fine blocking.

The final Monroe touchdown came late in the third quarter after a 62-yard drive. Kite passed to Beers for 20 and 22 yards on two long and Cavett followed with a short buck through the Tech High line for the touchdown.

And with the score 39 to 0, every reserve on the Monroe bench was given a chance at some action and they kept up the good defensive work and held Tech High.

Darlington Wins Home-Coming Game

ROME, Ga., Oct. 25.—Darlington school celebrated its annual home-coming festival here tonight by administering a 34-0 defeat to a game, but out-classed eleven from Battle Ground Academy of Franklin, Tenn.

Battle Ground received the opening kick-off and Buckley ran it back to the Darlington 8-yard line. Four tries failed to bring a score for the visitors and from that point on Darlington scored practically at will.

For the local team, the running of Atkinson was the feature of the game. This small, elusive back accounted for three of Darlington's scores, one of them on an 81yard run back of the opening kick-off of the second half. The play of McDonald at tackle and Crawford's and McColl's line plunging for Darlington were excellent.

Helen Jacobs Sails, And 'Hopes for Best'

QUEBEC, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Helen Jacobs, four times winner of the American tennis championship, sailed for England today in the liner Empress of Britain.

Miss Jacobs plans to spend the winter in England, engaging in some literary work, and she may visit Sweden.

The tennis star said she believed she had a good chance of winning at Wimbledon next year and "hopes for the best" when the time arrives to defend the American title next September.

FIRST APPEARANCE.

Alabama Poly football players seeing action for the first time this season in the game with Kentucky were Fred Black, center; Norman Whitten, quarterback, and Walter Heath, fullback. All showed to advantage and probably will be used in a majority of the six games remaining on Auburn's 1935 schedule.

GLOVER LEADS DOUGLASVILLE TO 40-0 VICTORY

Tigers Rout Rockmart in Feature of Home-Coming Day Program.

By Morris Siegel.

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga., Oct. 25.—The lateral pass which is used by grid machines from Maine to California has even penetrated the progressive rural districts of Georgia, as exhibited here today when the Douglasville High Tigers routed the Rockmart eleven, 40-0, in the feature attraction of the Douglasville High homecoming program.

The Tigers repulsed every attack that the invading Rockmart team had to offer, and then completely baffled the visitors with an aerial attack, using laterals extensively to push across six touchdowns.

Little Melvin Glover was the biggest thorn in the visitors' path, having a hand in every score that Douglasville made. Early in the second period, the Tigers started from their 29-yard line. Glover passed to Billy Estes, who ran to midfield, and then lateraled to Baggett, who raced the remaining distance for the first score. Glover then passed to Estes for the extra point.

Another lateral in the second period, Glover to Baggett to Estes, resulted in another score. Then to start the third quarter off right, Glover again tossed a pass to Gene Denson, who in turn lateraled to Talmadge Wood for still another score. A blocked punt in the third period resulted in the fourth touchdown, and the Tigers were leading, 27-0, as the period closed.

SCORING SPREE.

The Tigers continued their scoring spree in the final quarter when the scintillating Glover, aided by a flock of reserves, pushed across two more markers to bring the final score to 40-0.

Billy Estes, Douglasville left end, also comes in for praise, being on the receiving end of two touchdown passes and two extra points. Ed White was outstanding for the losers, being their only consistent ground-gainer. Rockmart possessed a unique shift after coming from the huddle, the players marking time with military-like precision. But outside of this, they offered little in the way of football opposition for the Tigers of Douglasville.

It was a big day for the Douglasville citizenry. The townspeople had previously witnessed the official ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Douglasville High school. Colonel L. M. Merritt, chairman of the bond commission, was master of ceremonies and Oscar Boatwright, chairman of the Douglas County Board of Education, dug the showel into the ground that is to be next year covered by the new high school. Others participating in the ceremony were W. R. Thompson, superintendent of the county school board, and E. R. Harris, principal of the high school. Congressman M. C. Tarver, of the seventh district, made the main political address.

Immediately preceding the ceremonies a real old-fashioned "Gene Talmadge" barbecue was served, much to the enjoyment of the visiting scribes.

HILL ATTENDS.

Among spectators at the game was Johnny Hill, star Cracker third baseman and also Douglasville's favorite son, and Frank Anderson, Oglethorpe athletic director, who graduated from Douglasville High school, and "Fat" Elrod.

Those registering for the home-coming ceremonies, which were very efficiently handled by Miss Mary Hays, included: Rosalind Hays, Willard Gilley, Carolyn Geer, Helen Strickland, Martha Mosley, Sara McKay, Mary Webb, Sara Brown, Margaret Stwell, Mrs. Guy Baggett, Grady King, Rager Stewart, Mrs. Gladice Perkerson, Miss Eetoile Banks, Mrs. Iva Johnston, Fayne Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. F. Monroe High Wins Over Winder, 38-6

MONROE, Ga., Oct. 25.—Monroe High ran roughshod over the Winder eleven here this afternoon, winning a one-sided game, 38-6. Kelley, quarterback of the Monroe High team, led the attack, scoring four touchdowns. He also kicked two points after. Waites, end, scored twice, and Anderson, fullback, scored one touchdown. Winder was completely outclassed all afternoon.

Miami Girl Sets New Swim Record

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Oct. 25.—(UP)—Swimming the 100-yard freestyle in one minute six seconds, 18-year-old Jane Burr, of Miami, clipped two seconds from the eastern seaboard long course record today.

Her record-breaking performance was equalled when Ralph Flannigan reduced the 880-yard free-style record by seconds. Flannigan, record-holder for national middle distance events, swam the 880 in 10:38.8 for a new Atlantic seaboard mark.

JACKETS READY FOR TARHEEL CLASH TODAY

Brittain Replaces Nixon at Guard; Eubanks Will Start.

By Jack Troy.

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 25.—There is absolutely no fear being expressed up here concerning North Carolina's chances tomorrow afternoon in the south's outstanding interconferenc battle with the surprising Jackets of Georgia Tech over at Chapel Hill, 12 miles away.

Supporters offering anywhere from a two-to-three touchdown margin, are also willing to wager that Tech will not score on Coach Carl Snavely's rugged Tarheels.

North Carolina is, of course, undefeated. And the belief is that Tech's victory over Duke has no bearing whatsoever on tomorrow's contest which will get under way at 1:30 o'clock Atlanta time, in Kenan stadium. The reason is that the Tarheels are conceded to have a stronger, harder charging line than Duke. And in both Jackson and Dick Buck, triple threat back and pass-catching end, the Old North State claims one of the finest forward pass receiving combinations in the country.

John Trimpey, regular left tackle of the Tarheels, may not start tomorrow because of an injury. But in his place will be a sophomore, Henry Bartos, who is held equally as good as Trimpey. Jim Hutchins, the 18-year-old battering ram of a fullback who did not see much action against Davidson because of an injury, will be ready to turn loose at full blast against Tech. At that, Hutchins was able to get in the Davidson game long enough to score a touchdown, so he must not be feeling so very, very bad. Coach W. A. Alexander will have one change in the team that beat Duke. Instead of Jack Nixon, sophomore, starting at right guard, Fulton Brittain, a senior, will get the call. Thus Brittain will be the only senior in the Jacket lineup. The seven sophomores and three juniors will carry on against North Carolina, and how they plan to carry on!

NO TECH INJURIES.

The Jackets are in fine fettle for this game. There are no injuries, really. Only John Wilcox is out and such is the improvement of his knee injury even he could play if it were absolutely necessary.

The Tech players feel that North Carolina can't beat them. The Duke victory was a real tonic. The boys do not feel that they are so awfully good, but they do believe they can hold their own with anything the Old North State can offer. And so the old ball game may be very close.

But the edge must naturally go to North Carolina. Tech is the underdog again. And it is a role the Jackets play surprisingly well. Both teams will be on the lookout for plenty of passes.

North Carolina has a vaunted aerial attack. That Tarheel passing combination of Jackson to Buck, has clicked in six out of seven tries this season.

Tech, too, has a pretty fair aerial attack, both on forwards and laterals, and so the game may well develop into an aerial battle. Much will depend on the performance of the Tech line tomorrow. The Jackets simply must charge from first whistle to last, if one would listen to North Carolina supporters, or else the Tarheels will shove them off the field. That Tech line will include Morgan and Jordan, ends; Captain Eubanks and Chance, tackles; Fitzsimmons and Brittain, guards; Preston, center.

Coach Alex was hopeful that he would be able to start the same line that performed so well against Duke, but at today's practice over at Chapel Hill it was obvious that Bud Lindsay, having a shoulder injury, is not ready. So Alexander decided to shift Phil Chance to left tackle and start Captain Lefty Eubanks, who was out of the Duke game with an injury, at right tackle.

DANIEL TERROR.

Also if one listens to talk, Charles Preston is a babe in the woods compared with North Carolina's center, Babe Daniel. All this remains to be seen. The Tech backfield will line up with Fletcher Sims at quarter, Scrappy Edwards and Dutch Konemann at halfbacks, and Harry Appleby at fullback. Captain Bob "Lefty" Eubanks is ready to go at right tackle and Alternate-Captain Hoot Gibson is raring to get back in there at right end. And in the backfield, Dick Beard would like a chance to back up the line, Billy Street hopes he can get a chance to do some plunging and Lawrence Hays and Jimmy Moore crave to do some stepping.

The Jackets are ready. They spent a quiet evening here in Durham, home of Duke, just 12 miles removed from the scene of battle which is Chapel Hill and Kenan stadium. The team will go over to Chapel Hill by busses early tomorrow.

Lighting Equipment For Poets, Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Lighting equipment for the Savannah municipal stadium has been ordered and present plans are to inaugurate the floodlight sports era here on Friday, November 1, with a football game between Lanier High of Macon and Savannah High.

The Savannah High and Benedictine alumni associations are sponsoring the project which has received support of the city and the power plant.

Hartwell Defeats Elberton High, 7-6

ELBERTON, Ga., Oct. 25.—Hartwell won a hard-fought game from Elberton, 7 to 6. Hartwell scored in the second quarter and Elberton in the last. The Elberton line outcharged the Hartwell line and first downs were about two to one in favor of Elberton.

The play of Power Butler, Steadman and Roberts for Elberton was outstanding. The loss of Bobby Brown, stellar right end, by a broken arm on the first play of the game was costly to Elberton.

Oglethorpe Meets Erskine Here Today

Oglethorpe's Petrels limped in Friday afternoon from a week of hard work for the Erskine tilt at Hermance stadium this afternoon with injuries to three key men. The game starts at 2 o'clock.

Coach Patrick has put his team through the grinds this week and states that, although three men are injured, he expects to put a fighting team on the field. The Petrels are hoping to chalk up their first 1935 victory. This Erskine team happens to be the last eleven that Oglethorpe beat back in 1934, and with three defeats chalked up against them already this season, the squad as a whole are pointing for victory today.

The crippled list has not diminished, but there is a possibility that Captain McNamara and Hank Freeman may be able to play at least part of the game. Byers' shoulder injury is slowly improving, but not enough for him to get in the fray with Erskine.

The game is billed as home-coming for Oglethorpe and the campus as a whole will be turned into "open house" for the occasion. Dances and tea parties will feature the entertainment after the game.

Oglethorpe's lineup has been announced as follows:

MERCER FACES FURMAN TODAY

GREENVILLE, S. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Furman and Mercer, perennial football rivals, were regarded tonight in speculation to be about on a par for their game here tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Lake Russell, however, figured his Mercer Bears had only an outside chance to defeat a team with the powerful line that Furman possesses.

Coach Dizzy McLeod said he was satisfied with Furman's defense but figures that the Georgians probably had a slight advantage on offensive power.

Each squad was reported to be in fair condition. The Bears arrived by bus this afternoon in time to limber up in a snappy signal drill.

The probable lineups:

MERCER	Pos	FURMAN
Hempel	L.E.	Stevens
Tyson	L.T.	Dorn
Williamson	L.G.	Shivers
Gilbert	C.	Borders
Dodd	R.G.	Burrell
Edge	R.T.	McCarson
Rosich	R.E.	King
Bloodworth	Q.B.	Blair
Thomas	H.B.	Rohr
Allen	H.B.	Scott
Porter	F.B.	Griffin

Officials: Referee McDonough (Georgia Tech); umpire, Mumma (Army); headlinesman, Phillips (Georgia Tech); field judge, Bagley (Sewanee).

Louis Is Not Likely To Fight in Miami

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Mike Jacobs, Madison Square Garden's new boxing promoter, may stage a boxing show in Miami this winter but there is little likelihood that Joe Louis will be one of the participants.

Walter St. Denis, associate of Jacobs, said tonight that should such a bout be staged "a couple of the little fellows would be matched." He said there was a possibility of enticing Barney Ross into such a bout.

Richmond Academy Beats Savannah, 7-0

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Musketeers of Richmond Academy today proved themselves strong contenders for the G. I. A. A. title by winning their third consecutive association game when they defeated the Blue Jackets from Savannah, 7 to 0.

The Purple and Gold aggregation uncorked a barrage of laterals and forward passes at the start of the fourth quarter which completely bewildered the Savannahians and which defeated them when Tom Baker rifled a pass into the arms of Curtis Nelson which was good for 11 yards and a touchdown. Captain Mutt Bearden kicked for the extra point.

Richmond now has defeated Lanier, G. M. A. and Savannah and only must down Benedictine and Commercial High to make a claim to the G. I. A. A. title.

Newnan and Fulton Battle to 0-to-0 Tie

NEWNAN, Ga., Oct. 25.—Newnan and Fulton High, of Atlanta, played to a scoreless tie here this afternoon. Newnan outplayed the Atlanta boys but were unable to score due to costly fumbles when close to the Fulton goal line.

Madison High Wins Over Washington, 24-7

WASHINGTON, Ga., Oct. 25.—Madison High defeated Washington High, 24 to 7, today in one of the hardest fought games of the season.

Cairo High Beats Carabelle High, 28-6

CAIRO, Ga., Oct. 25.—The Cairo High eleven turned back the Carrabelle (Fla.) gridders in a free-passing game here this afternoon, 28 to 6.

The Floridans atttempted 15 forward passes and completed 7, as 3 were intercepted.

Florida Coach Showdown Today

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Oct. 25.—(AP) Persistent reports tonight said the University of Florida graduate football coaching staff would be a center of debate at the annual home-coming alumni meeting tomorrow.

Some old grads here for the university's yearly celebration and a game with Maryland were frankly displeased with the Gators' record of one victory and two consecutive defeats.

Head Coach Dutch Stanley said he had heard rumors of dissatisfaction in alumni ranks. Asked if he had been told a resolution would be offered at the alumni session tomorrow asking the resignation of the coaches, the former crack Florida end replied:

"I haven't heard it, but there may be a movement of that kind.

"You know that we'd hardly be informed about such a thing in advance."

The Florida team was praised by Stanley for its work in the season-opening victory over Stetson and later losses to Tulane and Mississippi.

"I think the boys have played well," he declared. "We met two very fine football teams."

The all-alumni coaching staff was employed three years ago after Charles Bachman, now head coach at Michigan State, left the university. His record did not please the alumni after the season of 1928 when the 'Gators led the nation in scoring.

NEGRO TEAMS CLASH TODAY

What is considered the best negro football game of the current season will be enacted at Ponce de Leon park this afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the football machines of Morris Brown and Morehouse College, two ancient bitter rivals, clash.

Both teams announced themselves ready and will be able to start their full strength in this important fracas. The announcement that Dyche Smith, the Wolverines' All-American quarterback, would be able to play brought joy to followers of Morris Brown.

Morehead, undefeated thus far this season, will rely on a veteran line and a well-balanced backfield to carry them through, while the Wolverine will rely on a fair aerial attack to run their string of consecutive wins over the bitter rivals.

Coach Nicks put the finishing touches on the squad late Friday aft by giving a good sound lecture to his men. He stressed the importance of sportsmanship on the field of play. He told his men to play hard but clean. Realizing the bitter rivalry between the two and the feelings among the student body, all indications point to the hardest battle of the year.

The ticket office will open an hour early. Advance ticket sales reached an all-time high during the week and a large crowd is expected.

MOULTRIE BOWS.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Waycross defeated Moultrie, 6 to 0, tonight in a game that marked the end of the latter team's record of no losses this season. It was the first time Moultrie had been scored on. Waycross also is undefeated.

VANDY TO FACE MAKE-OR-BREAK CONTEST TODAY

L. S. U. Game Affords Morrison Last Chance To Stay in Race.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 25.—(AP) With three victories and two defeats on the football ledger, the Vanderbilt Commodores face a "make or break" engagement in the battle with Louisiana State here Saturday.

A victory over the versatile and brilliant Bayou Tigers would place the Commodores in the front rank of contenders for the Southeastern conference crown. A defeat would all but erase Vandy from the title picture and class the Commodores as "cannon fodder" for their future major rivals of the season.

No one knows the spot they are in better than Ray Morrison, Vandy's cagey, lantern-jawed mentor. He has been splitting practice drills this week between trying to devise a defense for the deadly aerial attack of the visitors, and developing his own air and ground game.

The Gold and Black squadron will rely, in the main, on three key men—Captain Willie Geny and Dick Plasman, elongated, sticky-fingered flankmen; and Sam Agee, red-haired, line-busting fullback.

Vandy's chances of victory, it is agreed, depend mainly on the ability of these two lanky ends to nab several of dependable Rand Dixon's passes and on Agee's success in cracking the powerful front wall of the visitors.

An added incentive for victory is that humiliating 29-to-0 decision the Louisiana boys hung on the bewildered Commodores last season when Abe Mickal and his mates were in their prime.

It will be L. S. U.'s conference debut of the season, the Tigers having played four games outside the loop, losing only to Rice. Vandy has played five games previously, losing to Temple and Fordham, winning from Mississippi State, Union and Cumberland.

The fruits of triumph will be sweet for the victorious team will go off the field Saturday a co-favorite with the victor in the Georgia-Alabama game for the conference diadem.

Probable starting lineups:

LOUISIANA ST.	Pos.	VANDERBILT
Tinsley	L.E.	Geny
Strange	L.T.	Throgmorton
Brown	L.G.	Merlin
Stewart	C.	Hinkle
Helveston	R.G.	Brown

Barrett	R.E.	Plasman
Seago	Q.B.	Dixon
Crass	L.H.	Watson

TYPISTS BEATEN BY LANIER, 14-0

MACON, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Led by their flashy running halfback, Tommy Brooks, the Lanier Poets swung back into the winning column tonight by defeating the scrappy Commercial High eleven, 14-0, in Centennial stadium.

Young Brooks scored both Lanier touchdowns and played a splendid game on defense. His fine performance last night caused high praise from fans and coaches.

Brooks scored the first touchdown five plays after the start of the second period. The drive was launched on Lanier's 40-yard stripe.

Commercial made only one real threat. In the last period, Marvin Lloyd passed to Sellars for a gain of 58 yards. Loyd threw the ball from the 23-yard line and Sellars was stopped by Brooks on Lanier's 15. Loyd raced 40 yards with the ball before he was tackled from behind.

Mr. Halliburton Is Honor Guest At Glennridge

Richard Halliburton, distinguished American author and traveler, was honor guest at a buffet luncheon given yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn at their home, Glenridge, near Sandy Springs. The honor guest and hosts received in the drawing which was attractively decorated for the occasion with an abundance of autumn flowers culled from the gardens surrounding Glennridge. Mrs. Glenn wore a smart black velvet ensemble with a blouse of gold and white metal cloth. Her chic hat of black velvet wa trimmed with a fragile black lace eye veil. A cluster of deep purple orchids completed the attractive costume.

Invited to meet the renowned honor guest were members of Atlanta's cultural circles who had met Mr. Halliburton upon previous visits here. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn have been friends of the well-known author for the past eight years, having entertained in his honor when he first visited here in 1927.

Miss White Becomes Bride of Mr. Herren At Glenn Memorial

Miss Dorothy White became the bride of James Clifford Herren at a beautiful afternoon ceremony solemnized yesterday at 5 o'clock at the Glenn Memorial church. The Rev. Nat Long read the marriage service which was witnessed by a throng of interested friends and relatives.

A massing of palms and ferns at the rear of the altar formed a rich background for the floral decorations in the church. Myriads of cathedral candles burned amidst the foliage, and tiered candelabra graced the altar which was centered with an arrangement of Easter lilies.

The ushers were Joel Cloud, Preston Harvill, Ansley Wilcox and Wendell Moody. The lovely young bride was given in marriage by her brother, Robert Denton White, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Robert E. Lee Tolbert, of Knoxville, Tenn., served as Mr. Herren's best man.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Ramone Andrew Cota, of New York, was handsomely gowned in green crepe with which she wore brown accessories and a cluster of talisman roses. Mrs. Idelle Herreu, mother of the bridegroom, wore navy blue with matching accessories and a spray of talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Herren left for a wedding journey to North Carolina. Upon their return they will reside at 2219 Peachtree road.

Among out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Steedman, Miss Martha Steedman and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elliott, of Athens; Miss Bonnie Farmer, of Miami, and Jack Hall, of Murfreesboro, Tennessee.

Miss Elizabeth Irwin Weds Mr. Flanders at Twilight Rites

Miss Elizabeth Irwin became the bride of MacGregor Flanders at an impressive twilight ceremony taking place yesterday at "Green Acres" the Johnson Ferry road residence of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Sheffield Jr. Dr. Robert Burns, of the Peachtree Christian church, performed the ceremony in the presence of members of the families and a limited number of close friends of the bride and bridegroom.

White chrysanthemums and palms were artistically arranged throughout the home, and the stairway was decorated with festoons of smilax. The ceremony took place in the drawing room at an improvised altar of palms and white chrysanthemums, which was arranged before the fireplace, and lighted by candelabra. Autumn flowers added to the color of the rooms, and a string ensemble furnished the music.

Robert Irwin gave his sister in marriage and they entered together down the wide stairway of the home. They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his brother, Paul Flanders, of Anchorage, Ky., who acted as best man. She was beautifully gowned in a handsome wedding dress of lustrous white satin, fashioned with the becoming cowl neckline and long tight sleeves which ended in a point over her hands. It was moulded to her slender figure to the knees ending in a flare and extending in the back to form a large, fan-shaped train. The dress belonged to Mrs. Alfred Thompson and worn by her at her marriage two years ago when, as Miss Evelyn Sheffield, she became a bride. Miss Irwin's veil was of illusion tulle, over which fell exquisite venetian rose point lace, and made a cap effect caught to each side of her soft brown hair by clusters of orange blossoms. The veil belonged to Mrs. Charles Winshop, the former Miss Juliett Crenshaw, and worn by her at her wedding and also by her sister, Mrs. Laurence McCullough, the former Miss Mary Crenshaw. The bride carried a large bouquet of white orchids centered by purple orchids and showered with lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Sheffield entertained at a small reception, and they were assisted by Mrs. Ballard Irwin, mother of the bride, Mrs. C. E. Flanders, of Anchorage, Ky., and Detroit, mother of the groom, and Mrs. Alfred Thompson. Mrs. Irwin wore a black velvet gown with a shoulder bouquet of gardenias, and Mrs. Flanders was attired in black lace with a shoulder spray of roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Flanders left for a motor trip through the Shenandoah valley to Washington, New York, Marblehead, Mass., and Canada. They will visit Amherst College, and will return by way of Detroit. The lovely bride traveled in a wool suit trimmed with brown fox fur, with brown accessories.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. C. E. Flanders, Paul Eugene Flanders, of Anchorage, Ky.; Carl Kane, of Detroit, Ill.; Miss Harriette Harkrader, Bristol, Va.; Mrs. C. B. Mosely, J. H. Ballard, Mrs. Ben Roan, Ballard Hudson, C. W. Hudson, Thomas Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Mosely Roan, and Miss Dickie Culbreath, all of Palmetto.

Junior Hadassah's Box Collections.

The Atlanta unit of Junior Hadassah will have box collections for the Jewish national fund Sunday. The blue-white boxes are distributed in Atlanta Jewish homes and Senior Hadassah and Junior Hadassah cooperate in clearing the boxes. The Jewish national fund was formed in 1901 to purchase land in Palestine as the perpetual property of the Jewish people.

Miss Bessie Lee Rose is chairman of J. N. F., for the Junior Hadassah, and anyone desiring further information may call Miss Rose, at Main 6441.

Mrs. Brock Honors Lovely Debutante.

Of social interest is the luncheon given by Mrs. Pope Brock yesterday at her home on Howell drive complimenting Miss Eleanor Spalding, popular debutante. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Hughes Spalding, mother of the honor guest, and Miss Vorginia Feagin, of Macon, niece of the hostess.

The home was artistically decorated with a profusion of vivid autumn flowers, which made a colorful setting for the interesting affair. Guests included Misses Margaret Holcomb, Joyce Smith, Eleanor Gray, Judy Beers, Susan Hippey, Frances Austin, Eleanor Spalding, Elizabeth Wilmot, Belle Meador, Mary Hurt, Maragaret Walker, Frances Lyle, Eugenia Snow, Sarah Kenan, Jane Adair, Elizabeth Spalding, Rosebud Leide, Marvin Clarke, Roberta Crew, Ellen Fleming, Virginia Merry, Dixie Woolford, Claudia Smaw, Rebecca Young and Marjorie Carmichael.

Mr. and Mrs. Paine Honor Debutantes.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Paine were hosts at a cocktail party yesterday at their home on Peachtree Battle avenue, complimenting members of the 1935-36 Debutante Club.

The serving table in the dining room of the Paine home was artistically appointed with a lace cover, and was centered with a silver basket of white and yellow chrysanthemums. Guests included the members of the Debutante Club and their escorts.

Little Lorraine Newton Will Be Honored.

Mrs. Oscar Newton entertains at luncheon today at her Peachtree road residence in compliment to her little namesake granddaughter, Lorraine Newton, pretty little daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Jere Newton.

The social event, to which eight members of the honor guest dancing class will be invited, will mark the eighth birthday anniversary of the little girl. The decorations will be suggestive of the Halloween season.

Miss Harris Feted.

Miss Helen Forrester was hostess Tuesday evening at her home on Hansell street at a miscellaneous shower, honoring Miss Margaret Harris, whose marriage to Benjamine Young will be an interesting event of November 10. The hostess was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. S. C. Forrester. Guests included Misses Elizabeth Rose, Eva Young, Phoebe Young, Dorothy Nelson, Helen Cofield, Alice Teate, Mildred Camp and Martha Camp. Mesdames F. A. Forrester, J. W. Walker, Tom Raiford, Ernest Seamans, C. J. Young, Don Harris, Hoyt Teague, Otis Brown, J. N. Wall, J. D. Chesnut and H. J. Chester.

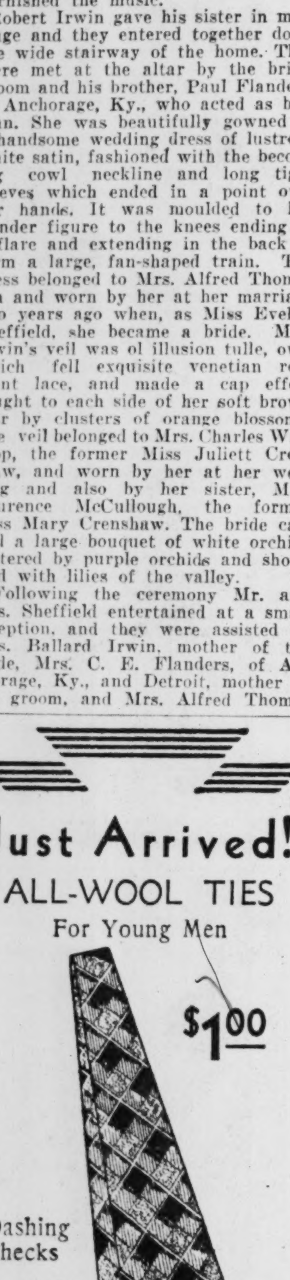

Delta Theta Chi.

Epsilon chapter of Delta Theta Chi sorority met Wednesday evening, October 23, at 7 o'clock, at 604 Candler building. The life and works of Jonathan Swift furnished the study topic for the meeting. Miss Grace Phillips gave a condensed sketch of his life. Miss Ruth Weegand reviewed "Gulliver's Travels." Mrs. Francis Dwyer, the educational director, mentioned some more interesting bits of his life, pointed out the political significance of his writings and read selections from the Journal to Stella and other works. The sorority meets on November 6.

School Is Indorsed By Mrs. Thornton

The Peachtree Garden Club, the first garden club organized in the city, continues to take the lead in garden activities and never fails to interest its members in any program pertaining to horticulture. Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, the capable president of the club, indorses with much enthusiasm The Constitution's Garden School which will highlight the calendar of events for next week.

The school opens Tuesday at the Atlanta Woman's club and continues for four days, with a session being held each morning from 10 to 11:30 o'clock. It is entirely free to the public, and is held for the purpose of stimulating Atlanta's interest in the beautification of the city.

Mrs. Thornton says of the school: "No section of the south has a more beautiful terrain or a greater wealth of native growth than Atlanta and in the past ten years garden-minded men and women have been planning and planting to make this city a Mecca for beauty lovers.

"Through the generosity of The Constitution these gardeners will be given an opportunity which will be of immeasurable benefit to attend a series of lectures conducted for four days by Mrs. Fletcher Pearson Crown.

"The Peachtree Garden Club congratulates The Constitution on the splendid opportunity it offers to the citizens of Atlanta and heartily indorses and supports this school of gardening."

FALL GARDEN NOTES by Fletcher Pearson Crown.

Editor's Note: Mrs. Fletcher Pearson Crown, author of "Fall Garden Notes," published daily in The Atlanta Constitution, will conduct the garden school to be given under the auspices of The Constitution on October 29, 30, 31, and November 1, from 10 to 11:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's Club on Peachtree street. Mrs. Crown is an authority on horticulture and an originator of the garden school idea. Her program will include excellent new material and features, and The Constitution will spare no expense to make the classes well worth the attention of every garden-minded Atlantan and Georgian. There will be no charge of admission to the school.

Let us begin with the tall flowers. The finest of these are the hollyhocks, boltonia, foxgloves, helianthus and many others. All succeed in southern conditions, and are easily grown from seed. Delphiniums are also very beautiful and blue, but they do not grow from year to year in the south, and can only be used as annuals. Varying from the pale blue belladonna to the deep blue formosum, with the many shades between, they are always beautiful. Tall hybrid varieties rising six feet high are veritable spires of splendor and where planted with the white Madonna lilies one has a combination which will never be forgotten.

Everyone knows the hollyhocks. Is there a flower more decorative? They grow to be eight feet tall, straight as a steeple, and their ruffled blossoms, sometimes five inches across, open in succession from the lowest bud to the top, giving a flowering season of exceptional length. The single varieties are very hardy, and the doubles, while the old plants die out, propagate themselves from seed. Once established, a hollyhock plantation will not only maintain itself, but will supply many plants for the neighbors. Colors are obtainable varying from white to black, and from the most delicate flash to crimson, with creams and yellows added.

The foxgloves give tall spikes of flowers, three to five feet tall, in white, pink, yellow and purple coloring. They are not so easy to carry through the winter and need a well-drained place, with a mulch for winter protection. They multiply readily from seed, if they are dropped in a shady place, where the soil is light and moist. In fact, they are one of our tall standbys for shady places.

Series of Parties. Honor Debutantes.

Among the parties to be given for the debutantes is the luncheon today complimenting Misses Judy Beers and Francis Austin, at which Mrs. William Funkhouser and her daughter, Mrs. John Morris, will be hosts, and the party to be given by Miss Margaret McCarthy November 3, in honor of Misses Eleanor Gray and Virginia Merry.

Mrs. William A. Schroeder will give a luncheon November 7 for her niece, Miss Eleanor Spalding, and Mrs. R. T. Dozier will entertain at a buffet luncheon on November 19. Miss Judy Beers will be central figure at a luncheon given by Mrs. Ben T. Smith November 22, and at the tea to be given by Mrs. David Thornton.

Mrs. Frank Terrell will honor Miss Rosebud Leide on November 29, at luncheon, and in the afternoon, Misses Ellen Fleming and Virginia Merry will share honors at a tea to be given by Mrs. Philip Weltner, Mrs. Alex Smith Jr. will be hostess at a luncheon for Miss Eleanor Spalding.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Concentrated Bridge Talent.

In most lists of master players New Yorkers predominate. Why is this? Are the New York players themselves overcome with a sense of their own importance, so that they are blind to the skill of players from other cities? Or is the number of first rank players in New York city actually greater than it should be in proportion to the comparative populations?

In my opinion, the standard of play in New York city is immeasurably higher than elsewhere. Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland and other important centers in the east and on the Pacific coast have their allotment of expert players, but the important national tournament have been dominated by New Yorkers. There is a sound reason why this is so. It arises from an inevitable "vicious circle."

Anyone, to be a great player, must combine natural ability at logical analysis with the practice which comes from constant competition with superior players. When bridge first became popular there naturally were more good players in New York than elsewhere because there were more people in New York. Students of the game in New York had the opportunity to play with and against these good players because there were enough experts to go around. Naturally, talented young players had a better chance to increase their knowledge of the game. Even those who cannot play regularly at the clubs with ranking players have constant chances to oppose them in open duplicate games, and if they are alert their game cannot fail to improve. And the more good players are created by association with the present crop of experts, the greater will be the opportunities of all up-and-coming but inexperienced players.

Nevertheless, the western cities are coming into their own. The names of their players are being seen more and more inscribed on championship trophies. The present grand national plan for championship tournaments will make it possible for more and more people to attend the important tournaments, and the standard of play will improve throughout the country.

Light Doubles.

Far too little doubling for penalties takes place in the average bridge game. When a penalty double is unlikely to be redoubled, and when the gain to the opponents, if they make their contract, cannot be very large, the sketchiest sort of penalty double sometimes pays big dividends.

The bidding (both sides vulnerable):

South	West	North	East
1♣	1♠	2♦	Pass
2NT	Pass	3NT	Dbl. (Final bid)

Opening lead, ♠5 by West.

East's double was based upon his partner's vulnerable overcall, which shows a fairly strong suit. East was prepared for a spade opening lead, and knew that his queen would help to establish the suit quickly. East also knew that South could not make his nine tricks by running a long suit, for he had South's suit (clubs) and North's suit (diamonds) securely stopped. If either opponent had a long heart suit he probably would have bid it.

The double was most successful. South could have held the set to one trick had he guessed that West could be finessed for both heart honors, but instead he attacked the club suit. After winning the queen of spades with the ace on the first trick, South played two rounds of clubs. Finding out about the bad break, he tried a diamond finesse, which East won. West then took five spade tricks and the ace of hearts, and three no trump was defeated 800 points.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Your partner deals and bids one spade. The next player passes. What should you bid, holding spades 7 5 4 3, hearts Q 7 5 2, diamonds 8 7 6 5, clubs 9?

Answer: You should bid two spades. Even if partner's hand is a minimum, this contract should be safe, for you can use the small trumps to ruff clubs and add tricks to the ones he can win. If partner's hand is very strong, you have kept the bidding open and given him a chance to bid four spades.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

"There is probably no greater cruelty which may be inflicted upon a man than that which is inflicted by a contentious, unreasonable and nagging woman," the Florida supreme court said recently.

Right you are, judges. Solomon said it first: "It is better to dwell in the wilderness, than with a contentious and angry woman." But how many nagging wives got that way because they were maddened by jealousy, humiliated by neglect, fretted and worried with masculine weaknesses (the strong sex is not always strong), ground down by poverty, and shut out of partnership. So here is a brief for the nagging wife, a review of her provocations of which she has plenty. Of course there are contentious women to whom nagging is as natural as eating and sleeping. They are fiercely possessive creatures always contending for complete possession of husbands' interest, affection, and innermost thoughts. No self-respecting man will give such a lien on his life and he is excusable for any course he takes to silence one of these and put her in her place. Yet the worst naggers that have come under my observation have been wives whose husbands have given them good provocation. The poor women helpless to correct unendurable conditions have resorted to the one weapon that every female resorts to when she is crowded in a corner—tongue lashing.

These nagging women are following an instinct as old as human nature, to strike back, to punish those who have injured them or those whom they believe have injured them. Surely love is likely to set a woman's imagination to work, likely to make her unduly sensitive to what her husband says and does. Surely she loses more than she gains by striking back at him for real or fancied neglect. She can't correct his faults, nor inspire him to overcome his weaknesses, nor climb higher in his interest or affection by nagging him, but she is only human and when she can't get what she wants from the man she loves she turns about to punish him for depriving her of that thing which she thinks is her right.

You can't find many wives who nag temperate, considerate, affectionate husbands. They are as scarce as hen's teeth. The court is right: "There is no greater cruelty which may be inflicted than that which is inflicted by a contentious, unreasonable and nagging wife." With rare exceptions the nagging wife is answering cruelty with cruelty. Honors and dishonors are even between her and her husband.

PROGRAM PLANNED

Ministers To Lead Anniversary of Printing of Bible.

Atlanta ministers met yesterday to perfect plans for celebration here of the 400th anniversary of the translation of the entire Bible into English.

The period of observance opened October 4 and closes December 6. Plans call for a city-wide observance participated in by religious, civic and educational organizations. Messages marking the day will be delivered in churches, schools and clubs, advocating a closer and more general reading of the Scriptures.

W. E. JONES, FIREMAN, PASSES IN HOSPITAL

W. E. Jones, member of the Atlanta fire department for 10 years, died yesterday at a private hospital after a brief illness. He lived at 1177 Sells avenue and had been attached to Station No. 10.

Jones served as a ladderman under the command of Captain P. V. Netherland during his entire career with the department and was widely known for his efficiency. Several times he had been cited for bravery.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Miss Gladys Jones; his mother, Mrs. Lula Jones; two brothers, J. W. and Roy Jones, of Atlanta, and a sister, Mrs. J. B. Jenkins.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Tyrone Baptist church with the Rev. Chester A. Adams officiating. Burial will be in the Tyrone cemetery with Howard L. Carmichael in charge.

Home-Coming Day at Oglethorpe Marked by Interesting Events

Unusual interest is centered in the football game which Oglethorpe University will play with Erskine College, of Due West, S. C., this afternoon on Hermance field, for Dr. R. L. Robinson, dean of the theological seminary of Erskine, and Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe, were classmates at the Princeton Theological Seminary when they were students there. Dr. Robinson plans to come to Atlanta with the team and to be Dr. Jacobs guest for the day.

An added feature is that today is home-coming day for all of the former Oglethorpe students and friends of the institution. A certain section in the stadium will be set aside for the alumni and immediately after the game, Dr. Jacobs and the faculty will entertain in Oglethorpe gymnasium, Lupton hall, with a tea dance. Dr. Jacobs will be assisted in entertaining by Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Sellers, A. G. Marshall, Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Gaertner, Dr. and Mrs. Mark Burrows, Dr. and Mrs. John A. Aldrich, Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Steinhaeuser, Professor and Mrs. B. E. Alward, Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Perez, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Bardin, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Cisler, Coach and Mrs. John Patrick, Coach and Mrs. Frank Anderson, Coach and Mrs. D. H. Overton, Mrs. Ruth Wells Saunders, Dr. and Mrs. G. F. Nicolassen, Professor Sterling Lanier, Professor Pierre S. Porohovshikov, Professor James Springer, Professor Hugo Stevens, Professor D. W. Davis, Dr. S. R. Magruder, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parkins, and Miss Myrta Thomas. Pouring coffee will be Mrs. J. W. Crum, Miss Mary Feebeck, Mrs. Mabel Mizell and Miss Martha Brown.

Talmadge Plans To Pay $1,500,000 On Georgia's Debts by January 1

Outstanding State Unpaid Appropriations Will Be Only $300,000, Governor Says; Source of Money or Department To Benefit Is Not Indicated.

By GLENN RAMSEY, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Governor Talmadge plans to pay approximately $1,500,000 on state debts by January 1.

"Georgia's outstanding unpaid appropriations will be only about $300,000 the first of the year," the Governor said today.

These debts, created during former administrations when revenue was insufficient to cover sums appropriated by the legislature, totaled more than $6,100,000 when Talmadge took office in 1933.

Under a legislative act passed during the regime of Richard B. Russell Jr., now United States senator, the state thereafter was prohibited from creating such debts. Georgia now must live within its revenue.

While the Governor did not comment on plans to pay out a million and a half dollars, his statement concerning the debt at the end of the year was followed by the perusal of the state's finance sheet, which showed $1,861,507 in unpaid appropriations to date.

Schools May Get Funds.

It could not be learned from what source the money would come nor to what department it would be paid, but there were intimations from unquotable sources that the common schools might receive the major portion of the sum.

Shortly after Talmadge came into office in January, 1933, the legislature marked off $1,588,868.55 of the unpaid appropriations. Then rentals from the state-owned Western & Atlantic railroad were discounted to yield $533,340, which made a total of about $2,122,208 paid on the old debts during 1933.

Last year the legislature, carrying out one of the platforms of the Governor, diverted $1,529,300 from Highway Department funds to the common schools and $470,699 to paid obligations to Confederate pensioners.

Rentals' Discounting.

During the almost three years of the Talmadge administration more than $4,122,000 has been paid on the old debts through legislative action and the discount of the W. & A. rentals.

The only other present obligations of the state are a carpet-bagger bond issue of $4,211,702.17 passed during reconstruction days and about $26,000,000 in highway improvement certificates.

Georgia is retiring the bonded debt at the rate of $100,000 annually, plus interest and payment on the highway certificates—issued to permit counties to rush their good roads program several years ago—is not to begin until March, 1936.

The legislature in recent years has accepted the highway certificates as a state obligation and enacted a law providing for their retirement at the rate of 10 per cent a year and money is allocated to the Highway Department for the specific purpose.

BRUNO'S ATTORNEY SEEKS SEPARATION

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Papers were filed today in the separation suit of Edward J. Reilly, former chief counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, against his fifth wife, Mrs. Fleurette Reilly.

Mrs. Reilly, 31, asking $500 weekly alimony, alleged in a counter suit her husband's law practice nets him $50,000 annually. Before their separation he gave her $750 monthly to maintain their Tarrytown home, she said.

The 53-year-old Reilly, who weighs 200 pounds, complained his 120-pound wife assaulted him and broke his spectacles in a quarrel in his Brooklyn law offices. She asserted Reilly used his offices as a rendezvous for "improper conduct" with other women.

Mrs. Reilly alleged her husband pays his first wife $140 a month and that he settled $30,000 upon wife No. 2 and $15,000 on his third wife. His fourth wife is not mentioned.

SIX FLEE CAYENNE, NEARLY DIE AT SEA

Half-Starved, Baked Quintet Land at Trinidad; One Died on Way.

PORT-OF-SPAIN, Trinidad, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Five emaciated fugitives found a temporary haven here today in their flight from the French Guiana penal colony at Cayette, the famed Devil's Island.

Half starved, exhausted and baked almost black by the sun, the five brought a tiny open boat to land here yesterday at the end of the twenty-day voyage. They were near death.

They had set out—Maes Demuyssers, Jules Morelli, Jose Duran, Ginnine Morelli and Gregorio Hernandez—with food and water for only eight days. With them was Antonio Altar, who went delirious when the provisions ran out, then died and was buried at sea.

By this time, the men said, they were so far gone they could not navigate. For days they drifted at the whim of the sea, finally striking the shore of Grenada, 100 miles from here.

Rather than risk capture there, they put to sea again, and this time they struck Port-of-Spain, which permits French convicts to rest a few days. They had traveled 900 miles in all.

JUVENILE AUTHORITIES MEETING HERE TODAY

First session of the four-day meeting here of the National Conference of Juvenile Agencies will open at 9:30 o'clock this morning in the Biltmore hotel. About 300 delegates are here at the thirty-second annual convention of the organization. The general subject of discussion will concern the care and treatment of delinquent, defective and maladjusted children.

E. L. Johnstone, secretary, yesterday announced the program for the day and said that Monday night the organization will meet co-jointly with the American Prison Association.

ED ELLIS FREED FROM PRISON HERE

U. S. Attorney To Appeal Underwood's Order for High Court Ruling.

Ed O. Ellis walked out of the federal district court yesterday, freed on his own recognizance while H. H. Tysinger, assistant United States district attorney, set about preparing an appeal to the circuit court of appeals against Judge E. Marvin Underwood's ruling which liberated Ellis from the federal penitentiary.

Judge Underwood's decision was the first rendered in the United States courts on the question of whether a penitentiary convict should be allowed time off for good behavior while he is in a jail fighting his conviction.

Tysinger said yesterday that the ruling of Judge Underwood would affect prison sentences of a number of penitentiary convicts and the case was being appealed to obtain a definite ruling from a higher court.

Ellis, obviously relieved at gaining the freedom he has lost since February, 1932, had nothing to say to newspapermen. It was said that he will return to his home in Birmingham. Ellis was convicted in federal court here on charges of using the mails to defraud.

LETTERS THREATEN BEN LYON AND WIFE

Lyon admitted receiving threatening letters, and said the handwriting established their author as Albert M. Holland, disabled war veteran, who in 1933 was committed to the state asylum at Patton. Holland was adjudged insane after harrassing Lyon and Miss Daniels with annoying letters.

Lyon said he understood Holland no longer was confined to the asylum in Patton.

CLEAR, COOL WEATHER FORECAST FOR TODAY

BUILDING PERMITS SHOW BIG INCREASE

October building permits issued by the city department of building inspectors, took a jump yesterday, as Rich's Inc., and Sears-Roebuck & Company prepared to make large additions to their plants.

A preliminary permit for the $350,000 Rich improvement, which contemplates construction of a new floor, was on record, and addition and construction of a mezzinine at the Sears-Roebuck retail store on Ponce de Leon avenue also was a matter of city record.

NORTH CHINA COAST STRUCK BY TYPHOON

TSINGATO, China, Saturday, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The severest typhoon that hit the north China coast in years lashed this port early today, killing at least six persons.

WEEK'S CARLOADINGS ARE 92,220 OVER 1934

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Association of American Railroads announced today loading of revenue freight for the week ending October 19 were 732,947 cars, a decrease of 1,327 below the preceding week and an increase of 92,220 above 1934 and 75,942 above 1933.

TOO MANY BEAUS

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

As a week-old baby Sugar Friddle is found on Dr. Slemp's doorstep and taken to the Lorien Orphanage in Virginia where Sophia Friddle, the superintendent, greets her with 'Hello, Sugar.'" The physician says that's as good a name as any other As she grows older and other children begin to question her about her other name, she runs crying to "Mother" Friddle, who says, "Why, you're my baby, aren't you? My name is Friddle, so yours must be too. You're Sugar Friddle. And don't let anybody tell you differently." Sugar helps to care for the younger children but when she reaches the age of 17 the board of directors decrees that she must go out into the world. Kindly Miss Friddle gets her the position of nurse-maid for Mrs. Dick Locker Le Masters' little boy and Sugar's first fears turn to rosy hopes—until she thinks of leaving "Mother" Friddle, the only mother she has ever known. And Miss Friddle is much worried about Sugar who has grown into a very pretty girl, attractively red-headed. Sugar suddenly remembers Johnny DeVille, her own age, and askes whether he, too, must leave th eorphange. Told that he must go, Sugar wondered what would become of the boy who believed he was going to be a great artist some day, make lots of money and buy for Sugar, his model, the things her orphan heart desires. Deciding to wink at rules, Miss Friddle brings the boy and leaves him alone with Sugar in her office. Suddenly they are in each other's arms.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT IV.

"And when we're old and rich," Sugar laughed, "we'll look at it and wonder how one silly little dress could ever have meant so much to us."

"Won't our grandchildren have a thrill, though?" Johnny grinned. "I suppose I'll have to spend hour after hour telling them o. the days when we were poor little orphans, thrown on a cruel world with just the duds on our backs."

"Sugar," he choked boyishly, "will you promise me something?"

"Of course," she replied, a little afraid of what he was going to say and not knowing quite why.

"I know it's asking a lot," he hesitated, "when I haven't a thing in the world to offer you. But after I get a job and earn a little money—will you marry me?"

Sugar's heart began to beat so rapidly she could scarcely breathe. Johnny was asking her to marry him. For a moment she couldn't speak, and Johnny mistook her silence for disapproval.

"I know," he drew away. "Of course you don't love me. You couldn't—a wonderful girl like you."

"Oh—but I, I'm sure I do love you—Johnny," Sugar almost whispered. "There—couldn't be anyone but you—if—if I ever did marry."

"You're such a little bittie girl," he said tenderely. "You don't understand those things yet. But a fellow does. I know what the world is like, even if I haven't seen much of it. I want to marry you and take care of you. You need a man to look after you."

Right then Sugar felt years older than Johnny. But she couldn't be cruel enough to tell him so. Johnny, who was so afraid of life and what it held for them. Somehow, Sugar couldn't feel that way about it. It was a glorious adventure, a chance to do all the things sh had dreamed about.

She wanted so much to say the right thing, and to be kind. So she said primly, "Honey, we're so young to think of things like that. Of course, I'll never love anyone as I love you. But we must make something worth while of ourselves before we get married."

"Maybe you'll change your mind," Johnny grinned happily. "It—it's such a relief to know there isn't anyone else you could—care for. I'm not going to worry about that, anyway. But will you promise me something? Just one little thing?"

"What is it, Johnny?"

"Promise me you will marry me when we are older and I'm able to take care of you."

Sugar hesitated.

"All right, Johnny—I promise. She buried her face in his shoulder.

Johnny lifted her head and took the little round face between his hands. She dropped her eyes and wondered how she could ever feel so shy when it was only Johnny.

Sugar's face flamed She tried to look up. But she couldn't look at Johnny just then. Gently he pulled her to him and found her lips. It was a kiss without passion, soft and childish, that plighted their troth.

"What did you forget?"

"Two things. First, I forgot to say I love you. And I forgot to put a diamond ring on your engagement finger. Most girls wouldn't get engaged without that."

Sugar laughed tenderly.

"You sound terribly experienced. Where have you been seeing all these—mercenary women?" Sugar tried to look piqued, but she was very much amused at Johnny's pretended wisdom.

"A fellow finds out a lot of things," Johnny answered enigmatically. "Even in this place. Besides, I can read, you know. I know all about women."

Sugar shook with mirth inside, but tried to keep her face straight. Johnny didn't like to be laughed at. He was very sensitive. Her arm tightened around his waist a little and she smiled sweetly.

"I know you're smart, Johnny," she told him archly. "You won't have a hard time finding a job and making good. A man like you never does."

"A man couldn't help getting some place with a woman like you to work for, Sugar. Just knowing that I have you waiting for me will be all I need. I—I'll never look at another girl—honest."

"You hadn't better," Sugar frowned severely. "If you're ever tempted, remember my red hair."

"And if you're ever tempted to go gallivanting around with another man, remember my hot French blood. We Frenchmen fight duels over our women!"

"Br-rr-rr," Sugar shivered delightedly. "You make me feel so important I think I'll call your bluff."

"Promise me," Johnny begged then, "you'll never let another man kiss you, Sugar. Never—as long as you live."

"I do—promise," she vowed solemnly.

A step sounded in the hallway and Johnny released her with a quick kiss on the top of the little red head. It was Mother Friddle come to tell them their hour had passed.

Sugar's heart was beating so fast when she reached the LeMasters' house the next afternoon that she had to lean against the gate a few seconds to catch her breath.

Her knees felt as though they would buckle under her and her trim little legs as though they had turned to water. Using all her will power, she went up the front walk and rang the bell.

"Come roun' by de back do', I let you in," Eurasia lowered her voice. "Ain' no hep 'lowed in de front way. Miz Janie Lee don' 'low dat."

She pointed to the walk leading to the back and closed the door. Sugar walked down the steps slowly, a puzzled expression in her brown eyes. The black woman was mistaken, of course. They wouldn't treat her like the negroes.

"I'll show yo all to your room befo' yo goes to see li'l Skeeter." Eurasia held the back door open and Sugar walked into the big, shiny kitchen. "It downstairs."

Eurasia opened a door off the kitchen and started down the steps. Sugar followed her, wondering where they were going. The old negro woman opened another door and they were in a large, dark cellar.

"What are we down here for?" Sugar asked uncertainly.

"Bless yo' heart, chile, this where you goin' live." Eurasia sighed.

She crossed the basement and opened another door. It led to a little room partitioned off with wall board. Silently Sugar looked in. There was a cot, an old dresser and a chair. One cobwebbed window, above the bed, was almost without light because of the little pine tree in front of it.

Sugar turned pale.

"But I—there must be some mistake. Why should I stay here? It's such a big house. There must be room, some place, for me."

Eurasia's old wrinkled black face worked sympathetically.

"Yas'm, they is, honey, an' tha's what I said. But Miz Janie Lee, she say ain' no orphan goin' sleep in her upstairs. Lawd knows who dey is or where dey come from, she say. Jes po' white trash."

"What?" Sugar's mouth opened with astonishment. "She—didn't say that?"

"Deed she did " Eurasia shook her head emphatically. "She say cain't put yo in de servants' house to live wid de niggers, and dis de ony place. I ups and tells her ain' no way treat li'l white chile. Even fore I seed how purty yo' is. But she got heart stone, dat woman. Jes like her Uncle Zeb. He meanes' white man evah set foot in Virginny."

Sugar walked slowly into the room and laid the little shoe box containing her worldly possessions on the cot. Then she sat down and stared around. When she looked up at Eurasis standing in the doorway, the old darky was wiping tears from her eyes on her big white apron.

The sympathy warmed Sugar's heart so much she wanted to weep with her. But, in spite of her disappointment, and shock, she summoned a little smile.

JUST NUTS

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Farbay, Ph.D.

We do not have a leap year every four years. The reason is that a year is not 365 1-4 days long, but about 12 minutes short of this. If an extra day were added every four years, we would soon be off schedule. Therefore, leap year is omitted three times in every 400 years. Every centenary year not divisible by 400 omits the extra day it would otherwise have for leap year. The last leap year skipped was in 1900. The next ones will be 2100, 2200 and 2300. The year 2400 will be a leap year, since it is divisible by 400.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

A LITTLE SATURDAY TALK.

A few weeks ago, during a visit to New York city, I was walking along Forty-second street when I noticed a crowd in front of a store.

I stopped to learn what the people were interested in, and in the window I saw what looked like sausages—gray liver sausage, brown sausage and wieners. There was also sauerkraut.

In a moment, my eye was caught by a sign which said, "Yes, it's all pure candy."

The place was called a "candy butcher shop." I thought of a small boy who would enjoy the fund of getting pieces of "sausage" made of candy, and went inside to buy a box to mail to him.

"Have you had this place open long?" I asked a clerk.

"This is the first day in New York," she replied, "but we have a store in Cleveland, and have displayed the candy in other cities."

"The people seem to be rather excited about your butcher shop candy," I remarked.

"Yes," she said, they're acting the same as people in other places. New Yorkers think they're 'different,' but under the surface they're just like folk in Lincoln, Neb."

While walking and riding around the city, my thoughts turned to "New Yorkers" time and again. Sometimes I feel rather sorry for them. They are crowded together very closely, and do not know what to do about it.

Always when I visit New York, I find the same sort of thing—people rushing to get inside subway stations, and pushing to board subway trains; crowded buses and crowded sidewalks. Often I have wanted to stop some of the people, and ask them why they are in such a hurry; but I know it's just a custom.

There is a story that a New Yorker once said to a visitor:

"If we transfer from this local subway to an express at Fourteenth street, and then get back to a local at Forty-second street, we'll save two minutes."

"And what will we do with the two minutes?" asked the visitor.

By FRANK MacMILLEN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Fresh advances in motors, steels and utilities that carried some into new high ground for a year or longer with gains of 1 to 3 points featured brisk trading on the stock exchange today.

Measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, the market rose 0.4 of a point to 52.5, the highest level since September 14, 1931.

Wall Street circles explained the higher prices partly in terms of better earnings reports, and the mounting tide of excess banking reserves to a new all-time high, a factor which has recently been stressed by various observers as containing potential inflationary material.

While the rise was founded on demand for a wide variety of shares, including recent speculative favorites among the motors and accessories, the so-called specialties put on a sharp burst of speed led by Coca-Cola, which bounded up 12 points but lost 2, closing 10 points higher at 276.

The demand for this stock was said to have been based on talk in brokerage quarters that stockholders will be asked soon to approve an increase in the common from 1,000,000 shares to 4,000,000 to effect a 300 per cent stock dividend, equivalent to a 4-for-1 split-up.

American Bank Note was also in the van of the advance with a gain of 4 5-8 to 36 3-4. Buying was credited to sources hopeful of an increased demand for stock and bond certificates. Other specialties which turned in gains of 1 to 2 or more points included Collins & Aikman at 39 3-4, Crown Cork and Seal at 40 3-8 and Westvaco Chlorine at 24 5-8, all of which sold at new 1935 highs.

Bank Clearings

Bank clearings again have reached a high amount. The total for the 22 leading cities in the United States for the week ended Wednesday, October 23, as reported to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., was $5,649,897,000, against $4,430,487,000 a year ago, an increase of 27.5 per cent. For the preceding week, the advance was 20.6 per cent. At New York city, clearings were $3,626,770,000, an increase of 28.8 per cent over the amount reported last year, while the aggregate for centers outside of New York city of $2,023,127,000 was 25.3 per cent higher.

At every city reporting, clearings are considerably higher than they were at this time last year. The total was in excess of the corresponding weeks back to 1930. At many points, particularly at some cities in the south and west, the increase was very large. Outside of New York city, where clearings were heavy, the gains were large at Pittsburgh, Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Atlanta, Louisville, Kansas City, Omaha, Dallas, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle.

The total for the past week was in excess of that for the preceding week by $681,863,000, whereas a year ago for the same two weeks, the increase was $311,649,000. Clearings for October to date were above those for any month back to 1931.

Figures at leading centers, compared with those of a year ago, are printed herewith; also, daily bank clearings for the year to date:

CLEARING HOUSE HIKES OUT-OF-TOWN RATES

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The New York Clearing House Association, whose membership includes the major Wall Street commercial banks, today increased the charge made to out-of-town banks for arranging security loans in the New York market to 1-2 of 1 per cent. The new rate replaces the current service charge of 1-4 of 1 per cent.

PROFIT-TAKING SLOWS ADVANCE OF CURB LIST

Utilities, Oils and Specialties Continue To Demonstrate Strength.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Traders continued to bid for utilities, oils and various specialties on the curb market today. Dealings were at an active rate, transfers approximately 546,000 compared with 418,000 yesterday. Profit-taking near the close lent some restraint to the advances.

Parker Rust Proof rose nearly 5 points to finish at 60 3-4. Bunker Hill & Sullivan was up 2 1-4 at 50, while gains of large fractions to a point or more were recorded by Electric Bond & Share at 15 7-8, American Gas & Electric at 37 3-8, Humble Oil at 59 3-8, Pittsburgh Plate Glass at 90 and Swift Internacional at 31 1-4.

A few of the metals were hesitant, including Sunshine Mining and Wright-Hargreaves.

Market Outlook

By MAX BUCKINGHAM.

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(UP)—Tremendous investment demand continued to pour into the stock market today, pushing the industrial average to another four-year high.

Traders waited on the sidelines for signal of a recession which they feel is well overdue. But the signal they want—a trading session of 3,000,000 or more shares with activity increasing on selling—has not appeared. Volume today again exceeded 2,000,000 shares.

American Telephone, whose $9 dividend has been maintained through the depression, rose to a new high since 1931. Motor shares, particularly Chrysler and General Motors, went into new 1935 highs and were among the active leaders. This trading coincided with the General Motors report which showed nine months' earnings of $114,482,926 or $2.51 a share, compared with $92,445,341 or $1.99 a share last year.

Industrial reports failed to furnish the background for today's market, which despite the customary Friday-last-hour profit-taking ended with the industrial average at 140.68 after reaching 141.21 in the previous hour. Trading quieted when prices started slipping.

Among the industrial reports were the weekly carloading figures which showed a recession from the previous week, but a gain over the corresponding 1934 week. Survey of September railroad earnings indicates an aggregate net profit, the first month of the year to make such a showing.

Retail sales, according to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., gained 2 to 12 per cent but they were retarded by warm weather. This may be favorable for later in the year, however, as it will prolong fall buying until full impetus of the Christmas shopping is felt.

COTTON GINNINGS PLACED AT 6,589,799

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Cotton of this year's crop ginned prior to October 18 was reported today by the Census Bureau to have totaled 6,589,799 running bales, compared with 6,743,904 a year ago and 8,608,090 two years ago.

The cotton crop this year, indicated from conditions existing October 1, has ben announced by the Department of Agriculture as 11,464,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight. Last year's crop was 9,636,000 bales and 1933's crop, 13,047,000.

x-New 1935 high.

By C. A. PHILLIPS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The corporate bond market was again featured today by an insistent demand for low-priced rail and utility issues which were taken in heavy volume at gains of 1 to 2 or more points.

United States governments displayed a stiffening tendency during the forenoon but became a bit ragged during late trading and closed mixed, 3-32ds lower to 4-32ds higher. Reports from Washington indicated rumors in the market yesterday to the effect that additional blocks of Treasury bonds would be disposed of by the "auction method" in the near future were unfounded and government dealers were reported among early buyers today.

Particularly firm spots in the domestic utility section included obligations of New Orleans Public Service, American & Foreign Power, United Light & Railways, Rochester Central Power, Standard Gas & Electric, Central States Electric, Cities Service Power & Light and Indiana Service, all with gains of 1 to 2 or more points.

The improved buying movement also carried along many second-grade railroad bonds, including Baltimore & Ohio 4 1-2s at 56 3-4; Nickel Plate 4 1-2s at 60 5-8; Erie 4s at 74 1-2; New York Central consolidated 4s at 85 and Northern Pacific 6s at 98 3-4. Most all of the active issues of New Haven bonds were fractions to around 1 1-2 points higher. Further improvement also was made by several "Katy" issues.

Industrial and utility bonds boasted few interesting moves although a steady undertone was maintained. Republic Steel 4 1-2s advanced 1 3-8 points to 108 3-8, Warner Brothers Picture 6s got up 1 1-4 to 83 3-4 and American Rolling Mill 4 1-4s advanced 2 points to a new 1935 high at 119 1-2. Niagara Shares 5 1-2s were extremely active at 95 1-2, up 2 1-4. There was renewed buying in New York city traction issues, most of which ended in the advancing column.

Final prices of government bonds ranged from a decline of 3-32ds in the Treasury 3 3-8 of 1943 at 106.9 to an advance of 4-32ds in the 3s of 1949 at 101.2. There were several issues showing no change. Treasury 2 7-8s were the most active, ending at 99 31-32ds, off 1-32d.

Foreign bonds continued to work higher under leadership of Italian issues which closed minor fractions to 1 1-4 points up. Others selling higher included Japanese 6 1-2s and Australia 5s.

The Associated Press averages were unchanged to .2 of a point higher. Transfers approximated $14,480,000 against $15,006,000 the day before.

Brokers' Views

STOCK OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—Current domestic news continues favorable and aside from profit-taking dips there should be a continuation of the upward trend in security prices.

DOBBS & CO.—Barring unforeseen news, Friday's action would seem to remove all apprehensions over the week-end.

BEER & CO.—There is no change in our opinion that higher prices will be witnessed.

COTTON OPINIONS.

BEER & CO.—We continue to favor buying cotton in anticipation of continued heavy exports and spot demand.

COURTS & CO.—We think the demand for America will lift prices materially when receipts decline, because there is little chance of any important foreign competition until January.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO. TO DOBBS & CO.—The report of the census bureau showing 6,589,799 bales ginned prior to October 18 was about in line with forecasts. This would represent about 58.8% of the crop in running bales indicated by the last government report and hardly justifies any change of opinion as to the probable showing of end-October figures. January Liverpool due 6.09.

FENNER & BEANE—We believe further developments will enhance values.

GRAIN OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—While temporary rally is in order we do not feel convinced that the down trend has been reversed.

BEER & CO.—We believe the long side of wheat will prove profitable long before another crop is harvested.

FENNER & BEANE—We look for a trading mark for a time, pivoting on the dollar level, but on moderate setbacks favor buying side.

Earnings.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Profits of General Motors Corporation for the quarter ended September 30 were equal to 66 cents a share on the common stock, compared with $1.16 a share in the June quarter and 48 cents a share in the September quarter last year, the corporation announced today.

For the nine months ended September 30, profits equaled $2.51 a common share against $1.99 for the first nine months of 1934.

The corporation announced its third quarter profit as $30,753,088 after depreciation, interest and federal taxes against $22,858,728 in the September quarter last year.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 25.—Republic Steel Corporation reported today the parent corporation and subsidiaries made a net profit of about $507,731 in the third quarter of 1935. In publishing its consolidated income account, the corporation pointed out that the profit was over and above a $177,000 loss on sale of securities held in the investment account. The $507,731 profit compares with a net of $922,329 in the second quarter of 1934 and a net loss of $2,998,000 in the third quarter of 1934.

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Scarcity of offerings, evidence of an oversold market, led to lively bidding and to a brisk upturn of wheat prices late today.

The rise carried Chicago December wheat to well above $1 a bushel and May up to $1 even. Helping to lift values were late estimates that export purchases of Canadian wheat today were in excess of 500,000 bushels.

Wheat closed firm at the topmost point reached, 3-4 to 1 1-8c higher than yesterday's finish, December $1.00 1-2 to $1.00 5-8; corn 1-8 to 5-8c up, December 61 to 61 1-8c; oats 1-8 to 1-4c advanced, and provisions varying from 12c decline to a gain of 2c.

Closing indemnities: Wheat: December 99 5-8 to 99 3-4, $1.01 3-8; May 99 1-8 to 99 1-4c, $1.00 7-8; July 89 3-8 to 89 1-2c, 90 5-8 to 90 3-4c. Corn: December 60 1-2 to 60 5-8c, 61 5-8 to 61 3-4c; May 59 1-8 to 59 1-4c, 60c; July 60 3-4c.

APPLES PLENTIFUL

Jump of 20 Million Bushels Expected To Cut Price.

If there is any truth to the old adage "an apple a day keeps the doctor away," Americans this year can have an ample supply of disease preventatives about their homes in the form of juicy apples for prices are expected to be lower.

The United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics has estimated this year's crop will amount to more than 96 million bushels. This is approximately 20 million bushels more than American fruit growers produced last year.

The largest apple harvest between the two coasts will be in western Michigan where the municipal cash-to-grower Benton Harbor fruit market is located. One per cent of the nation's entire apple supply last year was sold there.

In 1934 Michigan produced 4,224,000 bushels of apples, but this year it is estimated that there will be 5,600,000 bushels available.

The cool climate and soil types of Michigan make the state especially adapted for the production of such dessert apples as the Jonathan, Northern Spy and Delicious.

PLAUCHE'S WEEKLY COTTON STATEMENT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Secretary Plauche's weekly New Orleans Cotton Exchange statement issued today shows that the amount brought into sight during the past week has been 731,582 against 522,945 last year and 731,496 in 1933; and for the 25 days of October it has been 2,528,387 against 2,014,696 last year and 2,814,298 in 1933.

The movement since August shows receipts at all United States ports 2,895,526 against 2,116,717 last year and 3,319,887 in 1933; overland across the Mississippi, Ohio and Potomac rivers to northern mills and Canada 142,930 against 186,876 last year and 210,874 in 1933 interior stocks in excess of those held at the close of the commercial year 1,201,627 against 1,039,496 last year and 937,551 in 1933. Southern mill takings net 1,160,000 against 912,000 last year and 1,269,000 in 1933.

These make the total movement for the season from August 1 to date 5,400,083 against 4,255,089 last year and 5,737,312 in 1933.

Foreign exports for the week have been 166,282 against 112,538 last year, making the total thus far for the season 1,185,198 against 1,184,360 last year, an increase of 838 bales.

World's spinners takings of American cotton during the week were 392,000 against 294,000 last year and 418,000 year before last, distributed as follows:

North and Canada 52,000 against 50,000 last year and 50,000 year before last; south 207,000 against 130,000 last year and 201,000 year before last; foreign, exclusive of Canada and orient 101,000 against 79,000 last year and 117,000 year before last; orient 72,000 against 35,000 last year and 50,000 year before last; total takings of American cotton for the season 2,590,000 against 2,557,000 last year and 3,710,000 year before last, of which north and Canada 267,000 against 370,000 last year and 425,000 year before last; south 1,222,000 against 946,000 last year and 1,308,000 year before last; foreign exclusive of Canada and orient 778,000 against 884,000 last year and 1,424,000 year before last; orient 323,000 against 357,000 last year and 553,000 year before last.

Stocks at the seaboard and the 102 leading southern interior centers have increased during the week 306,063 against an increase during the corresponding period last season of 231,069 and are now 316,067 smaller than at this date in 1934.

13 OF 50 LARGE RAILS REPORT NET PROFITS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission reported only 13 of the 50 largest railroads in the country showed a net profit after depreciation and retirements for the first eight months of this year.

The earnings generally were below the same period of 1934, although a few showed slight increases in net income. The Elgin, Joliet and Eastern jumped from a deficit of $453,310 last year to a net of $892,721 for the same period.

The roads showing net income, in addition to the Elgin, were: Atchison, Topeka and Sante Fe, $3,467,331; Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, $17,701,259; Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad, $2,493; Louisville and Nashville, $1,854,660; Norfolk and Western, $13,933,839; Oregon short line, $198,388; Pennsylvania, $11,660,394; Pere Marquette, $238,475; Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, $2,052,394; Reading Company, $2,743,335; Texas and Pacific, $355,380; Union Pacific, $7,693,692.

The commission received reports from 143 of the 149 class one railroads in the country up to August 31, showing total earnings of $368,269,609 for the first eight months as compared with $419,405,242 for the comparable period last year.

AVERAGE PRICES.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at 10 southern spot markets was 11.05 cents a pound; government subsidy 0.95 cents a pound.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, middling down 5 points to 11.30.

By FRED WILLIAMS.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Irregular price movements with little progress being made on either side of the market characterized dealings on the cotton market today.

The feature of dealings was a run-up in the October option which touched 11.18 in the morning, later selling off to end the life of the contract at 11.04. October went off the board after considerable belated covering by short interests who had sold the contract in the expectation the customary weight of the movement would depress prices.

Threats of frost and frezing weather which have resulted in considerable speculative buying in the past week had some concrete facts to work on today as the map showed a reading of 41 degrees for Frederick, Okla., and 34 degrees for Miami, Texas, the center of the late cotton area in these two states. Freezing weather in this area tended to restrict crop development and reduce the aggregate yield for the belt as a whole.

Port receipts 106,703; week 412,276; season 2,895,526; last season 2,055,012. Exports 20,246; week 166,282; season 1,185,198; last season 1,165,147. Port stocks 2,598,629. Stocks on shipboard at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston were 177,462; last year 91,797. Spot sales at southern markets were 36,722; last year 27,359.

COTTON IRREGULAR ON N. Y. MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Cotton moved irregular today within a range of 6 to 10 points for active months. The market closed steady, net 5 points lower to 3 points higher.

The opening was barely steady at an advance of 7 points on October, but generally unchanged to 4 points lower in response to more favorable weather news from the south and southern hedging. After showing net declines of 3 or 4 points during the early trading the market steadied on continued trade buying, but met more hedging in the late trading and some near-month liquidation.

The final evening-up of current October contracts attracted considerable attention early. Notices representing 1,400 bales were stopped by the trade and the last sale of October was at 11.17 or 9 points net higher.

The report of the census bureau showing ginnings of 6,589,799 prior to October 18 against 6,743,904 last year was without influence on the market.

Exports today 15,873, making 1,218,434 so far this season. Port receipts 96,638. United States port stocks 2,626,035.

DUN BARES DROP IN RETAIL SALES

Warm and Unsettled Weather Is Blamed by Agency in Survey.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The recurrence of warm weather and unsettled weather "restricted the distribution of merchandise during the week," according to the weekly review of Dun & Bradstreet issued Friday.

"Retailers in some parts of the country recorded the smallest totals in nearly two months, although the comparative figures of a year ago generally were exceeded," the survey said.

"Retail sales barely were on a par with those of the week preceding. When compared with the showing for the corresponding 1934 period, however, few losses were recorded for the country over the 1934 totals ranging from 2 to 12 per cent.

"No significance was attached to the lull, however, as low inventory positions, growing shortages of some of the most popular goods, and a rising price level will bring more extended ordering as soon as consumer demand will have resumed."

Weather Outlook For Cotton States

Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Extreme Northwest Florida: Partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday.

West Texas: Generally fair Saturday and Sunday; warmer Saturday.

Bernhardt's Alligator Auctioned Off for $1.50

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25.—(AP) Aleck, the alligator, has found a home.

Aleck, who is said to have been captured by Sarah Bernhardt during a hunting expedition after one of the actress' performances here some 50 years ago, has been put in a mud hole, the bed of a near dried up bayou just outside the city.

Aleck's more recent master, who kept the alligator in his back yard, died a few months ago and Stanley M. Lemaire, real estate agent who settled the property, was faced with the problem of disposing of the ten-foot long amphibian.

He held an auction and H. A. Crozet bought Aleck for $1.50 in a cash and carry bargain. Crozet has installed his alligator in a new home.

EMPLOYED ATLANTANS URGED TO AID CHEST

Davison - Paxon Company First Concern To Contribute 100 Per Cent.

Every person with a job is obligated to do his part in helping those unable to care for themselves, Colonel F. J. Paxon, prominent civic and business leader, said yesterday.

Colonel Paxon urged more widespread giving to the Community Chest by employed men and women in announcing that the Davison-Paxon Company, for the second consecutive year, was the first Atlanta firm to go 100 per cent in its pledges to the Community Chest.

Each of the 718 employes of the company signed pledges of support for 1936, under the leadership of Bryant Sells, keyman for Davison's in the volunteer Chest army, and Everett Brown, section leader.

Davison-Paxon Company was solicited in advance of the actual Chest campaign, which begins November 18. Large firms are being contacted by the groups division of the Chest, directed by Moreton Rolleston.

"We are proud of our record," Colonel Paxon said, "because we believe the Chest should have the generous support of every person in Atlanta who has a job.

"Last year 39,000 persons gave their support to the Chest. This year there should be at least 80,000.

"The Chest is a great community job in which everybody has a part.

"Already the well-to-do citizens of Atlanta have been asked to set an example in increased giving.

"They are responding to the appeal. But the essence of the Chest work is that everybody participates according to their means. Every Atlanta firm should be 100 per cent in its subscriptions, because it is the job of those who are working to help care for those who are prevented from working by illness, lack of training or age.

"In our case everybody gave what they could. If all of us do that, not only will the human needs be met, but we will be closer to the work of the Chest which ministers in our name for those who are our neighbors."

UTILITIES SLASH TAX VALUATIONS

Decrease of $4,320,000 in Year Is Revealed by Comptroller General Harrison.

Decreasing their assessed valuations by $4,320,000, public utility companies operating in Georgia yesterday reported their properties for taxation at $176,055,000, it was announced by Comptroller-General William B. Harrison.

To offset this reduction, private properties, real and otherwise, have increased approximately $21,000,000 in value during the year so that the state's tax digest is about $17,000,000 higher than it was last year.

Losses this year were largely by the railroads and were believed due to the fact that the roads are not replacing their worn-out rolling stock as speedily as in other years.

As usual the largest single return was from the Georgia Power Company, which reported its property at $45,757,000, as compared with a valuation of $46,344,000 reported last year. The junking of the street car lines in Macon and Columbus was given as the reason for the power company reduction. The reduction at Macon was $477,000 less than last year and at Columbus $119,000 less than last year.

The power company fixed the value of its Atlanta properties at $12,830,000, as compared with $12,840,000 last year.

The Atlanta Gas Light Company value was fixed at $3,174,000 as compared with $3,408,000 last year.

Most of the railroads made slight reductions. One of the few increases was that of the Western Union Company which reported its value at $3,501,000, an increase of $1,000 over that of last year.

HOUSING OFFICIAL PAYS VISIT TO CITY

Ernest J. Bohn, president of the National Association of Housing Officials and chairman of the housing committe of the Cleveland city council, yesterday conferred with D. A. Calhoun, district manager of the housing division of PWA, and Raymond W. Torras, engineer-secretary of the city planning commission.

His conversations were in connection with the prosecution of Techwood and university housing projects being erected here by the federal government.

The two local projects will cost $5,375,000 and will provide homes for 1,279 families, while three similar projects are being constructed in Cleveland to house 1,889 families at a cost of $10,729,000.

ARTISTS TO CLOSE EXHIBITION TODAY

Commendation of the exhibition of the Atlanta Artist Guild, now in progress at Davison-Paxon's, was expressed in resolutions of the executive board of the Studio Club, made public today by Julian H. Harris, Atlanta sculptor and chairman of the club's Beaux Arts group.

"The Studio Club commends the Guild's exhibition both as representative of the increasingly vigorous creative art life of the community and as setting acceptable standards of artistic excellence for the public," the club's executive board stated.

The Atlanta Artist Guild's exhibition will close this afternoon and all who have not visited the exhibition of some 50 pieces of local work are urged to do so.

ATLANTIC COAST LINE TO BORROW 4 MILLION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company was authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission today to issue $4,000,000 of bonds and to apply a portion of a $12,000,000 note issue authorized last May to payment of certain underlying bonds.

The issue is to be general unified mortgage 50-year series A, 4 1-2 per cent bonds.

THE TARZAN TWINS No. 48

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

In the belief that he was being led to the region where the Tarzan Twins had been seen, the ape-man followed the strange warrior toward the mysterious trap which had been set for him; and every step took him farther from the cannibal village where the boys were captives.

Constantly Tarzan was urging his guide to greater speed, until the savage was near exhaustion. Then the mighty Jungle Lord lifted the surprised warrior to his back and continued his impatient journey at a swifter pace. For three days they traveled with hardly a pause.

They came at last to a dismal valley, weird and forbidding in its bleakness. "You do not need me more," said the warrior. "The way is plain now. Across the valley is a trail which leads to the Moogawa country. There you will find the young bwanas—alive, or dead!"

With a gesture of thanks to the savage, the ape-man entered at once upon his traversal of the eerie valley. And the treacherous warrior remained behind to behold the harrowing fate which was to befall Tarzan in the Vale of Death, the Dreadful Valley of No Return.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Police and firemen aided in rescuing between 300 and 500 persons from their homes tonight in Brooklyn before a five-alarm fire in adjacent yards and plant of the George Douglas Lumber Company was brought under control. Damage was set at $100,000.

NEW PLYMOUTHS GO ON EXHIBITION TODAY

New Model Is Longer, Lower and Wider Than Its Predecessors.

DETROIT, Oct. 25.—The Plymouth Motor Corporation today announced that its 1936 models will go on display tomorrow in 12,600 dealer showrooms throughout the United States.

The price range of the new models, which will include seven "de luxe" and three "business" body types, will be announced when the new cars are formally presented to the public through advertisements in 1,200 daily newspapers.

Plymouth officials today released the first photographs of the new model which will go on display Saturday, and revealed that more than two-score engineering changes had been incorporated into the 1936 car.

The photographs show that the 1936 Plymouth is bigger and more massive than its predecessors. It is longer, lower and wider than the 1935 model. The long, low contours of the body are accentuated by streamlines that sweep back from a new radiator grille, which is distinguished by chromium vertical bars on either side of a center section of vertical bars finished in the same color as the body.

Streamlining has caused the characteristic Plymouth sailing ship emblem to undergo another stage in its evolution. It is inclosed in a tear-drop outline on the 1936 model. Hood louvre decorations and headlamp lines follow the same tear-drop motif.

A newly developed high-color enamel paint, designed to prolong the life of the exterior finish, has been used on the 1936 Plymouths instead of lacquers previously used.

The Plymouth safety-steel body and self-equalizing hydraulic brakes, with both shoes at each wheel hydraulically actuated, have been further improved, according to Plymouth officials. The new models have an entirely new "backbone" in the new type rigid-X girder steel frame, which tests show to be twice as rigid as previous production frames.

KIDNAPER OF LABATT DRAWS 15-YEAR TERM

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 25.—(AP)—John Basil Bannon, one-time border rum runner, was found guilty tonight by a jury on a charge of kidnaping John S. Labatt, London brewer, in August, 1934, and was immediately sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Cuban Gale Toll Now 12.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Three more bodies found among the floating debris of the flood-gorged rivers of Oriente province brought the list of known dead from the recent Caribbean storm to 12 tonight.

DAILY SHORT STORY

CHANGED NAME

Patient Waiting Gave Eddie an Appropriate Vengeance on the Man Who Had Belittled Him.

BY FRANK KERN LEVIN.

Eddie Snout was a man with bright little eyes and a squeaky voice, and he met Mrs. Greysbeak on a moving stairway in a department store.

Eddie stood patiently waiting for the moving stairway to take him to the floor above, but Mrs. Greysbeak was not so patient. Eddie was used to waiting patiently. On an unforgettable occasion he had been told by his employer how very unimportant the name Snout was.

Mrs. Greysbeak came bustling up, all 240 pounds of her, one moving step after the other, and just as the floor was reached bumped against Eddie so ponderously she knocked him over and Eddie was hurt.

"Oh, I'm so sorry! Pardon me!" expostulated Mrs. Greysbeak.

"You almost killed me," squeaked Eddie.

"You poor man! Come along with me and I'll get you a bit of refreshment—you'll feel better."

Eddie agreed that he would. He had not had a bit of refreshment for some time. But he misunderstood Mrs. Greysbeak. She took him to the soda fountain and bought him a soda.

"Now do you feel better?" she asked.

"Well—a little better," said Eddie, lifting an eyebrow. Mrs. Greysbeak flashed diamonds from throat, ears and fingers. Eddie looked at her nervously.

"People are so careless. The man next to me shoved me right against you. That's the way people are. My poor husband wasn't like that. Poor soul, when he was living he was so considerate of everybody. He bought me everything I asked for." Mrs. Greysbeak sniffed once or twice and continued with her soda.

"Any man would have been proud to have a wife like you," said Eddie, "and he would have been only too glad to buy things for you. It is my misfortune never to have married. The right girl just didn't come along, I guess," Eddie hung his head.

"Oh, how interesting this is!" exclaimed Mrs. Greysbeak. "Here we've just met by accident, and we're chatting like old friends. You must come to see me some time."

"How about tomorrow?" Eddie asked.

"Oh, tomorrow—I was going out—but it's all right! You come over tomorrow. I'll be expecting you at 8 sharp. Here's my card." Mrs. Greysbeak handed Eddie the card, settled herself off the fountain stool, and with a bright, cherry nod, was gone.

Eddie stared at the card. Graysbeak! Yes, sir, old T. Z. Greysbeak's wife.

For 20 years Eddie had worked in the shipping department of the Greysbeak Boiler Supply Company. For 20 years he had slaved away for $20 a week. And every month or so, when the "old man" deemed to inspect the shipping department, Eddie would stand at his deck mumbling one 'yes, sir' after another in answer to T. Z. Greysbeak's short, snappy quesions.

There was an unforgettable moment in Eddie's life—briefly touched upon at the opening of this story. He had dared approach the sacred inner office of the "old man."

He had dared to go into the office. Hesitating and stuttering—he had dared to ask for raise. After all, he had been with the concern for 10 years at the time, and he was doing his best, and—

"What's that? I can get a dozen men to replace you who are twice as good for half the money. No, Snout—I can't see things your way, and if you can't see them mine, I'm afraid —" declared old grayface Mr. Greysbeak.

"Snout—it's your name. How can a man with a name like yours expect to go places, eh? Answer me that?" and Mr. Greysbeak laughed. For it was just about this time he was getting married to a woman much younger than himself. Eddie slid away.

There was another unforgettable moment in Eddie's life. Just before Mr. Greysbeak had died, a year before, Eddie had been advised that the Greysbeak Boiler Supply Company no longer needed his services, that they were going to take a younger man. It was Eddie's first realization that he was old. Here he was, at 46, with all life passed by—and old!

Eddie was particularly careful about his sartorial appearance when he went to visit Mrs Greysbeak. The butler ushered him into the drawing room where Mrs. Greysbeak awaited him. She was a jolly woman, and Eddie kept thinking of one funny thing after another to say to her. It was evident that Mrs. Greybeak greatly enjoyed his visit. She invited him to come again.

Eddie did—many times. They were standing out in the garden one summer evening and Eddie for once in his life threw discretion to the winds. He took Mrs. Greysbeak, or as much of her as he could, boldly in his arms kissed her, and in his squeaky voice pronounced the three magic words.

At first, Mrs. Greysbeak hesitated, a little frightened, but Eddie emboldened, carried his point. And then Eddie waited until they were married —just one hour after, in fact.

"Now, Mrs. Snout," said Eddie, "for you're Mrs. Snout now—and how do you like the name?"

"I like it," said Mrs. Snout.

"I'm glad you do," said Eddie, "because we're going to change the name of the business your husband left you from the Greysbeak Boiler Company to the Snout Boiler Supply Company at once."

Beware The Cough

From a common cold

That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

RUSSIA, JAPAN DISCUSS TENSE BORDER TROUBLE

Creation of Soviet-Manchu-Japanese Commission Is Urged.

TOKYO, Oct. 26.—(Saturday)—(UP)—Soviet Ambassador Constantin Yurenev called on Foreign Minister Koki Hirota at the foreign office again today and discussed the tense situation along the border of Manchukuo and Siberia following soviet-Japanese border patrol clashes in which several soldiers on each side were killed.

Yurenev protested against frequent search by Japanese controlled police, in the important north Manchukuo city of Harbin, of the homes of soviet nationals. Hirota said this is an internal question of Manchukuo in which Japan is not concerned. He declined to request the Japanese authorities in Manchukuo to interfere, asserting police of every nation have the right of house search in cases where foreigners are suspected of subversive activities such as communist agitation.

HEARING ON TOBACCO HOUSING ACT PUT OFF

MACON, Ga., Oct. 25.—(UP)—A hearing on constitutionality of the state law fixing a schedule of maximum charges for tobacco warehousemen was postponed today for a week or 10 days by a three-judge federal court.

The postponement was granted by the court in order to give examiners more time to take testimony.

J. N. Talley, special master in the case, and Edward Swinson, his assistant, will be in Wilson, N. C., next week to hear testimony. Already 2,000 pages of testimony has been taken, Swinson said. The taking of testimony requires more time than was expected.

Federal Judge Bascom Deaver signed an order continuing into effect a temporary restraining order against enforcement of the schedule of warehouse rates set by the last legislature. Warehousemen contend the rates are too low and would injure their business.

ARGENTINA ENFORCES SANCTIONS ON ITALY

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 25.—(UP) The Argentine government tonight proclaimed an arms embargo against Italy in conformity with specifications voted by the League of Nations. The embargo is effective immediately.

Foreign Minister Carlos Saavedra Lamas announced the government is engaged at present in studying the question of economic and financial sanctions against Italy.

WOMAN SEEKS DEATH IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Fantastic Confession of 3-Year-Old Murder Fails To Bring 'Suicide.'

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 25.—(AP) A fantastic suicide scheme which she hoped would end her life in the electric chair was Mrs. May Garland Adams' explanation today for her discredited confession to a three-year-old murder here.

To Mrs. Stella Patterson, policewoman, her jailers and newspapermen the 30-year-old woman said she was tired of life when she confessed in Danville, Va., last Tuesday the slaying of Albert Rudisill here and had thought "they would electrocute me so I wouldn't have to bump myself off."

"Of course I didn't kill him," she said. "I didn't know anything about it except what I heard the girls talking about in jail some time after the man's death."

She is held for a mental examination.

Italians Use Lessons Learned by British

ASMARA, Eritrea, Oct. 15.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Lessons learned 67 years ago by an extraordinary British expedition into Ethiopia which resulted in the death of Emperor Theodore are being carefully followed by the Italians in the 1935 campaign.

In 1868 Lord Napier led 14,000 men into the heat of Ethiopia because of the imprisonment of a British consul and of missionaries. He annihilated the emperor's small army, then marched out again, leaving Ethiopia with a new ruler but still independent.

The period for transport of troops was exactly the same as that required by the Italians—eight months.

The English brought an enormous amount of equipment, which the Italians also have done. They even had the same type of well diggers that the Italians are using.

As the English advanced they bought provisions widely from Ethiopians. This the Italians likewise are doing, offering the natives Maria Theresa thalers, the national money of Ethiopia.

The English stopped at Magdala, which they reached after forced marches of three months. This is many times the distance the Italians have gone from their border to the end of occupied territory.

BUS MEN HEAR RICKENBACKER

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Motor bus operators attending the closing session of their ninth annual national convention here today heard Captain Eddie V. Rickenbacker, World War ace and air transport executive, predict there will be no repetition of the great wars of the past because of advances made in the field of aviation.

Captain Rickenbacker portrayed his ideas of the future of the transport services and appealed for closer coordination between the motor bus and airline companies.

Captain Rickenbacker said:

"In a new war the diplomats would be the doughboys. The very center of attack would be the seat of the government. Airplanes have produced this contingency, but airplanes will prevent such a war as long as they are maintained in such strength to retaliate. . . ."

AGED MAN ARRESTED IN FIRE INVESTIGATION

A fire that did considerable damage to a vacant house at 219 Woodward avenue, S. W., yesterday noon resulted in the jailing of a 65-year-old man on suspicion of arson.

He was listed by police and fire investigators as A. R. Keesell, of a Cooper street address. He was arrested by Officers J. A. Allen and Oscar Tyson at the scene of the blaze, when pointed out by H. B. Shuart and A. F. Algallowitz, both of 319 Formwalt street, S. W.

They told the officers they were passing the house on Woodward and saw a man starting a fire in the doorway. About a half a block away they turned around to see the porch in flames and summoned firemen.

The house, a two-story frame structure, was unoccupied. The porch, roof and front of the dwelling were badly damaged. Two alarms were turned in.

ADOLPHE MENJOU, WIFE ARE ILL IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Adolphe Menjou, suave film player, and his actress wife, Vera Teasdale, were stricken with illness today, forcing a postponement in the production of Harold Lloyd's new comedy, in which they both appear.

Menjou was taken to Good Samaritan hospital for treatment of a recurring stomach ailment from which he has suffered several times in the last year. Miss Teasdale was bedridden at their home with colitis.

They were expected to return to the studio about next Wednesday.

MOVEMENT TO CREATE CHINESE STATE GROWS

TOKYO, Saturday, Oct. 26.—(UP) The movement to create an autonomous state in north China is spreading, the Tientsin correspondent of the Japan telegraph agency telegraphed today.

Peasant groups are taking a leading part in the agitation. Rioting in Peiping and Tientsin is feared.

"The Japanese military have decided not to interfere with the movement for the present as Japanese interests so far are not menaced," the correspondent said.

Rooster Starts Foul Play.

A rooster started a fight in Fort Wayne, Ind., and it wasn't with another rooster. A neighbor of the owner of the fowl objected to its early morning "croonings." Police were called by other neighbors to settle the dispute.
